

187 BODIES FROM SOPHIA RECOVERED

Dead Given Up by Waters Taken by Boats to Juneau.

PASSENGER MAKES WILL

John Maskell, of Dawson, in Midst of Peril, Writes in Diary Short but Vivid Description of Disaster.

DAWSON, Y. T., Oct. 28.—One hundred and eighty-seven bodies have been recovered from the steamer Princess Sophia, which sank in Lynn Canal off Vancouver Island Friday night or early Saturday morning, according to a dispatch from Skagway to the Dawson News.

JUNEAU, Alaska, Oct. 28.—No gold was in the Sophia's cargo, according to Juneau officers of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. A Dawson, Y. T., dispatch Saturday said Klondike gold producers believed the Sophia carried about $1,000,000 in gold being sent outside.

Escape From Ship Blocked. Details received here today said that Friday afternoon it was decided to rig a line and send the Sophia's people to the Cedar in baskets if it became necessary. The rising winds and waters evidently blocked the execution of the plans.

JUNEAU, Oct. 28.—The Canadian Pacific steamship company's steamer Princess Sophia went to her doom in Lynn Canal with 245 souls on board between 8 and 9 o'clock Friday evening. This was believed definitely established by a statement of the master of the steamer King and Winge and by the log of the government cutter. A last wireless message was received by these vessels from the Sophia about 5 o'clock Friday, and it said: "Just to say good-bye. We are foundering."

The Cedar wireless operator called the Sophia repeatedly after that, but had no response. The captain of the King and Winge said the small boats standing by the Sophia repeatedly asked to take off the Sophia's passengers, but Captain E. L. Locke, of the Sophia, replied that they were safer on the Sophia than in small boats.

Description Short but Vivid. Short but vivid was the description of the first stages of the wreck as related in the diary of John Maskell, of Dawson. He wrote under date of October 24:

"We struck the reef in a blinding snow storm during the night. A number of passengers were thrown out of their berths and great excitement prevailed. Boats were made ready to lower when information was received that the boat was not taking water. The passengers became quiet. Owing to the storm the boats were not lowered. In the realization that we are surrounded by grave danger, I make this, my last will."

Then followed the will, dividing his property between his father and Dorothy Burgess, his "wife to-be," of Manchester, England.

Wireless Operator Hero. Elwood Miller, Sacramento, Cal., was among the heroes of the disaster. He worked at his wireless instruments 40 hours without rest.

Search for bodies of the Sophia wreck is being prosecuted in a battle with cold winds, snow and still angry waters by scores of volunteers, fireless flashlights and searchlights. The bodies known recovered at the time of filing this dispatch were 158, of which 142 were here. There are doubtless many others on boats en route to Juneau.

WOMEN WILL CO-OPERATE

COMMITTEE NAMED FOR UNITED WAR WORK CAMPAIGN.

Strong Organization Composed of Representative Workers in Various Fields of Activity.

To insure the success of carrying the story of the united war work campaign to every woman of the territory in and about the city of Portland, a woman's committee for co-operation in the united war work campaign has been organized to formulate plans for co-operative work. Three districts have been turned over to this committee for the coming drive and the three captains nominated to have charge of these districts are Mrs. William C. Alford, Mrs. Everett Ames, Mrs. W. B. Ayer, Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. J. C. Costello, Mrs. George Gerlinger, Mrs. E. G. Grelle, Major Harris, Mrs. Thomas D. Honeyman, Mrs. Julius Louissou, Mrs. George W. McMath, Mrs. J. P. O'Brien, M. A. Donald C. Spencer and Mrs. Isaac Sweet.

Women's committees are being organized throughout the entire country to stand ready to help in every way possible with the work of the forthright campaign. Portland's committee is made up of women representing widely different interests in women's war activities, so that every channel for stimulating the interest of women in the United war work campaign may be used.

WOUNDED AMERICANS HOME

Five Oregon Soldiers Are Now Convalescing in Letterman Hospital.

