About the time Mr. Page was named several months ago, Captain Bulger was urged to make an effort to be appointed and at that time was generally indorsed by maritime and commercial interess of Washington and Oregon, as well as California.

"If the honor is accorded me I will accept the place, for I feel that the time has arrived, in view of the signing of the armistice, when a practical man could no doubt find highly important work on the Shipping Board, yet it must be appreciated that I cannot exert personal efforts, as some of the green of the Board and Mr. Page second, and without question it is the policy of the Administration to continue the representation, which is most necessary to the West at this time, because of the new ship construction."

The actean schooner Daisy Matthews arrived at 7:40 this morning from Ease Mithe portand, the steamer Rese City salled at midnight for San Francisco and sear Pedro. KEEPERS IGNORANT OF PEACE

Lighthouse Men Must Wait Until Tenders Can Carry Glad Tidings.

Lightkeepers at Destruction Island, off the Washington coast, and those in Tillamook Rock, off the Oregov hore and a short distance south of the entrance to the Columbia River, have not been advised that the Ger-mans have signed an armistice, in the opinion of Robert Warrack, superin-tendent of the Seventeenth Lighthouse District.

He strove to arrange the movements of lighthouse tenders yesterday so they could carry the tidings to the lonely men, but the Manzanita was pressed into service to carry military material and the Heather is short-handed, three firemen, a quartermaster and a messboy being influenza victims. "Unless a passing vessel signaled the men, they do not know now that the great war is ended, though they are almost close enough to shore to have heard the din raised on land Monday," said Mr. Warrack. "There land, tenders being depended on solely.
