

CAPTAIN OF MARINES GIVES "BEAR" TALK

Lynn Covert Says Team Will Be Able to Play Here.

FLU VACCINATION GIVEN

Mare Island Athletic Officer in Portland Arranging for Multi-nomah Game.

BY JAMES J. RICHARDSON.
Captain Lynn Covert, athletic officer at the Mare Island Marine Barracks and a former well-known Portlander, arrived in our midst yesterday, gaily bedecked in the latest lingo of the Marine Corps, and almost immediately after setting the "pair of drops" on terra firma proceeded to get in touch with Multnomah Athletic Club officials regarding the signing of an agreement for the appearance of the "devil dogs" on Multnomah Field Saturday, November 23, in the initial Northwest "clash" of the famous Marine eleven.

We don't just get the drift of the story Marine C.O.'s line of chatter when he starts talking football. The Marines have been on the sick list at Mare Island? Yes, they have been in quarantine and most of the players have not been feeling any too good on account of taking a shot in the arm. For almost four weeks the "devil dogs" have not been themselves, so says Covert.

Three Games Played.
But—they managed to escape the vigilance of the barracks doctors on three different occasions and played football. In these three games they ran up a total of 170 points against their opponents, who were unable to register a single point. Last Saturday "Lonastar" Dietz, who is coaching the soldiers of the sea in the art of playing the gridiron game, "shoved off" to Fort Baker and gave the heavy artillery eleven awful lacing, piling up 67 points. Dietz took his first team off the field at the end of the first half and sent in his scrubs. Fort Baker failed to make first down during the game.

Covert expects the Marines will have fully recovered from their present "illness" when they are ready to start on their northern tour, and looks for them to pep up and play "real" football—registering points just like a conductor on the Hall-street line rings up fares on a Saturday night.

Bill Steers, one of the ailing Marines, got away for a run of 40 yards last Saturday. He has not been feeling well a-tall. He expects to have fully recovered by the time the Marines start north. Steers' running averaged 60 yards during the three games. His big right toe has to be "manicured" before he will be able to kick in his real form. Said operation will be performed just before the "devil dogs" start north.

Aside from the Marine players being under quarantine, but anxious to be able to sit up and take nourishment in a dining car northward bound in time to play a game in Portland November 23, any other "illness" of the Marines is about as funny as a cry for help.

He said it is not altogether assured that Oregon would play California in San Francisco November 23, which date they were originally billed to clash with the Marines on Multnomah Field. Covert will remain in Portland for a few days and then visit Camp Lewis and the Bremerton Navy-yard. He scheduled a game with Vancouver Barracks for December 7 to be played either on Multnomah Field or Vancouver Barracks.

Mare Island Open Date.
The Marines have an open date next Saturday, but on November 16 they play California on the Berkeley campus. They are scheduled to "shove off" for Portland November 18, arriving here on the 20th, which will give them three days to lumber up for the big game with Multnomah.

The famous Marine band is coming along. Also a flock of Marine fighters. Just why the scrapper are coming is a mystery, "cause that football team of the Marines can do enough fighting for the whole of Mare Island.

Captain Covert thinks the action of the University of Oregon in canceling their game with the Marines is about as funny as a cry for help. He said it is not altogether assured that Oregon would play California in San Francisco November 23, which date they were originally billed to clash with the Marines on Multnomah Field. Covert will remain in Portland for a few days and then visit Camp Lewis and the Bremerton Navy-yard. He scheduled a game with Vancouver Barracks for December 7 to be played either on Multnomah Field or Vancouver Barracks.

Colorado Gets New Jolt
Football Men Called to Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 4.—The University of Colorado has been already dealt a blow by the Spanish influenza, received another at the hands of the War Department that almost destroyed its foundation.

The War Department, of course, had no deliberate intention of crippling the university's first-line football team. Candidates for the Reserve Officers' Training Corps and it took them. The department's choice fell on three of the university's first-line players, regular center and two linemen who had been drilled so that they would be able to step into the center's position in an emergency.

"Vio" Adams, star of last year's eleven; Tom Freeman and Bill Livingston, are the players who were called. The filling of the key position at this time appears to be a serious problem, since not only the regular holder of that important post, but also the man who were to have succeeded him have been taken. How much time there will be for the training of new men for the place depends upon the duration of the epidemic of Spanish influenza.

The university is now without a schedule, having canceled all games upon the appearance of the epidemic. The squad, however, is practicing regularly.

