

DIETZ WOULD COACH STANFORD FOOTBALL

Mare Island Chief Anxious for Pacific Coast Berth.

APPLICATION TO BE MADE

California Also Appeals to Grid Strategist, but Another Coach Is Engaged.

BY JAMES J. RICHARDSON.

William Lonestar Dietz, football coach extraordinary, now in Portland as chief dispenser of football shrewdness with the famous Mare Island Marines' eleven, is anxious to land with one of the big Pacific Coast colleges as gridiron mentor for next season and is especially solicitous of grabbing off the job at Stanford University, which at the present time is enjoying its second childhood with the American game.

Dietz has assumed a rather tranquil attitude on the subject of where he intends seeking employment in the coaching line next season, but in a quiet confab with the writer yesterday at the Imperial Hotel, accidentally let fly the remark that there are two schools on the Pacific Coast with which he would like to be identified in the capacity of football coach.

"These schools are but a short distance apart," said Dietz, as he puffed on a special brand of cheroot, "and one of them now has a coach who has been with them but a short time. Both schools are dandy institutions and have a large attendance, with some excellent football material. They are great rivals, but they are friendly to each other in the American game for a good many years. They are due for a clash on Thanksgiving day, which will be their first engagement in a number of seasons."

Of course, I don't know whether Dietz thought we were all asleep up here in the Northwest and familiar with the channel in which his thoughts were running, but California and Stanford are the two schools with reference to which Dietz spoke.

"Which one of the two schools do you mean, Bill, California or Stanford?" "Well, they are both dandy schools, with a world of football material in each and I would be pleased to identify myself with either one of them. California has a coach at present, but when I get back to California after this tour with the Mare Island Marines, I am going to make application for the position of football coach at Stanford University."

Dietz is one of the craftiest students of the gridiron game in the country. He played at Carleton under Glen Warner for a number of years. He came to the Pacific Coast three years ago and assumed full charge of gridiron activities at Washington State College with more than a dozen years' experience. Last season he tendered his resignation to enter the moving-picture business and organized a company which put in a season at Spokane.

When the Mare Island Marines organized their famous team this fall, Dietz was secured as coach and has worked the aggregation into a very formidable bunch of rats with the best coaches in the country.

When the Marines met up against the 13th Division team at Tacoma tomorrow, they are very apt to show a switch of players in the backfield. Glover, the back who hurt his shoulder in the game with Vancouver barracks last Saturday, will not play against Camp Lewis tomorrow and Dietz will shift Bill Steers fullback to right half and put Gillis in full back. The shifty and speedy fullback, according to Dietz, and he figures that with Gillis at full back, Steers and Bangs playing the halfback position, the strength of the backfield will be materially increased.

NAVY GAME IS CANCELED

VANCOUVER BARRACKS HAS A WEEK OF REST.

Eleven Is Preparing for Game With Camp Lewis Squad

December 7.

VANCOUVER BARRACKS, Wash., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Members of the Vancouver barracks football eleven will have an easy week, during which time they will begin their fray with Camp Lewis, which is scheduled to be played on December 7. A scheduled game between the soldiers and the Navy Training Station team of Seattle which was to have been played in Portland Saturday, has been cancelled at the request of the sailors.

The cancellation was due to a mixup in the sailors' dates for games and gives the Post team members an extra week in which to make ready for the return game with Capt Cook's dough-boys.

The Vancouver men invaded Camp Lewis and returned with a victory even though they were minus three star players. The men were anxious to score another victory against Lewis as such a victory would make the Vancouver team the champion service team of the Northwest.

Three Vancouver men are out of the game temporarily due to injuries received in the Marines game. Lieutenant Zimmerman who played during the game of the game, has a broken finger as has Kolerus, the shifty left-half of the Soldiers' eleven. Dumas, the scrappy right half on the Army team, who was ordered from the field for alleged roughness and was allowed to return again in the second period, was the most unfortunate member of the Vancouver eleven, having had his shoulder blade broken in the last quarter of the game. All three men are expected to be in shape to enter the Lewis game and in addition, several star players who have been on the hospital list will return into action this week.

CLATSKANIE RESUMES WORK

Football Will Be Dropped and Efforts Devoted to Basketball.

