STANDARDS MEETING WILL BE INFORMAL

No Public Hearing to Discuss Grading of Oats.

EASTERN MEN HERE TODAY

Livingston Heads Party From Department of Agriculture to Obtain Views of Dealer and Producer.

The public hearing for grain men, which was scheduled to be held in Portland today to discuss Federal oats standards, has been abandoned, owing to the ban on public meetings and in its place will be a number of informal conferences between Government officials and those interested in the standrds. The officials will be at the Depart-sent of Agriculture office, room 310 Worcesster building, from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M., where those desiring may call on them or submit Daish, Mr. Livingston's secretary; B. J. Stubble, divisional supervisor for the section west of the Rockies, and H. A. Martin, in charge of the Portland office, will also be present.

S. A. Regan, acting in charge of grain standardination and investigation, who was formerly in the Portland office, was to be Washington by sickness.

The Portland Merchants' Exchange Association yesterday appointed a committee consisting of George A. Westgate, N. A. Lesch, F. L. Shull, R. W. Hastings and L. M. Jeffers to represent the association, and the Seuttle and Tacoma grain trades are also expected to send delegates. The produrers of this section will probably be represented by Frofessor G. R. Hyslop, of the Oregon Agricultural College.

The Eastern party had a public hearing at Rezeman, Mont, on Monday and yester-day held informal meetings at Spokane where a closing order is also in effect. From Portland they proceed to Denver, where they will meet grain men on October 26.

Tentative grade requirements for onts have been drawn up by the Agricultural Department, which will be submitted as the

STANDARDS PROPOSED ARE TOO LOW Professor Hyslop Says Oregon Milling Outs Are Not Adequately Recognized,

CORVALLIS, Or., Oct. 22—(Special)— Professor G. A. Hysiop, of the Oregon Agri-cultural College, believes special grades abould be made for the oats produced in this state. He said:

"The proposed standards are so low in many specis that no proper recognition is pro ided for the fine, heavy, bright, sweet oats produced in Western Oregon, Western Wash-ington and in irrigated portions east of the Cascade range," comments G. R. Hyslop professor of farm crops in the Oregon Agri-cific Northwest are to be adequately recognized and if grades are established that will bring for them their real value, there are two courses to follow. One is to provide at least three grades above the proposed per cent as the minimum moisture test for grades Nes. 1 and 2."

This proposition is not likely to meet with favor in that it would automatically throw the great bulk of the Eastern cats crop into grade Nas. 3 and 4, and while the value of the cats would not be changed in any sense, the mere fact that so much of the cats would grade low is distastful to many persons.

"With such an arrangement, on the other hand, very little of our cats would grade helow No. 3 so far as test weights and molature content is concerned.

"Another plan is to establish a group for Western cats, with four grades and sample grade for each class. With such an arrangement the Agricultural College believes that it is inadvisable to allow more than 12 per cent as the milimum moisture test for grades Nes. 1 and 2."
