

ANGLO-YANKS CLOSE ON TRAIL OF BOCHE

Berlin Says Allies Followed Germans Toward Le Cateau.

RETREAT ADMISSION MADE

Teutonic Official Statement Declares That Allied Attacks in Champagne Were Repulsed.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—British and American troops followed the retreating Germans on both sides of the Roman road in the direction of Le Cateau, says the official statement issued today by the German army general staff.

"On the battle front between Cambrai and St. Quentin," the statement adds, "we occupied positions in the rear. We have evacuated Cambrai."

"On the battle front between Cambrai and St. Quentin we occupied positions in the rear. We have evacuated Cambrai."

"Southeast of Cambrai, by means of successful counter attacks, supported by tanks, which in the evening of October 5 put us in possession of Seranvillers and the heights on both sides of Esnes, Bavarian and Rhineland divisions primarily, as well as troops of the German Jaeger division, rendered the essentially easter disengagement of the enemy."

"In the face of strong infantry attacks our troops stepped back step toward new positions, fighting all the way. In the evening the enemy stood east of the Bertry-Duisigny-Bohain line."

"In the Champagne enemy partial attacks on both sides of St. Etienne were repulsed."

"Between the Argonne and the Ornes ridges, American troops in co-operation with French forces again advanced in uniform attacks on the eastern bank of the River Meuse."

"On the border of the Argonne forest attacks failed with heavy losses for the enemy. Cornay, into which the enemy penetrated, was recaptured."

"Main thrusts delivered between the Aire and the Meuse were directed against Sommevaux and Romagne. Both places remained in our hands after fluctuating fighting. Enemy forces penetrating via Romagne and east thereof as far as Cunel were driven back."

"On the eastern bank of the Meuse we repulsed the enemy at and to the east of Sivry. We recaptured Sivry, which had been lost temporarily. Northwest of Sivry, east of Beaumont an assault of the enemy failed before the lines held by the Austro-Hungarian chasseurs and Rhineland regiments."

WAR VETERANS ORGANIZE

Over-the-Top Post No. 81 Instituted at Grand Army Hall.

With 43 charter members, Over-the-Top Post No. 81, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, was instituted last night in the Grand Army hall at the Courthouse. Eligibles for membership are those who have served in Cuba, Porto Rico, Mexico, Philippines, China or in the present world war.

Colonel Robert E. Greene, of Albany, initiated the new members and instructed the officers. The new camp will meet the second and fourth Thursdays of each month. The officers installed last night are:

James C. Walsh, commander; Robert Sawyer, senior vice-commander; Walter Threl, vice; junior vice-commander; James Carren, quartermaster; M. L. Peters, adjutant; G. E. Nickerson, chaplain; T. F. Chase, officer of the day; Albert Freedlove, officer of the guard; A. Achter, historian; H. V. Reed, patriotic instructor; W. W. Brandt, A. G. King, color-bearers; Herbert Miller, sergeant-major; John Perretti, quartermaster-sergeant.

ALIEN WOMEN ARE WARNED

Only 300 Register in Portland Up to Last Saturday Night.

"Any German alien women who have not provided themselves with a permit are subject to immediate arrest if they go within a one-half mile radius of the army," announces United States Marshal Alexander. "This zone includes practically the business section of the city."

Of the estimated 800 German women subject to registration, only about 300 registered up to last Saturday night, when the law became operative. The remaining women should apply for permits at once.

PNEUMONIA CAUSES DEATH

Sergeant James H. Watson Dies at Maryland Base Hospital.

Sergeant James H. Watson, late of 548 Belmont street, son of Mrs. George A. Beavis, of Dufur, Or., died of pneumonia in a base hospital at Edgewood, Md., yesterday. He was 25 years of age and the husband of Mrs. Elvinda Burgess Watson, 548 Belmont street. Besides his widow he leaves twin baby girls.

Sergeant Watson left here in January of this year. His body will be sent to Portland for burial.

TO MAKE STRONG

Red-Blooded People Out of Those Nervous, Weak, Run-Down.

If your blood is impure and lacking in iron, if your face is broken out and pale, if your nerves are worn and weak, if your liver is torpid and bowels are constipated, you need Hood's Sarsaparilla, Pepsin, a real iron tonic, and Hood's Pills, the favorite family cathartic.

NEW DRIVE DIRECT TO RHINE IS NOW LOOMING CLOSELY

General Mallerre Foresees Attack by Allies in Lorraine With Heart of Hunland for Its Objective.