CLATSKANIE, Or., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—With the dropping of the "Spud" athletics will be once more resumed at Clatskanie High School, after a six weeks' layoff.

Owing to the lateness of the season, football will be dropped and all energies bent on basketball. A game has already been scheduled for Thanksgiving night with an aggregation of alumni all-stars. Coach "Jazz" Eliertsen, who gained his experience at Oregon Agricultural College, is coaching the high school five, and is working hard to instill some fight into the green material. Eliertsen hopes to make players out of the following: "Lefty" Locke, Bowyer, Geary, Schneider, Frank Smith, Evensen, and Erickson, and hopes to cop the Lower Colum-

FOUR BEARS KILLED IN DAY

Klamath Falls Hunter Encounters Family of Bruins.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—To get four bears in one day was the experience of W. L. Frain, a well-known resident of the Bewick district, who secured his trophies in the mountains of the Spencer and Clover Creek country.

Frain left home Sunday morning with his saddle horse and dogs in quest of Bruin and although he was unsuccessful the first day, his dogs found fresh tracks early the next morning. The first animal treed proved to be a cub, which was shot and the dog soon after located the mother and two cubs in another tree. Frain shot the mother who then came down the tree after the dogs but she was killed by another shot before she could get to them. The other two cubs were then killed and the hunter had to go back for a wagon in order to get his meat home.

MARINES MAY GET DISCHARGE.

Those members of the Mare Island Marines football team who wish their discharge from the service will be accommodated as soon as the present gridiron schedule is finished. The foregoing announcement was made yesterday by Major McManis, who is in Portland with the Mare Island Marines' eleven and who received word from Colonel Karp, many, commandant of the Marine Barracks at Mare Island.

Order permits the "Devil Dogs" to make application for discharge immediately, but the members of the football team will remain in the service until their present schedule is concluded.

FORESTERS FORM LEAGUE

Four Bowling Teams to Enter Series of Games.

The Forest Service Bowling League has been organized with four teams. C. F. Buck was elected chairman and A. G. Jackson secretary. All of the games will be rolled on the alleys of the Oregon Bowling Parlor on Mondays and Fridays.

The following teams constitute the league: White Pines—Dater, Jackson, Johnson and Peterson; Cedars—Root, Merritt, Hoffman and Brundage; Mahogany—Ireland, White, Buck and Wright; Spruces—King, Kuenzel, Welton and Kavanagh.

SOUTH SIGNS UP RODGERS

FORMER PORTLAND CAPTAIN WILL MANAGE TEAM.

Big Leaguers in View, and Designs on Winter League Pennant Are Entertained.

Bill Rodgers, manager of the Sacramento club, formerly captain of the Portland Beavers, has signed up to manage a baseball club in the Sacramento Winter League. Rodgers will act as captain and expects to add a bunch of "raw-meaters" to his team.

The Wallis Tractor nine will have a few celebrities on its lineup. Charlie Pick, of the Chicago Cubs, is going to play third base for the team. Rodgers will hold down the second sack. Cliff Darringer, a promising player, will cavort at short. Rodgers has lines out for several big-leaguers now working in San Francisco and expects to cop the pennant.

Eastern baseball writers continue to make known their attitude towards the players who deserted baseball for the shipyard and army. One method of doing this is by preference to joining the Army. Almost every writer in the country is taking a fling at the boys, and it is doubtful if any manager will take a chance at signing a player with a tinge of "slackerism" trailing their footsteps. Professional ball players with no dependents who sought the shipyard as a means of safety during the war are doomed.

ROD MURPHY, FORMERLY CAPTAINED AT THIRD BASE, FOR THE ABERDEEN, SPOKANE AND OAKLAND CLUBS, IS MINGLING WITH HIS FORMER ACQUAINTANCES IN PORTLAND.

Rod Murphy, who formerly captained at third base for the Aberdeen, Spokane and Oakland clubs, is mingling with his former acquaintances in Portland. Murphy is here with the United States Marines' football team. He managed the Marines' baseball nine last season and as soon as he receives his discharge from the "devil dogs" will make ready for the coming baseball season. Rod is anxious to manage the Portland team.

