

ROSCOE A. FAWCETT INJURED IN FLIGHT

Portland Lieutenant in London Hospital; Companion Dead.

DENSE FOG ACCIDENT CAUSE

In Trip in Plane Former Sport Editor of the Oregonian Shoots Into Tree at 90-Mile Rate.

Lieutenant Roscoe A. Fawcett, former sports editor of the Oregonian, today is in a London hospital and his companion on a flight from London to Paris, is dead, as the result of serious injuries which befell the two men in a dense fog recently, when, flying at a 90-mile rate, their big British plane struck a tree, smashing it to kindling.

For several months, since leaving this country following his graduation at the flying school in San Diego, Fawcett has been stationed near Winchester, England, training men in the aero squadrons, and in this work had made several flights across the English Channel.

Lieutenant Fawcett's injuries include a broken nose, a bad dent in his forehead, a splintered jawbone, the loss of several teeth, a sprained ankle, neck muscles wrenched and bruises on practically all parts of his body. In a letter to Mrs. Fawcett, written from the hospital in England where he was taken after his accident, Lieutenant Fawcett says:

"Lucky to Be Alive." Says Fawcett. "I don't know if the news has reached you yet or not, I guess it has to put it briefly, I had a terrible fall and am lucky to be alive. Was flying from London to Paris and ran into a fog like the one in my balloon race in 1914 (Portland) and it is difficult to see an airplane on a small island like England where ten miles of flying may put you 15 miles at sea. We were flying close along the coast when the fog came in suddenly.

"I had no compass, but tried to turn and run out of it. Instead, the bus went around in a circle and once we were out at sea I am sure, although I couldn't see the land. The only resort was to come down, take pot luck on lighting in a forest or a good field. Couldn't see a thing and thought bus was up 400 or 700 feet when the bus crashed—hit a tree or something and came off on to a farmer's hayrick. That's all that saved us.

"The plane was one of the top-notch English buses, and we must have been going 80 or 90 miles, at least. Of course, the plane was smashed to kindling wood, and it is a miracle it did not burn up and incinerate us. I was knocked unconscious but came to and pulled myself out of the wreckage just as a crowd of farmers gathered, and it took them 20 minutes to dig my pal out. He had just had a crash in France and was in England recuperating. Name was Evans—I don't know his first name. Fine fellow, too.

No More Prizes at Beauty Show. "I suppose you are wondering what shape it left me in. Well, so am I. Am afraid I'll never take any prizes in a beauty show, unless it is for Boston bull terriers. Unless I have very good luck I'll be somewhat disfigured. My nose is broken, my eye is disfigured, my face is a mass of scars, my teeth are gone, my left ankle sprained, neck muscles wrenched and otherwise bruised on thighs, hands, etc.

"I say it is pretty tough luck, for I transferred into aviation from infantry because I imagined if I did get it, I would get it for keeps, and not be simply disfigured. Here's hoping I may get well without very bad scars.

"I am in a British hospital, and they are giving me the best of care. Said the real danger of relapse now passed. Am suffering very acutely, as my mouth and jaws are like something that has got stuck in a sausage grinder. Haven't been able to eat anything since being brought here. Drinking a little milk and brandy.

Mrs. Fawcett has had a cable from London saying that Lieutenant Fawcett is doing nicely. It is probable that he will be returned home as soon as he is able to travel, but as yet there is no definite information concerning his mustering out.

SCHOOL ISSUE UP TODAY
APPROPRIATION OF $250,000 TO BE VOTED UPON.

Members of School Board Show Necessity of Increasing Teachers' Pay.

Public school authorities are agreed that today's special school election to vote on an appropriation of $250,000 to cover a $20-a-month rise in salary of all teachers now receiving less than $2000 a year should be carried. The increase, which is effective for one year only, is necessary to cover high cost of living, members of the school board state.

Portland school teachers are being forced to move from their old-time boarding-houses into cheaper rooms where inferior board is set, declared L. A. Plummer, superintendent of schools. "Boarding-house keepers have told me teachers in their establishments would have to move out or pay more money, fuel, laundry and food have increased in price greatly."

STRIKES ARE DEPRECATED

Director of U. S. Employment Service Spends Two Days Here and Leaves for North.

