On Sale at Business Office, Oregonian.

WAR DRIVE PLANS PERFECTED.—Plans whereby the Northwest student division will raise its $100,000 quota were perfected at a meeting held here yesterday. The Northwest student division includes all colleges and universities, as well as private and business schools in which more than one-half of the enrollment are high school graduates.

LENNTON MAN IS SOUGHT.—The Woman's Protective Bureau at police headquarters is anxious to locate the husband of Lola G. Smith, of Linnton, Or., who was found in one of the Greek coffee houses here suffering from a lapse of memory, according to the police. She was taken to the emergency hospital, where it was said she could not tell where she had been or when she left home.

YOUNG MAN BY POLICE.—Lloyd Gillett, aged 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gillett, of 234 Adams street, was taken into custody by the police yesterday and turned over to the juvenile authorities, according to the report of Patrolman Parker. It is charged in the complaint that Gillett, in company with W. C. Crowe, aged 19, of 234 Adams street, and another boy, was convicted a short time ago and given a 30-day suspended sentence, and F. King, of 267 Larrabee street, broke into the home of Mrs. W. C. Crowe at 223 Larrabee street and took away 30 bottles of near beer.

McMURRAY ACCUSED OF ASSAULT.—M. McMurray, colored, of 83 1/2 Grand avenue, was arrested by Officer Phillips and Abbott, of the war emergency squad, and charged with assault with a dangerous weapon and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He is held under $1500 bond on the first charge and $1000 on the second. When the officers stepped into his room they saw McMurray with a dagger. Officer Phillips drew his gun and took the knife away from the negro.

STRIP SWEETENS COFFEE.—Syrup placed in miniature pitchers beside the coffee cups served as the sweetening agent for coffee at Hunters Spring, Mont., said Mrs. W. Strandberg yesterday on her return from that state. Mrs. Strandberg, who is director of publicity for the State Food Administration, was on her way to Washington to attend an important conference when the influenza situation at the capital brought an order stopping her at Glendive, Mont.

PLANE TRIP AND RAILROADS.—The pesky influenza germ is crippling coal production. In one Eastern mining region all the smaller mines are idle because of the epidemic. Fred J. Holmes, State Fuel Administrator, reports from official reports. In West Virginia some mines are producing only one-fourth their normal output. The statement is made in a report among railroad employees is also hampering the movement of cars.

STAGE CLEVER COUP

Confessions Show Daring of Apartment Prowlers.

STORY OF ROBBERY TOLD

Boy Victims Frightened Women He Is Victim of Holdup and Helps Companions to Escape.

Confessions alleged to have been obtained yesterday from Earl Johnson, Gordon Kirkpatrick and James Dean by Inspectors Leonard and Hellyer indicate that in the course of burglaries imputed to them the lads have met with adventures rivaling those of burlesque burglars on the stage. The boys, respectively 19, 17 and 20 years old, are charged with thefts from the Tudor Arms, Wickersham and Carmelita apartments, besides apartments in Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane and North Yakima, Wash.

In the Carmelita Apartments the apartment of A. H. Weatherly was robbed of jewelry and money valued at $200. According to the confession of Kirkpatrick and Dean arranged to loot the premises while Johnson stayed outside to give the alarm if the Weatherlys came home. Johnson, it is said, had scarcely taken his post when a woman resident of the house asked him what he was doing there.

Clever Coup Successful. "I have a cousin here," the boy replied, giving the first name that came into his head. The woman said no one of that name lived there and retired to her apartment. She came out again soon and again demanded his business. "I'm sure my cousin lives here," Johnson is said to have replied. "I will wait for her."

Scarcely had he stepped to the head of the staircase, police say, when Mr. and Mrs. Weatherly, carrying a baby, stepped out of the elevator and went to the door of their apartment. Johnson, already regarded with suspicion, could make no move to warn his alleged confederates.

Mr. Weatherly opened the apartment door, only to be confronted with a revolver. Police say Dean held him up, while Kirkpatrick, with all the loot in his pockets, is said to have crawled under a bed. Mrs. Weatherly fled screaming. Johnson is said to have rushed to her rescue.