HOCKEY TEAM IS UNLIKELY

PORTLAND HAS LITTLE CHANCE OF GETTING INTO LEAGUE.

Meeting Will Be Held Soon in Vancouver to Arrange Schedule.

Prospects of Portland entering the Pacific Coast Hockey Association during the coming season are very slim, according to word that is being passed in the various hockey circles. Edgar Bryan, who has been the man behind in hockey during the last two years, will not again take up the burden. He staged on good authority.

Hockey has never been a losing proposition in Portland, but what money was made on the game was used to carry on the ice skating which was a losing venture the last couple of seasons.

It costs about $200 a week to run the Ice Palace. This figure includes only actual expenses and does not in any way figure into the hockey end of the business. Salaries of players, together with traveling expenses, is a fairly large item, but Portland has always been a big attraction on the road and even at home has played a good sized crowd.

Rumors have it that Manager Bryan is ready to turn the big arena over to any set of business men or even let the arena be used for other purposes. He is ready to take on a Western representative team in a post-season game, playing for war charity, he said.

BASKETBALL CARD ARRANGED

Multnomah Club Louse League Starts Play Sunday.

The Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club house basketball league has selected its teams and arranged its schedule for the coming season. The quintets are very evenly matched and some exciting and close games are predicted. The first game will be played next Sunday. The teams and captains follow: Team No. 1—Billy Lewis (captain), C. A. Sharpe, E. E. J. Kline, Gurth Cole, R. Kel-

BOXING SMOKER BE GIVEN AT HELIG

Theater Engaged by Secretary of Boxing Commission.

2359 MAY WITNESS SHOW

Ringside Seats to Be Built on Stage for Accommodation of Portland Fans.

The Helig Theater will be the scene of the first boxing smoker to be staged under the auspices of the Portland boxing commission, Thursday night, December 12. Walter B. Honeyman, secretary of the commission, completed arrangements yesterday with the theater manager for possession of the spacious showhouse which will seat 2359 people when the stage is so arranged as to hold 400 ringside seats.

The last boxing show held in the Helig Theater was during the Elko convention in 1912. Switching of boxing bouts from the Ice Palace, which is entirely without heat and might cool during the winter months, to the Helig Theater, which is one of the biggest and most beautiful playhouses on the Pacific Coast will undoubtedly make a big hit with the followers of the central location of the Helig should add materially to the attendance.

The 400 stage seats, together with loge seats, will sell at $2. The first 11 rows on the lower floor will sell at $2. The balance of the lower floor and first 5 rows in balcony will sell at $1.50. The rest of the balcony will be $1. Seats in the first two rows in the gallery will be 75 cents and the remainder of the gallery will sell at 50 cents. The stage seats will be built up the same as bleacher seats in the Multnomah Club gymnasium. Stage seats will be so arranged as not to interfere with spectators sitting in the loge boxes.

Tommy Tracey, official matchmaker, is going ahead with his plans of putting on the best fight card obtainable under present conditions. Tommy figures that with Frank Farmer pitted against Jimmy Darcy and with King and Gorman in a match, local fight followers are in for two stellar main events. Tracey plans on arranging the nicely with his two main bouts.

When it comes to "messagening," nobody in the world has it so hot as Evans, former Portland fight promoter, who is giving the Army a rare treat under the cognomen of Corporal Artias and is at present stationed at Camp Mills. Bobby Darcy, who has taken up the gangplank and journey overseas for a confab with Kaiser Bill, but when the big "bloke" of the Hohenzollerns comes to the front, he is ready to start for the Rhine he called off the big battle, which left these two prominent gentlemen on this side of the pond.

Wagner planned on promoting a couple of boxing smokers in Germany and wanted Evans as his matchmaker. Of course each would be kept busy watching the other the night of the bout, but now that the ashay is off, Evans is making ready to return to the scene of the action.

Evans has six hours of sleep every day in the rest of the time. He is busy writing letters to various sport writers about the country with the result that each day Evans manages to break through his mail. Bobby Darcy outguess his fellow promoters.

DEATH REPORT CONFIRMED

RALPH J. HURLBURT KILLED IN ACTION SEPTEMBER 29.