By General P. M. G. Mallerre, of the French Army, Copyright, 1918, by the Press Publishing Company, the New York World, published by arrangement.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—(Special)—As the great battle spreads it becomes more violent. The entire front from the Saar to the Meuse is afire. Only the eastern sector, between Verdun and the Vosges Mountains, maintains a mysterious calm. It seems clear that Marshal Foch's maneuver turns toward envelopment of the front he has attacked.

The armies of Debeny, Mangin and Guillaumont hammer at the center from St. Quentin to Rheims the British and Belgian armies are following up the great left wing movement, aimed at the encirclement of Lille and Courtrai, and the Franco-American forces are pushing the right wing northward on both sides of the Argonne forest.

The Germans are resisting energetically. While we cannot yet perceive whether they are carrying out a great strategic retreat, as the German press likes to phrase a rearward movement, nevertheless they are withdrawing from the Argonne forest, the neighborhood of Lille, more particularly in the La Bassee sector.

Gains Made Everywhere.

Allied attacks are making progress in all the sectors accomplishing it by fierce fighting. The Hindenburg line has been broken at its sensitive points—Cambrai, St. Quentin and Le Cateau. The map shows that the German high command still has much room in which to execute a retirement which will bring its badly mauled troops to positions which will protect the soil of the empire, but we also see that the glacis covering enemy territory in which the German army is continuing its struggle diminishes in width with each allied bound eastward.

The whole of Belgium separates the northern and central allied armies from the Rhine country, while on the other hand the allied right wing through Alsace Lorraine comes into direct contact with the empire.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

The general allied offensive against Germany is in direct opposition to the German strategic offensive of 1914. Pivoting in Alsace-Lorraine, one must recross the roads of Belgium and Ardennes, we may easily see the reason for the redoubtable barrier.

LANSING HINTS AT DOOM OF WARLORDS

Real Criminals of World War Not to Be Overlooked.

RECKONING DAY IS NEAR

Secretary of State Says Justice Without Mercy and Mercy Without Justice Equally Unchristian.

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 10.—"If another world war is to be prevented, strict justice and the common good must be the underlying motives of those who are now drafting the peace treaty after Prussian militarism is crushed," Secretary of State Lansing said tonight, in an address here.

He was speaking at the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Auburn Theological Seminary.

While stern justice must be tempered with mercy, Mr. Lansing said, when the time comes to balance the account the authors of the "frightful wrongs committed against mankind should not be forgotten."

Principles Already Laid Down.

"The principles on which a general peace will be made between the warring nations," said Mr. Lansing, "have been clearly stated by President Wilson. These principles of justice must guide those charged with the negotiation of the great treaty of peace, and must find expression in the final document which will lay the foundation for a world transformed."

He said that the peace which is to come will not be a lasting peace if its terms are written in anger or if revenge rather than the desire for strict justice and the common good is the underlying motive of those who are charged with the grave responsibility of drafting the greatest treaty which this world has ever known.

"I think that it is sufficient in these days of toil and struggle, while the beast control the people of the central powers is still at large, to assert that the peace which will come when the world is safe will be a peace founded on justice and righteousness."

Mercy Important Factor.

"Let us not forget that, while stern justice without mercy is un-Christian, mercy which destroys justice is equally un-Christian."

"When the time comes to balance the account—and it seems to be drawing near as the vassals of Germany seek refuge, from the day of wrath—the authors of the frightful wrongs committed against mankind should not be forgotten."

The period of readjustment and restoration which will follow the disorganization and destruction caused by the war will tax human wisdom to the uttermost.

"The hour of triumph is drawing near. The day of the war lords is almost past. To those noble Americans, our friends and brothers, to those who have made the supreme sacrifice and to those who have dedicated their lives to the cause of their country, to the brave men of the allied nations who have so gallantly died that liberty might live, we owe a debt which imposes upon us the obligation of making certain that their service and sacrifice have not been in vain. They fought and are fighting for a better world, and it is up to us to do our part to make it better."

THOMAS C. TAYLOR DIES

DEATH OCCURS SUDDENLY IN MASONIC TEMPLE AT BEND.

Portland Resident Amassed Comfortable Fortune in Stock-Raising in Eastern Oregon.

BEND, Or., Oct. 10.—(Special)—Thomas C. Taylor, a past grand commander of the Knights Templar, dropped dead in the Masonic Temple here today, just prior to the opening of the afternoon session of the grand commandery of the state, which he was attending.

Mr. Taylor had arrived on the morning train from Portland, accompanied by Mrs. Taylor, and had attended the usual services apparently in his usual health and spirits. He marched in the parade to the Pilot Butte Inn for lunch, but complained of feeling depressed.