Third Robber Escapes. "What is the matter, madam?" police say he asked politely. "Burglars, burglars!" screamed Mrs. Weatherly. The robber with the revolver by this time appeared on the scene, in close pursuit of the fugitives. Johnson is said to have blocked the passage, professing a desire to help Mrs. Weatherly, while Dean made his escape downstairs. Johnson is said to have then offered to give chase to the robber, and so made his own escape. This left the third robber still under the bed in the apartment. Kirkpatrick's alleged confession is that he ran into the hall at this juncture and screamed for help.

"That man held me up; he pointed a gun at me!" he shouted. "Who are you?" demanded one of the residents. "I'm a messenger boy," Kirkpatrick is alleged to have replied. "Would you know the robber?" demanded the resident.

Youths Taken to Baker. "Of course I would, but I don't want to get shot," the thief replied, almost weeping, and accompanied the resident from the building. Outside he disappeared.

The boys are alleged to have confessed to stealing a protectograph in Seattle, and using it in passing forged checks. Dean and Johnson were arrested on a train in Baker, Or. Kirkpatrick was on the train, but was overlooked by the officers. He returned to Portland and was arrested.

Kirkpatrick is alleged to have said he threw suitcases containing the loot from the car windows. Checks for the baggage were found in the lining of his shoe, however, and police inspectors recovered it at the Union Station. Police say Dean escaped from Monroe Reformatory three weeks ago.

SON SUES FOR ACCOUNTING

Hiram E. Dodson Seeks Share of His Mother's Estate.

Hiram E. Dodson is plaintiff in a suit filed in the Circuit Court to compel Charles E. McCulloch, guardian of the person and estate of Sarah L. Dodson Broadback, to make an accounting of trust property which Mrs. Broadback holds for her son, the plaintiff. The plaintiff alleged that in this regard several thousand dollars of his mother's property.

Mrs. Broadback, during the Spring of 1917, married John Broadback, aged 48. At that time she was 76 years old. This marriage contract is referred to in the suit filed yesterday by her son, in which he alleges Broadback was his mother in an effort to control her property. Mrs. Broadback was hailed into the County Court, where a guardian was appointed for her because of the trouble she was having with her son and the man who is now her husband.

Despite the fact that she was not permitted to marry Broadback in this county, the aged woman hid herself to Vancouver with Broadback several months after her marriage was appointed and was married.

APPEAL ISSUED BY DISQUE

Men of Spruce Division Asked to Subscribe for More Bonds.

Appeal for the purchase of an additional $100 bond by each worker connected with the spruce production division was sent out yesterday by Brigadier-General Disque, the commander. The call was made in response to a message from Secretary McAdoo stating that the spruce production division was short of the liberty loan goal.

The message, which went to 1400 Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen local associations by captain J. E. Cullison, Oregon selective service head, from Washington. Under the old plan men who were physically fit for general military service except for some minor physical defects were put in the remediable group.

On October 1 Oregon had 607 men in the remediable group and 1799 in the limited and special service group.

STOLEN FUR IS RETURNED

TRAGEDY BROUGHT ABOUT BY THEFT OF WEDDING GIFT. Cherished Relic of Young Bride of Two Weeks Stolen White Fur Being Held.

It was only a red fox fur that he was detailed to find, but when Police Inspector Hyde reported at police headquarters Thursday night that the stolen property had been recovered he did so with an audible sigh of relief. A week ago the fur was worn by Mrs. H. V. Bills, a bride of two weeks. It was a wedding present from her husband, a shipyard worker. Before their marriage they had admired the fur many times. And the young bride was overjoyed when, on her wedding day, her husband presented her with it. It represented $100 of the money he had earned as a builder of ships, but to the happy couple it represented far more than its intrinsic value. A few days after the wedding the young bride was taken sick with pneumonia. The honeymoon met a tragic end on Monday of this week, when she passed away.

It was while the young widow was attending the funeral Wednesday afternoon that somebody entered his apartment at 372 1/2 Grand avenue and stole the fur, the one heritage left him by his bride of two weeks. Frantic with grief, Mr. Bills appealed to the police bureau. Police Inspector Hyde was following out a clue when the fur was returned to the grief-stricken widower in the same mysterious manner it disappeared. Tears of joy streamed down his face as he reported it had been found. And Police Inspector Hyde was happy, too.