Message Received by Widow From Adjutant-General in Washington.

The announcement of the death of Lieutenant Ralph J. "Spec" Hurlburt was officially confirmed yesterday, when a telegram was received from the Adjutant-General in Washington by Mrs. Katherine W. Hurlburt, wife of the former well-known Portland attorney and football player, who is residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Whitmer, Lucretia Court Apartments.

The telegram reads as follows: "Deeply regret to inform you that Lieutenant Ralph J. Hurlburt, Infantry, is officially reported as killed in action, September 29."

Letters received from friends of Hurlburt, who were with the 91st Division, said the former popular Multnomah Club athlete had been killed in action. Other relatives stated Hurlburt had been seriously wounded and was in a hospital in France. Father O'Hara, well-known Portland priest, now in France, with American troops, informed a friend of Hurlburt's that "Spec" had been killed on the field of battle and buried in the Argonne forest.

Mrs. Hurlburt, wife of Lieutenant Hurlburt, has been prostrated ever since first word of the intercollegiate was received and refused to believe that he had been killed in action until receipt of yesterday's telegram from the Adjutant-General.

Hurlburt was commissioned a First Lieutenant at the first officers' training school at the Presidio and sent to Camp Lewis. On account his robust physique and previous athletic experience, he was sent to Fort Sill, Okla., for a special course in bayonet fighting, and upon completion was ordered back to Camp Lewis, where he remained until the 91st Division was ordered overseas.

Hurlburt was 25 years of age and was born at Portland, October 21, 1893. He was a graduate of Portland Academy and later graduated from the University of Michigan, where he was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society. He was a member of the Multnomah Club, and was a member of the intercollegiate League for a number of years and officiated in a number of intercollegiate contests. He was a son of Sheriff Hurlburt.

PORTLAND HUNT CLUB ADMITS WOMEN MEMBERS TO ANNUAL EVENT.

The annual Thanksgiving Day open paper chase, held by the members of the Portland Hunt Club, always one of the most popular of the city's sports, will place tomorrow morning, as originally planned, and not as announced on October 30. Riders are requested to leave their automobiles at home and arrive at 9:30 o'clock.

Mrs. W. H. Warrens and James Nicol are the hares and have planned the chase of the year near the club grounds at Garden Home at about 11 o'clock. The paper will be laid in such ingenious ways that the familiar by-paths will become a hopeless maze of blind alleys and mazes.

This event always calls out a large number of spectators eager to see the start, when the horses seem to enter into the spirit of the game.

In previous years the entry list had been made up of men riders, but this year, owing to the depletion in their ranks caused by war service, women will not lessen the strenuousness of the ride. The women have proven their mettle in paper chases. The name of the winner of this event will be inscribed on the club's trophy.

President Natt McDougall has invited all Army officers to take part in the ride.

JAMES F. MCCARTY DIES

Well-Known Portland Athlete Is Influenza Victim.

James Forbes McCarty, one of Portland's well-known baseball and fight fans, died yesterday at the Sellwood Hospital from influenza. McCarty was sales manager of the Far West Manufacturing Company, Albany, and was a dyed-in-the-wool baseball fan.

He was a prominent member of the Portland Bowling Club. He leaves a widow and child. McCarty was 33 years of age.

MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 26.—Paul Logan Dornbier, two seasons captain of the University of Montana football team and prior to that time a member of the famous Commerce on Multnomah football team of Chicago, which toured the United States several seasons ago, died of wounds received in a battle with the Germans on October 8, according to word reaching relatives here today.

SMITH SELECTS ELEVEN

CALIFORNIA COACH GIVES OUT NAMES FOR "BIG BOOK."

Walter Camp Is Compiling Data on This Season's All-Star Gridiron Teams.

Walter Camp, football authority, has asked Andy Smith, coach at the University of California, for his selection of all-star gridiron material for the "big book." Smith picked a team, but naturally his choices will draw much criticism. Four of the eleven positions go to California. A like number of Andy's selections are from the Marines and three hail from the Mathers or Field (aviation) eleven at Sacramento.