Returning to the hall after lunch he ascended the stairs, falling as he reached the top. Death was almost instantaneous, physicians pronounced the cause apoplexy. Immediately following the death of his brother the meeting was adjourned to some time at the end of the week.

Mr. Taylor was one of Eastern Oregon's best-known men, having lived at Bend for a number of years, where he amassed a comfortable fortune in stock-raising. He retired a number of years ago and was living in Portland.

In 1908 Mr. Taylor was elected grand commander of the state of the Knights Templar. At that time he was active in politics in the state, having been elected President of the State Legislature, following several able terms in that body.

Mrs. Taylor was on the automobile ride given to the visiting ladies from which she did not return for several hours after the death of her husband.

Mr. Taylor lived at 609 Main street, Portland, having come here six years ago after he retired from business. He moved to Bend from Dayton, Wash., in 1882, where he was engaged in the hardware and implement business. He served two years as State Senator from Clatsop county and was president of the Senate at one session. He had also been active in Bend politics, having served in the Council and as Mayor of the city.

AIRMEN TO CARRY OXYGEN

Fighters Going Over German Lines to Be Well Equipped.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Oxygen tanks containing sufficient air for six to eight hours' breathing will be carried hereafter by every American aviator going over the German lines in combat or bombing airplanes, and by pilots and observers of reconnaissance planes going higher than 15,000 feet.

The War Department announced today that the tanks now are being turned out in sufficient quantities in the United States.

Real Criminals of World War Not to Be Overlooked.

RECKONING DAY IS NEAR

Secretary of State Says Justice Without Mercy and Mercy Without Justice Equally Unchristian.

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 10.—"If another world war is to be prevented, strict justice and the common good must be the underlying motives of those who are now drafting the peace treaty after Prussian militarism is crushed," Secretary of State Lansing said tonight, in an address here.

He was speaking at the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Auburn Theological Seminary.

While stern justice must be tempered with mercy, Mr. Lansing said, when the time comes to balance the account the authors of the "frightful wrongs committed against mankind should not be forgotten."

Principles Already Laid Down.

"The principles on which a general peace will be made between the warring nations," said Mr. Lansing, "have been clearly stated by President Wilson. These principles of justice must guide those charged with the negotiation of the great treaty of peace, and must find expression in the final document which will lay the foundation for a world transformed."

He said that the peace which is to come will not be a lasting peace if its terms are written in anger or if revenge rather than the desire for strict justice and the common good is the underlying motive of those who are charged with the grave responsibility of drafting the greatest treaty which this world has ever known.

"I think that it is sufficient in these days of toil and struggle, while the beast control the people of the central powers is still at large, to assert that the peace which will come when the world is safe will be a peace founded on justice and righteousness."

Mercy Important Factor.

"Let us not forget that, while stern justice without mercy is un-Christian, mercy which destroys justice is equally un-Christian."

"When the time comes to balance the account—and it seems to be drawing near as the vassals of Germany seek refuge, from the day of wrath—the authors of the frightful wrongs committed against mankind should not be forgotten."

The period of readjustment and restoration which will follow the disorganization and destruction caused by the war will tax human wisdom to the uttermost.

"The hour of triumph is drawing near. The day of the war lords is almost past. To those noble Americans, our friends and brothers, to those who have made the supreme sacrifice and to those who have dedicated their lives to the cause of their country, to the brave men of the allied nations who have so gallantly died that liberty might live, we owe a debt which imposes upon us the obligation of making certain that their service and sacrifice have not been in vain. They fought and are fighting for a better world, and it is up to us to do our part to make it better."

THOMAS C. TAYLOR DIES

DEATH OCCURS SUDDENLY IN MASONIC TEMPLE AT BEND.

Portland Resident Amassed Comfortable Fortune in Stock-Raising in Eastern Oregon.

BEND, Or., Oct. 10.—(Special)—Thomas C. Taylor, a past grand commander of the Knights Templar, dropped dead in the Masonic Temple here today, just prior to the opening of the afternoon session of the grand commandery of the state, which he was attending.

Mr. Taylor had arrived on the morning train from Portland, accompanied by Mrs. Taylor, and had attended the usual services apparently in his usual health and spirits. He marched in the parade to the Pilot Butte Inn for lunch, but complained of feeling depressed.

Returning to the hall after lunch he ascended the stairs, falling as he reached the top. Death was almost instantaneous, physicians pronounced the cause apoplexy. Immediately following the death of his brother the meeting was adjourned to some time at the end of the week.

Mr. Taylor was one of Eastern Oregon's best-known men, having lived at Bend for a number of years, where he amassed a comfortable fortune in stock-raising. He retired a number of years ago and was living in Portland.