Issuance of a subpoena for him by the grand jury in San Francisco taking up investigation of the circumstances of the Mooney conviction did not deter John B. Densmore, whose report stirred the grand jury to action, from proceeding from Portland to Seattle last night, intent on his duties as director-general of the United States Employment Service.

"I do not approve of striking as a general principle," he said, "and more especially I do not believe the people should protest a judicial opinion in this or any other way. This, of course, is my personal opinion, and I view things from the standpoint of the Government business to answer such a call unless it was urgent."

Mr. Densmore mildly deprecated the proposed calling of strikes as a protest against the hanging of Mooney.

This, of course, is my personal opinion, and I view things from the standpoint of the Government business to answer such a call unless it was urgent."

Mr. Densmore spent Sunday and Monday in Portland, while here he not only inspected the Government work but was interviewed by a number of labor representatives.

STREETCAR MEN BALLOT
Membership Quite Universally Vote on Mooney Strike Protest.

Lively interest was taken yesterday by the 1500 union streetcar employes of Portland in the referendum vote on the Mooney question. Ballots were cast at the various car barns until 9 o'clock last night, and will be counted this morning.

Officers of the car men's union declare the membership quite universally voted. Numerous other unions of large membership hold sessions tonight, and will vote on the proposal.

Badges bearing the legend, "Set Mooney Free," are being worn by some of the more ardent advocates of the protest strike.

Grand Jury Adjourns Until Friday.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—After having two witnesses appear before it, the county grand jury adjourned tonight until Friday its investigation into alleged activities on the part of city officials and others disclosed in a report by John B. Densmore on certain phases of the conviction of Thomas J. Mooney for murder.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—More than 100,000 members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America will conduct "demonstrations" in all clothing centers of the United States and Canada, a week in behalf of Thomas J. Mooney, sentenced to death on December 13 for alleged complicity in the San Francisco preparation day bomb explosion, it was announced here tonight. The cities included, New York, Boston, Rochester, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago, Cleveland, Montreal and Hamilton.

The question of a general strike, it was said, has not been considered here for the eight-hour day.

LIE FAILS TO SAVE GIRL
Shipyard Worker Fined $25 When Companion Denies Story.

Prince Edward's famous lie to save a woman's reputation in court wouldn't have worked before Municipal Judge Rossmann. In fact, his royal highness probably would have been fined and severely reprimanded for the falsehood.

W. C. Brubaker, 23, a shipyard employe, ran into hard luck when he tried to save Miss Minnie Sprague's reputation yesterday. The couple had been arrested in a room together at 190 1/2 Third street. Brubaker told the judge that they were engaged to be married, and had gone to the room because it was raining and they had no privacy in their own lodgings. He said they were discussing their matrimonial ambitions when the police interrupted them.

Miss Sprague denied the engagement, but said she had made up her mind to accept Brubaker if he proposed. She entered a plea of guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct.

Brubaker was severely reprimanded by the judge and fined $25. Miss Sprague was released.

In a Rash. Scalp Sore and Red. Cuticura Healed.

"When my little granddaughter was about three weeks old I noticed that a brown scale appeared all over her head, and it seemed to be in a rash. Her scalp was sore and red, causing her to be cross and fretful and she lost a great deal of sleep. Her hair seemed to be very thin and dry.

"Then I thought I would try Cuticura. They seemed to give relief at once, and I used two cakes of Soap with one box of Ointment when she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. J. A. McElhenny, Torrington, Wyoming, April 24, 1918.

I was induced to try Foley Kidney Pills. Relief was immediate. Say, they are great! Anyone afflicted as I was should try a bottle or two of Foley Kidney Pills. 'Bud Bert,' Held as Spy, Is Found to Have Married Her Cousin.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 23.—Suspected of being a German spy, "Bud Bert" Schmidt was arrested here tonight and it developed "Bert" is a woman. Upon this discovery police arrested his wife, to whom he was married October 12 last by a Justice of the Peace.

"Bert" gave "his" age as 23 years and substantiated the assertion that he offered "his" services to the Government by producing a draft registration card. The woman, flipping the ashes from a cigar, told police she masqueraded as a man to obtain a man's salary. Both women are natives of Hungary.