INTERMOUNTAIN HOPES WANE

Influenza Epidemic Upsets Schedule of Football Games.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 4.—Two weeks more of school and college vacation due to the influenza epidemic will end even the hopes of football enthusiasts in the Intermountain section. Many of the athletic coaches of the high schools of this section have already declared that there will be no chance for games this Fall. However, some of the college coaches still hope to have a game by Thanksgiving day. Football talk appears to be decreasing and basketball conversation finds a reader ear. If schools open the first week of November there is a possibility of one or two games before Christmas.

COACH HARGISS CONFIDENT

OREGON VICTORY OVER FOUR-
DATION CAUSES NO WORRY.

No Prediction Made on Outcome of Game With University, but Hopes Are High.

The fact that the University of Oregon triumphed on the Foundation shipyard football eleven at Eugene last Saturday by the overwhelming score of 40 to 0 is causing no uneasiness in the mind of Coach Hargiss, of the Oregon Aggies, which eleven will clash with Oregon next Saturday at Eugene in the first of two games scheduled between the two big Oregon institutions. Hargiss, accompanied by Dr. A. D. Browne, director of physical education at the Corvallis school, stopped off between trains in Portland long enough last Sunday, on their return from Camp Lewis, where the Aggies were subdued by the soldiers, 21 to 6, to tell of the fighting bunch of youngsters that represent the black and orange institution this season.

The elongated, but jovial, football mentor at the Aggie's institution is strong for singing the praises of his squad and after being cornered on the subject of whether the Aggies were going to repeat their performance of last year, when, for the first time in ten years, they humbled the pride of the State University gridlers, Hargiss spoke thusly:

"We have a strong aggregation of youngsters. They are all fighters. They are clean in their play. In playing the game and are battling all the time. Most of them are inexperienced, but anxious to learn the fine art of football. We have a bunch of youngsters, but everybody is pulling together, and I am more than satisfied with their showing to date. Our game with the soldiers at Camp Lewis was a much better game than the score indicates. We will be up and at 'em at Eugene next Saturday."

"Do you think the Aggies will win?"
"We have a strong team at Corvallis, and—"

"What are the chances of an Aggie victory?"
"Every man on the team is a fighter, and—"

"How many points will you beat Oregon?"
"The Aggies can be relied upon to—"

"What do you think of Oregon's 40-to-0 victory over the shipbuilders last Saturday?"
"Yes, we will be up and at 'em at Eugene every minute."

"Let's see, Doc, what time does our train leave for Corvallis? Well, guess we must be going. Strong. See you Saturday at Eugene."

MORTON F. PLANT SUGGESTS

New York Financier and Yachtsman
Dies of Pneumonia.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Morton F. Plant, retired financier and yachtsman, died of pneumonia at his home here tonight, after a brief illness. Although he was once head of the Plant estate, he was now a part of the Atlantic Coast line, Mr. Plant was perhaps best known as a yachting enthusiast.

In 1909 he made a trip around the world on the yacht Iolande, which he had built in Leith, Scotland, especially for the trip. The Iolande was at the time the third largest yacht in the world and its operating cost was reputed to be $1000 a day. Shortly after she was launched Mr. Plant gave a luncheon in one of her huge smokestacks.

Mr. Plant was born August 18, 1852, in New Haven, Conn., the son of the late Henry B. Plant, who was founder of the Plant railway and steamship system. Mr. Plant was also a director in the bank.

He is survived by his widow and two sons, Henry D. and Philip Morgan Plant.

BOWLING LEAGUE IS FORMED

Twenty Weeks' Series Planned at Multnomah Athletic Club.

A house bowling league was organized at the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club Friday night for a season of 20 weeks, the first game starting next Thursday night at 8 o'clock. All games will be rolled on the club's alleys.

There will be four teams and each team will have seven members—five regulars and two substitutes. The four captains appointed were Farrell, William Reed, captain of Beasly, Paul Back, McVay, Ewing, Schermerhorn, and Tremaine.

Teams and their captains follow: Reese, Captain; Ragun, J. H. Knight, McCarty, Montgomery, Ott and McKinney; Willard, captain of Beasly, Paul Back, McVay, Ewing, Schermerhorn, and Tremaine. Farrell, captain; Dibble, Reich, Brodie, Warner, Dr. Luther and Thompson, Barrett, captain; McKay, C. G. Knight, Ruppe, Giet, Vanstrom and Skinner.

MILITARY STUDENTS TO PLAY

Army, Navy and Marine Corps of S.
A. T. C. Have Saturday Games.

SEATTLE, Nov. 4.—Football games and other athletic contests between the Army, Navy and Marine Corps units of the Students' Army Training Corps at the University of Washington, Mass athletics is the programme, and it is the intention of Coach Claude J. Hunt and his assistants to see that every man gets into it.

W. H. Nitchke, an All-Northwest end of the Oregon Agricultural College team, is chairman of the athletic committee in charge of athletics at the S. A. T. C. here.