Smith's selection would be hard to beat, but nevertheless it is difficult for Andy, who has not ventured outside of Berkeley this season, to pick an all-Pacific Coast aggregation. There are a very large number of players among the service teams of the Northwest who might cause Smith to change his mind if he were to watch them in action. Furthermore, with the gridiron season only half way through, due to influenza, it is not exactly fair to select a team of all-Pacific Coast stars until the end of the season.

Smith puts Jake Risley, Marine center, in one of the guard positions in order to put his own player, Barnes, of California, at snapping the ball. Risley never played guard in his football career, but any football expert who has watched him in action knows there is as much difference between the two men as day and night. Risley has few equals, if any, on the Pacific Coast at passing the pigskin oval.

Smith's selections follow: Ends, Zimmerman, Marines; Chambers, Mathers Field, tackle; Mathers, California; Hamilton, Mathers Field; guards, Gordon, California; Risley, Marines; center, Barnes, California; quarterbacks, De Hart, Mathers Field; backs, Spott, California; Bangs, Marines; fullback, Steers, Marines.

WOMAN DRAGGED BY AUTO

Machine, Which Injured Mrs. Lilly Hadley, Does Not Stop.

Lilly Hadley, aged 35, of 270 East Sixth street, was knocked down and dragged 70 feet last night when she was struck by an automobile at Sixth and Market streets. The injured woman suffered a badly broken left leg below the knee, and other bruises. She was sent to the St. Vincent Hospital.

The driver of the machine continued East on Market street and did not stop, according to eye-witnesses. The police say they have the number of the machine. The injured woman was picked up by Roy Byers, of 1122 East Yamhill street, who saw the woman lying in the street. Roy E. Killison, of 207 Market street, heard cries and rushed to the rescue.

The two small daughters of Mrs. Hadley, who were with her, went when she was carried to the ambulance.

FRANKLIN POSTPONES GAME

Clash With Jefferson Delayed for Walla Walla Contest.

The Jefferson-Franklin game, scheduled for this afternoon on Multnomah Field, has been postponed until Monday, December 2, so that the Jefferson team can go to Walla Walla, where they will play Walla Walla High School tomorrow. Coach White and 17 players will leave for the Washington town tonight.

Jefferson changed another game yesterday and will play James John on

WASHINGTON WANTS GAME

Challenge Issued to California Hinges on Saturday's Score.

SEATTLE, Nov. 26.—(Special.)—California and Washington may yet clash on the football field this year, provided the Washington team succeeds in downing the strong Oregon aggregation when they meet here Saturday on University Field. A challenge was sent last night to the California team by Manager Jim Arthonson, providing for a game in Berkeley on December 7, to decide the intercollegiate championship of the Coast. In case Washington wins, although California has not yet replied, it is thought that the matter hinges entirely on the result of Saturday's game.

Meanwhile Coach Tony Savage is putting his team through the stiffest practice they have yet had. Behrens, the California freshman, who is being trained by the place of Red Owen, center, who was injured in the Aggie game and is probably out for at least a week, is progressing slowly and Savage is by no means satisfied with his work. Loss of Owen is still keenly felt.

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC WANES.

EUGENE, Or., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Denying rumors of a recurrence of the influenza epidemic in Eugene and Lane County, Dr. S. M. Kerron, County Health Officer, today said that while there are still a few cases of the disease in the county, they are mild and are steadily decreasing in number.

SHIPBUILDERS AND 29th TRUCK SQUADRON MEET TOMORROW.

The Standifer shipyard eleven will take on the 29th truck squadron football team tomorrow afternoon on the Standifer baseball grounds at Vancouver, starting at 2 o'clock. Fort Stevens was angling for the game, but the motor transport corps gridders beat the down-river aggregation to it.

The Army team has a rather formidable aggregation, and while the Standifer men are confident of their own ability to win a majority of their contests, have always put up a rip-roaring battle, and are anxious to test their metal against the shipyard eleven. Lieutenant Dean is preparing the khaki-clad warriors for tomorrow's battle, and promises the shipbuilders a merry time.

Standifer has been resting up since their last game, and will go into tomorrow's struggle with their regular quarters. The injured warrior of the Standifer team expects a hard contest, and a good-sized crowd will probably take in the turkey day battle at Vancouver.