Contingents of wounded American soldiers have begun to arrive at hospitals in this country to complete recovery and convalescence. One such contingent which has just arrived at the Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco, Cal., contained two Portland boys and three from upstate points. William F. Campbell and Charles W. Beaver are the two men listed as from Portland. The other Oregonians are Earl J. Stevenson, of Baker, and Evan Hughes and Marcus Haines, both of Elkton. Advices from San Francisco state that nearly all these men will soon be sufficiently recovered to be discharged from the hospital.

SOCIETY NEWS

BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

THERE is such an urgent need for gauze influenza masks that special meetings of the Red Cross auxiliaries in every part of the city are being called. The Red Cross Society has given orders to the auxiliaries which must be filled. To do this every member must be present and many additional women, who are not affiliated with any definite organizations, must also help in the making of the masks.

Mrs. Francis J. Bailey, who has been making her home in Vancouver, Wash., for the past year, is recovering from an attack of influenza. She is at present domiciled in Portland.

Mrs. Walter Bethel and three children recently arrived in this city to spend some time with the former's mother, Mrs. N. Strong, during the absence of Brigadier-General Bethel in France. Mrs. Bethel has been making her home in Washington since General Bethel sailed for France. He is chief of the Judge-Advocate Corps on General Pershing's staff. Mrs. Bethel, who formerly was a Portland girl, is being delightfully welcomed by hosts of old friends.

Mrs. James Ellis (Helen Lytle) and little son have returned to their home in St. Louis. They were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lytle during the Summer months.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Edward A. O'Neill (Katherine Schnabel) are now domiciled at Fort Hill, Oklahoma, coming from Camp Jackson, South Carolina, where they have been for several weeks.

Mrs. Margaret E. Becker has returned to her home in this city after visiting in Pendleton at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Peterson. Mrs. Becker went to Pendleton in order to attend to some official lodge business, which had to be postponed on account of the quarantine ban.

Mrs. John Bahr, of Lents, Or., is in Pendleton visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Cliff Elgin and Mrs. Robert Manning. The late Mr. Bahr was a pioneer farmer of Umatilla County.

W. E. Hauser, of St. Paul, brother of E. V. Hauser, of this city, and Grant Smith left last night for the north, en route to the East. W. E. Hauser has been the guest of his brother at the Multnomah Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haycox have received a message from their son, Raymond D. Haycox, telling them of his promotion to ensign in the United States Navy. He also states that he is expecting a leave soon.

Miss Catherine O'Sullivan, of the Multnomah Hotel, has returned from a three weeks' visit in Tacoma, where she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Vocum, and also in Vancouver, B. C., where she visited relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Scott, of Salem, are being showered with congratulatory messages upon the arrival of a daughter, born October 23. She has been named Doris Jean, in honor of her mother, who was Miss Doris Byford, of this city.

The flower sale which was to have been held at the Red Cross shop tomorrow and Thursday of this week, has been postponed due to the Spanish influenza ban, which will be held as soon as the ban is lifted.

The Library Association asks that all people who have books and magazines leave them at the Eleventh-street entrance of the Central Library, where they will be collected and distributed to the boys who are in quarantine in the Army cantonments and spruce camps. There is a shortage of books and magazines, and the need is urgent, for the men have nothing to read.

The Red Cross Society has called upon the members of the auxiliary of the White Temple for emergency work which is important. Every member is requested to be at the church tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Please take a lunch. Tea and coffee will be served.

The Red Cross unit of the First Presbyterian Church has received an order for 500 masks. Members are asked to meet at the church this morning at 9:30, as the work is of extreme importance and must be completed.

A special meeting of the Red Cross auxiliary of the First Methodist Church will be held today. All members are urged to attend and assist in the making of gauze masks, for which there is such an urgent need.

Women of the Westminster Presbyterian Church who wish to do sewing for the Red Cross unit there may call at the church office Wednesday and get supplies. It was announced yesterday. No meetings being permitted and the work being of great importance, this decision was reached by those in authority.