In 1908 Mr. Taylor was elected grand commander of the state of the Knights Templar. At that time he was active in politics in the state, having been elected President of the State Legislature, following several able terms in that body.

Mrs. Taylor was on the automobile ride given to the visiting ladies from which she did not return for several hours after the death of her husband.

Mr. Taylor lived at 609 Main street, Portland, having come here six years ago after he retired from business. He moved to Bend from Dayton, Wash., in 1882, where he was engaged in the hardware and implement business. He served two years as State Senator from Clatsop county and was president of the Senate at one session. He had also been active in Bend politics, having served in the Council and as Mayor of the city.

AIRMEN TO CARRY OXYGEN

Fighters Going Over German Lines to Be Well Equipped.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Oxygen tanks containing sufficient air for six to eight hours' breathing will be carried hereafter by every American aviator going over the German lines in combat or bombing airplanes, and by pilots and observers of reconnaissance planes going higher than 15,000 feet.

The War Department announced today that the tanks now are being turned out in sufficient quantities in the United States.

Assist the Red Cross Secure Needed Supplies of Linens—Towels—Napkins—Handkerchiefs, Etc., for Our Boys Over There—Our Delivery Is at Your Service. Phone Marsh. 5080 or A 2112—Delivery Department—We'll Be Pleased to Call for and Deliver Red Cross Contributions.

Here Is a List of Unmatchable Special Offerings for Our 935th Bargain Friday Every Offering Listed for This Sale Is Taken From Our Regular Stock and Underpriced in a Manner That Brings to You the Most Unmatchable Values in Seasonable Merchandise of Worthy Quality.

A Timely and Important Underpriced Clearance of Children's Wool Underwear Vests, Pants and Drawers in Broken Lines and Special 69c Lots for Children From 6 to 16 Years, the Garment... 69c Union Suits in Sizes 2 to 16 Years at $1.79

FOR TODAY WE'VE ARRANGED Two Stocking Bargains Women's Silk Hose at 98c Women's Cotton Hose 15c the pair

Extra! For Today Only "No-Tare" Silk Nets At 79c Yard 40-Inch Width

Extra! For Today Only Dainty White Voile Waists At 84c Sizes 36 to 44

Extra! For Today Only Men's Wool Underwear At $1.35 Gar. Shirts and Drawers

Extra! For Today Only Commercial Wool Batts At $3.48 Full Two Pounds

Extra! For Today Only White Outing Flannel At 35c Yard 36-Inch Width

Extra! For Today Only Fine Crepe Georgette At $1.69 Yd. 40-Inch Width

Grained Ivory Puff Boxes at 98c

Come Now! and Profit by This Special Sale of Women's Serge Suits at $30

Store Opens at 8:30 A. M. Saturdays at 9 A. M.

Roberts Bros. THIRD & MORRISON The Most in Value—The Best in Quality

HOUSING SURVEY AT ISSUE MANY WORKERS ARE PLEDGED TO CANVASS CITY.

WALTER LYNN INDORSED Central Labor Council Decides Upon Candidate for State Senator.

WORKERS NOT TO MEET. Owing to the proclamation of Mayor Baker forbidding all public gatherings until the threatened epidemic of Spanish influenza is averted, the scheduled meetings of precinct captains and workers who will canvass the city in connection with the Governmental survey beginning Monday to ascertain the number and location of rooms and vacant houses in Portland will not be held at the high schools tonight, it was announced late last evening.

Painters' Strike Not Settled. No advance towards settlement of the strike of house painters was reported yesterday. Proposal of the employers that the 150 men who are out return to work at 70 cents an hour, with the assurance that they will receive any difference between that figure and what the Macy board may grant painters in the shipyards, was turned down by the strikers. The workmen demand 90 cents of the Central Council, new with the an hour.

Progress in preparation for the Governmental housing survey to start in Portland next Monday was achieved yesterday. Hundreds of workers were pledged; instructions for the canvassers were completed; distribution of circulars through stores of the city was started; advertising was placed in the streets; slides conveying the message were prepared for the motion picture houses. This morning supplies and badges will be sent to all precinct captains. Marked progress was also made by the Portland housing committee, embracing selection of the lot tendered by John Clark, at Fourth and Stark streets as the point for erection of the model house to serve as headquarters of the Portland Co-operative Homes Company. Red Cross Will Elect. VANCOUVER, Wash., Oct. 10.—(Spe-

LOGWOOD In these days when most men frown upon extremes in fashion, this collar exactly meets the requirements of critical good taste. EARL & WILSON