GERMAN-MADE PEACE SCORED BY PERSHING

Brother of Yankee General Addresses War Workers.

LARGER PRODUCTION URGED

When Heaven Is Ready to Negotiate With Hell, America Will Deal With Huns," Says Speaker.

"When heaven gets ready to negotiate with hell, then will America be ready to make peace with Germany."

So declared James F. Pershing, a brother of the man who directs the American Army in France, who spoke before the conference of United War Workers in the assembly room of the Multnomah Hotel yesterday afternoon. His was a powerful appeal for the cooperation of all American agencies to aid the men in France to win the conflict. He advocated the organization of "do-without-it" clubs, saying that by sacrifices made thus far, fully 75 per cent of the people in this country do not realize the Nation is at war.

Maximum production of every commodity was urged by the speaker, who predicted a food famine in 1920 and 1921 unless steps are taken immediately to provide for feeding America and her allies after the war.

"Don't get the idea," he cautioned, "that the war is over, for the American boys will not stop fighting until they run out of Germans." He paid a tribute to American women, and expressed the hope that they would be granted National suffrage for their part in the great undertaking. He urges the confiscation of every German newspaper in the United States; the burning of every German textbook, and said he would be one of 20,000,000 Americans to obligate himself, never to purchase any "Made in Germany" article, and thus help in rebuilding the German commercial standing. Peace without victory, he said, would be a colossal mintake.

Mr. Pershing prefaced his address Mr. Pershing prefaced his address with a short history of General Pershing, and received uproarlous applause when he declared that the American soldiers will have all the honor of winning the war, and that General Pershing intends to see that they get it.