Tacoma Angles for Games.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Portland's football plans for this season will be approached for games later in the season by workers at the Todd shipyard here, who are planning to break into a Northwest league. Among the 7000 men employed at the plant are many who have held a high place in the two sports for years. Tom Perry, who was selected last Spring for the all-star team which rolled on the Portland alleys for the Northwest championship, is working at the Todd yard and is eager to get into bowling practice once more.

TROEH ACCEPTS BID TO NEW YORK SHOOT

Vancouver Expert Will Appear at Polo Grounds.

EVENT TO AID WAR DRIVE

Five of Country's Leading Trapshooters Will Give Exhibition
November 13.

Frank Troeh, Vancouver's expert trapshooter, has accepted the invitation of the National sports committee of New York, working in conjunction with the United War Work drive, to take part in the trapshooting carnival to be held at the Polo grounds, New York, Wednesday, November 13, when Troeh and four others of the country's greatest trapshooters will give the natives of Gotham a rare treat when it comes to crashing claybirds.

That Troeh is in fine fettle for his New York appearance was proven Sunday at Crow Agency, Montana, when he smashed 198 out of 200 targets and was high over all and walked off with $1000 worth of liberty bonds.

best known and most popular sportsman, and a great advocate of trapshooting, will leave tonight for a trip to New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago, and will meet Troeh at Billings, Mont., from which point they will both travel to New York for the big shoot. Mr. Clemson has big interests in the East which demand his attention, but he can always find time to sandwich in a trapshooting tournament, especially one such as the New York event promises to be.

Others Not Chosen.
It is not known yet who the four other shooters are that will take the mark with Troeh. Neither is it known how many targets the five shooters will blast away at.

The invitation to Troeh was received last Saturday by Mrs. Troeh after Frank had departed for Montana. The National sports committee put the proposition up to Frank and left no alternative for him but to accept. It is, indeed, quite a tribute to the ability of the Vancouver marksman to be selected as one of the country's five greatest shooters.

One thousand dollars in trophies, or liberty bonds for first, second and third places, is the tempting bait besides the great honor to the shooters.

"As a war measure this is virtually a draft," read the telegram to Troeh, "and we count upon your patriotism. No alibi counts over there. Your presence is indispensable."

Lorenson May Go.
There has been quite a bit of discussion regarding the relative abilities of Troeh and Harry Lorenson, the California champion. Troeh managed to register better scores than did Lorenson in their tilt on the Bear State traps last month and passed the Californian in the high averages for the entire country. It might be that Lorenson will be one of the five invited to take part in the big shoot.

Since Billy Heer, the Guthrie, Okla., veteran, defeated Troeh in the $4000 Liberty bond shoot, at Seattle last June, in a closely contested match, the Vancouver marksman has been anxious to again match his skill with Heer and it might be that the Oklahoman will be one of the quintet who will be asked to take part in the New York trapshooting classic.

Troeh will return to Vancouver after the shoot. Clemson will remain in the East for about a month.

KAY WINS CLEMSON TROPHY

HENDERSON IN HOSPITAL.
Ben Henderson, former Portland Beaver star pitcher, was taken to the Oakland Emergency Hospital last Friday suffering from delirium tremens, according to word received in this city yesterday. Mrs. Margaret Henderson, wife of the former ballplayer, said Henderson was taken to the hospital by a friend, claiming that she has spent close to $1000 in an effort to keep him "straight."

Ing Dr. J. H. Tuttle. In the finals, 2 up and 1 to go. The match was witnessed by a large gallery and some excellent shots were made by both players.

A large number of players entered yesterday in the qualifying round for the president's cup. The inclement weather failed to keep the golfers indoors and some good scores were turned in. Those who qualified were Charles Wintemuth, Dr. C. C. Moore, E. M. Eldredge, A. E. Shand, C. Constantine Gross, J. Copeland, George E. Anderson, M. Miller, C. W. Cornell, Frank A. Heitkemper, Dr. J. H. Tuttle, C. N. Sampson, F. I. Finley, W. R. Boone, Otto Mutscham and Charles W. Meyers.

FARMER ANXIOUS FOR FIGHT

Tacoma Fans Plan Seven-Events
Card in Near Future.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—If the influenza ban is off during the week of November 11-13 the boxing show for the National War Work Council fund will be held in the Tacoma Armory.

George Shanklin, matchmaker for the Eagles Club, plans to have Frank Farmer and Knockout Kravsky mix in the main event. Farmer is eager to get a crack at the man who topped his crown, and Shanklin understands that the champion is not averse to the fight. The Farmer-Kravsky go would be for six rounds. Six additional four-round bouts probably will be put on the same card.

