

EARLY CLOSING ORDER GENERALLY OBSERVED

Streets Late in Afternoon Present Deserted Appearance.

MANY QUESTIONS ASKED

City School Teachers, During Period of Enforced Idleness, Called on to Help Health Office.

Portland's streets early yesterday afternoon presented a deserted appearance as the Mayor's early-closing order went into effect.

General observance of the rule requiring stores to close at 2:30 and of- fices at 4 o'clock was reported. In- terpretation of the regulations was found difficult in many cases, but most of the store owners and others were anxious to abide by the spirit of the order designed to put a check to the influenza epidemic.

An indication that the epidemic may have started on the down grade was furnished in the vital statistics at the City Health Bureau. While the 34 deaths reported was the largest num- ber for any one day and 175 new cases were recorded, these reports covered 48 hours.

Puzzled Citizens Ask Questions.

Both the Mayor's office and the Health Bureau were kept busy answer- ing questions from puzzled citizens. Charles F. Berg, of the Retailers' As- sociation, volunteered his services to the Mayor and was immediately pressed into service. He will be on the job as long as needed, he stated. Hal White, Mayor Baker's secretary, was back after a sharp attack of influenza and Mayor Baker also was on the job after an enforced rest.

Interpretations of the order inas- far as problems had arisen during the day were furnished last night as follows:

Stores open at 9 A. M. and close at 2:30 P. M. Employees to be released at once so they may go home before shipyard and other workers are released.

Office buildings and offices close at 4 P. M., releasing employees soon as possible.

Cigar stands close at 2:30.

Poolrooms, cardrooms, bowling alleys, cigar stands, refreshment parlors close at 2:30 P. M. excepting card games and other attractions also.

Grocery stores, meat markets, restaurants and drug stores open. Closing does not affect doctors' offices, dental offices or others engaged in medical or war service. Drug stores may sell drugs and grocery stores only food after 2:30.

Public markets close at 2:30.

Public library closed entirely.

Express and railroad companies close to public at 2:30.

In factories, fuel yards, wholesale es- tablishments, etc., the order is not ap- plicable. Release workers whenever possible, but can clean up day's business with enforced rest.

To enforce the regulations and to ex- plain to those affected how the new order works out, the entire police force and 50 members of the Oregon Military Police were sent out yesterday.

School Teachers Called to Help.

A flying squadron of school teachers to educate the public and to help clean up the homes in the cam- paign against influenza is the plan of City Health Officer Parrish, who will lead the most active corps.

Teachers are asked to come to the council chamber of the City Hall at 2:30 to receive instructions as to the work which will be expected of them. The willingness of the teachers to help in the fight against the disease, it is believed, will be a factor in the success of the campaign. The plan has the endorsement of Superintendent Groat and other school officials.

Houses where influenza patients are quarantined will be placarded by health bureau employees. No persons except the attending physician and other per- sons in the house will be allowed to come and go.

Presiding Judge Tucker announced yesterday that the matter will be set in the Circuit Court until the influenza epidemic is over. The Novem- ber jury will not be called and the courts will be kept open for the hear- ing of only those cases which can be determined without a jury. In view of the small number of persons in a court room since the jury has been dismissed, the courts will continue to transact business until the usual hour of adjournment and other court offices also will remain open during the usual periods.

A Wartime Recipe For Gray Hair

Gray, streaked or faded hair can be immediately made black, brown or light brown, whichever shade you de- sire, by the use of the following remedy that you can make at home.

Merely get a small box of Orlex powder at any drug store. It costs very little and no extras to buy. Dis- solve it in water and comb it through the hair. Full directions for mixing and use come in each box.

You need not hesitate to use Orlex, as a $100.00 gold bond is on each box guaranteeing the user that Orlex powder does not contain silver, lead, zinc, sulphur, mercury, aniline, coal- tar products or their derivatives.

It does not rub off, is not sticky or gummy and leaves the hair fluffy. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger.—Adv.

The most spirited eleventh-hour cam- paign ever waged in Aberdeen is in Grays Harbor County is in progress between the supporters of F. W. Loomis, Republican, for Senator, and W. C.
