

LOUGHEAD FALLS AND FLIGHT IS ABANDONED

Pilot Myerhoffer and Mechanician Injured.

MACHINE BADLY DAMAGED

Journey to Washington, From Santa Barbara, Cal., Ends at Gila Bend, Ariz., When Engine "Dies."

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 26.—The flight of the Loughead biplane to Washington, D. C., was abandoned today following a fall at Gila Bend, Ariz., in which Pilot G. S. T. Myerhoffer was slightly hurt and his mechanic, Leo P. Flint, was severely injured. The machine was badly damaged.

The flight began at Santa Barbara, Cal., last Saturday. The aviators planned to reach Washington with but two stops. They were compelled to land yesterday at Gila Bend because of engine trouble. A crowd assembled today to witness resumption of the flight.

Pilot Myerhoffer and Mechanician Flint were strapped in the front of the machine, and Assistant Pilot A. R. Berneau was in the tail.

The machine started and ran for about 1000 yards over the desert at a high rate of speed, when the left engine "died," permitting the left side of the machine to drop down. The nose of the machine struck into the ground and buried, the plane standing straight upright with its tail in the air. The propeller and the entire front of the machine were wrecked.

Myerhoffer and Flint, strapped in, were unable to escape the burning gasoline that spread over them. Before spectators could render aid, Flint was badly burned about the head. He also suffered contusions of the head, but will recover.

Liberty to Get Hart's Latest.
William S. Hart is going "Over There"—at least in the Arctcraft picture, "The Border Wireless," which will be seen at the Liberty Theater beginning Sunday. Becoming a bandit by a desire for revenge against a railroad that has taken his father's ranch, Mr. Hart, as Steve Ransom, finally reforms and succeeds in defeating the plans of the German spies on the border to send a wireless message to Berlin telling when General Pershing will sail for France. There is said to be more punch and thrills in this picture than in any previous Hart picture. Attractive Miss Wanda Hawley will play opposite Mr. Hart.

Columbia Has "Pals First."
A picturization of the novel, "Pals First," with Harold Lockwood playing the lead, will come to the Columbia Theater today. It is a filmation of the story, which is full of unexpected happenings, being well produced and well acted.

As the hero Harold Lockwood gives a brilliant performance. He portrays a resourceful crook who can successfully pass himself off as a gentleman and fills that station in life with a debonaire grace and courage.

Suspense is woven into every scene of the production so cleverly that the real ending of the story cannot be discovered until it is due. An excellent cast supports Mr. Lockwood.

"A Woman of Impulse" at Peoples.
Much of the story of our own career is reproduced in "A Woman of Impulse," the splendid Paramount photoplay starring Lina Cavallieri, the famous singer and beauty, which comes to the Peoples Theater today. This picture is said to provide the celebrated diva with a role far more dramatic and interesting than those she essayed in her recent picture successes, "The Eternal Temptress," and "Love's Conquest."

which scored successes wherever they were shown.
In "A Woman of Impulse," Madame Cavallieri appears as Leona, the daughter of a poor lace maker, whose marvelous voice attracts the attention of a wealthy American, who gives her a home in his family and defrays the expenses of her musical education. She soon becomes famous and later weds Count Newal, a Spaniard who is jealous of her.

MARY PICKFORD SETS RECORD
Pretty Screen Star Pays $40,000 for "Daddy Long Legs" Rights.

Before leaving Los Angeles for New York recently, Mrs. Charlotte Pickford, Mary Pickford's mother, announced that her daughter had broken the world's record for high prices paid for motion picture scenarios, in a deal for which she secured the motion picture rights to "Daddy Long Legs," the famous stage play, and "Pollyanna," the glad girl story.

The amount paid by the little star was $80,000. Each of the famous stories brought $40,000. The deal was closed in New York, according to Mrs. Pickford, by Dennis O'Brien, attorney for the Pickfords.

Upon Miss Pickford's return to Los Angeles, she will probably begin the work of producing "Daddy Long Legs." When Mrs. Pickford arrives in New York, she will at once confer with her daughter and they will decide whether the latter is to sign a contract or produce her own picture plays.

LOCKWOOD FILMS IN DEMAND
Metro Officials Deplore Death of Promising Screen Star.

An interesting psychological condition was produced with the death of Harold Lockwood, the Metro star. Mr. Lockwood was probably the first star of international prominence to die while he was at the height of his popularity and while his films were showing in all of the theaters. The Metro officials were a bit dubious at first, it is said, as to how the productions made by Mr. Lockwood would be received by the public.

"Pals First" had had a premiere in New York, but had not been released in the country at the time of Mr. Lockwood's death. The theaters which have since booked this picture have proved to R. A. Rowland and other Metro officials that the death of the star has only increased the sale of his pictures.

It is a curious psychological condition that persons will be strangely drawn to all of the Lockwood pictures now that the popular star, while apparently alive and well on the shadow screen, is in reality no longer alive.

Screen Gossip.
Elsie Janis, the idol of the "boys" for whom she is dancing in the Liberty theaters overseas, had a gun named for her some time previous to the signing of the armistice.