An Appeal for Co-operation To the Public:—

Absolute and consistent co-operation upon the part of the public is urged in a supreme effort to rid Portland of the epidemic of influenza. The disease has already taken a heavy toll in lives and will take still more unless extreme and drastic efforts are made by the public to stop its spread. This is an appeal for city-wide co-operation in the hope that compliance with the following regulations may quickly stop the disease and enable Portland to resume its business pleasure without restriction and danger.

Regulations Which Every Man, Woman and Child Should Observe and Influence Others to Comply With

People

Remain at home unless having necessary business elsewhere. Keep away from stores, offices and other places where a crowd is likely to gather.
When having necessary business downtown, go after 9 A. M., and go home before 2:30 P. M.—avoiding restaurants between 12 noon and 1 o'clock.
Avoid crowded streetcars. Under no conditions try to board a car that has the limit of load specified by the Health Bureau. See that at least three windows upon each side of the car are open.

Regulations Governing Private Homes

Your Own Home

None but members of the household must be permitted to enter or leave a house where a case of influenza exists. Those ill are prohibited from leaving the house until permission is granted by the City Health Bureau. In case of sickness with influenza, isolate the patient. Have only one person as nurse, enter and leave the patient's room. That person should always wear a gauze mask over nose and mouth. The hands should be thoroughly washed before leaving the room.
The sick room should have windows open day and night. The floor and woodwork should be frequently wiped with damp cloths.

These regulations have been made at the suggestion of those qualified to pass upon the best means of stamping out this disease. A glance at the death records should be sufficient to convince any person of the necessity for strict compliance with these regulations—regardless of sacrifice—without being forced to comply.

As Mayor of the City of Portland I am making every possible effort to bring back normal conditions, and, as the situation now stands, this requires absolute co-operation upon the part of the public. I earnestly entreat YOU to do YOUR part.

GEORGE L. BAKER, Mayor.

OREGON ELEVEN CRIPPLED

SPIRIT OF OVER-CONFIDENCE
DEPLORED BY COACH.

Sunderleaf, One of Leading End
Candidates, Enters Hospital as Result of Injuries.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Nov. 4.—(Special.)—After having downed the Foundation shipbuilders by the score of 40 to 0, the university members of the team and its followers on the campus, Coach "Sny" Huntington considers this to be the worst thing that could happen to the team at the present time, and will try to take the "cockiness" out of the men during the week.

Oregon is also facing the possibility of losing Eric Hauser, who, playing at left end, has proven himself a wizard in this position. Hauser and Wilson had been taking care of the ends in grand style, and it will be no easy task to pick another man for this position before the game with Oregon Agricultural College next Saturday, in case Hauser is ordered to leave.

Sunderleaf, who has been one of the leading end candidates, was taken to the hospital yesterday afternoon, after having been hurt in the game Saturday between the Eugene High School and the Oregon second team.

"Scotty" Strachan, varsity left tackle, was taken out of the game Saturday at the end of the first half, having given his ankle a twist during the fray. It was thought at first that the trouble was of no serious nature, but, according to "Sny" Hayward, his arch may be broken.

Joe Trowbridge, right tackle for the lemon-yellow, appeared, limping around the campus this morning, having suffered a "charley horse" in the game Saturday.

This pile of woes is almost enough to drive any coach to distraction, but on top of it is the announcement that either today or tomorrow the men of the S. A. T. C. will be given their first shot in the arm.

Just who will be able to start against the Oregon Agricultural College aggregation will probably be announced about 10 minutes before the contest, when those of the squad who are left will be lined up and assigned to positions.

Huntington has also received another jolt. Andy Smith, coach of the California team, sent a telegram last night saying that he had started advertising the game between his protégés and Oregon on November 23.

Bob McAllister, former Pacific Coast middleweight champion boxer, who has been doing his "bit" at the Standiford wooden shipyards in North Portland since he resigned as boxing instructor at Vancouver Barracks, yesterday signed up with the United States Merchant Marine service and will sail tomorrow on the steamer Salmon as oiler.

McAllister is 25 years of age and his marine experience has been limited to ocean voyages between San Francisco and Portland, but as "Bob" always managed to appear in the dining room about meal time, he ought to get by in his new job. The Salmon will take cargo from here to San Francisco and then load for Honolulu.

LEBANON Principal Overseas.
LEBANON, Or., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Miss Mary E. Shunnon, principal of the Lebanon High School, has accepted a call from the Government for overseas reconstruction work. She took a course of special instruction last Summer for this work and tendered her services to the Government, and last week she received the call to go to France, and will leave as soon as transportation and passports can be obtained.

Great Britain has 300 government employment offices.
