

COMMITTEE REFUSES ROSE SHOW REVIVAL

Petition of Royal Rosarians for Tax Levy Denied.

SOLDIER WELCOME IS AIM

All Future Attempts to Resume Annual Festival Disapproved—Social Relief Work Urged.

Tentative plans for reviving Portland's annual Rose Festival were nipped in the bud yesterday when the citizens' advisory budget committee, by unanimous vote, denied the petition of the Royal Rosarians for a special tax levy to meet the expenses of the rose show. The committee not only voiced its disapproval of a resumption of this annual summer festival, but it took steps toward preventing efforts to revive the festival at some future date.

A few minutes after the committee had decided against the Rose Festival appropriation it eliminated from the insurance budget a $10,000 item for the insurance of Rose Festival paraphernalia. Members of the committee said the Rose Festival property either should be destroyed or sold, if possible, for junk.

Soldier Welcome Preferred.

L. J. Goldsmith led the assault against the festival, and he found strong support from other members of the committee. Dr. E. A. MacKenzie said he would rather see money appropriated for celebrating the return of Oregon soldiers from overseas.

That Multnomah County has been too miserly in its contributions was the belief voiced by the budget committee after an investigation of the budget request of Henry Griffin, of the board of relief.

Social Worker Urged.

Both Dr. MacKenzie and J. D. Farrell insisted that the county should employ an experienced and competent social service worker to make a thorough investigation of all charitable cases. The board of relief budget was increased $1000 from the amount allowed by the County Commissioners. The budget, as passed by the committee, is $22,550.

This amount, members of the committee said, appears far too small, considering the population of Multnomah County. Mr. Farrell said he believed there are many cases in which the county should be preferring assistance which have not been brought to light. Many worthy people, he said, will not seek charity, even though they may be in dire need of it. A trained social service worker, he said, could seek out the cases and do a real service.

Relief Expansion Favored.

At the present time Mr. Griffin is the sole worker in the board of relief, and, in most instances, relies on the reports of private charitable organizations in giving assistance from county funds. The budget committee approved the work Mr. Griffin has been doing alone, but it was contended that the relief work is of sufficient importance to command a more thorough organization.

Other budgets approved yesterday were: Postage, $5000; real estate sewer assessments, $1000; W. R. & N. bridge, $48,875; livestock indemnity, $2500; Interstate bridge interest and bonds $108,750; special road bond interest $62,500; insurance, $3400.

Another meeting of the budget committee will be held at 10 o'clock this morning.

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL URGED

MEDICAL SOCIETY PLEDGES AID TO CITY HEALTH BOARD.

Drastic Quarantine Regulations and Ban on Movie Theaters Is Favored.

A memorial hospital, as a tribute to Oregon's soldier sons, is proposed in a resolution adopted by the Portland City and County Medical Society last night. Dr. C. L. Booth, who introduced the resolution, advanced the argument that no more fitting tribute could be paid to the service of the men than by giving it expression in a way that would give service to humanity.

This was amplified when Dr. Ernest F. Tucker amended it to include free treatment for Oregon veterans of the war.

Another important action of general interest was the adoption of a resolution pledging to the City Board of Health the assistance of the society in stamping out Spanish influenza. The society went on record as strongly favoring drastic quarantine regulations, putting the ban on movie theaters and unnecessary business, and a protest against the reported intention of the city authorities to close the Auditorium emergency hospital.

An appeal was made by physicians in regular practice for specialists to engage for the time being in regular practice to help out in the great emergency.

DETENTION HOUSE PLANNED

Cottage for 60 Persons to Be Built by City Near Troutdale.

A two-story frame cottage to cost $2500 and to house 60 persons soon is to be provided for the city's detention home near Troutdale. Passage of the ordinance authorizing the expenditure is being held pending submission of plans by the City Building Inspector. Passage of the ordinance was recommended to the City Commissioners in a report made by a special committee consisting of Commissioners Barber and Eggleston and Rabbi Wisniewski.

At the Theaters.

Strand.

THE timely and stirring picture drama, "The Talk of the Town," with an interesting, diversified program of vaudeville acts on the new bill at the Strand, which went on the boards yesterday. The picture is of particular appeal to followers of the Universal film star, Dorothy Phillips, who is featured at her actorial best in the play.

The story tells of the regeneration brought about by maternal love. It is a sharp and forceful study in contrast, in the pursuits and pleasures of the woman before her own children weaken her to a realization of her own self. In one scene, a cafe interior, the dancing of Una Fleming is of such a vital quality it suggests the real rather than the reel.

Hanson's jubilee singers in a series of "close harmony" selections, varying from grave to gay, featuring instrumental diversions and dance novelties, is the big act.

Mrs. Alma, an attractive woman exponent of physical development, assisted by her company of athletes, presents sensational acrobatic and lifting features. Dixie Brown and Dorothy Dodd (which sounds like the name of a well-known footwear for women) are two lovely lasses of attractive personalities and of excellent stage presence. Their offering, which consists of songs, has unusual merit in grace and artistry.

The fourth act is a piano, vocal and violin number, presented in delightful style by a clever pair, Edmond and Adair.

The Animated Weekly adds interest in a timely, topical way.

PHONE RISE HELD UNJUST

SENATOR McNARY TO OPPOSE INCREASE AT CAPITAL.

Effort Will Be Made to Induce Shipping Board to Rescind Order Canceling Ships in Oregon.

In passing through Portland on his way back to Washington, United States Senator C. L. McNary held a conference yesterday with Mayor Baker and City Attorney LaRoche relative to the increased telephone rates. Mr. McNary promised to see Postmaster-General Burleson about it when he arrives in Washington. Mr. McNary also said that he will appear before the Shipping Board and request that the board rescind the order which was issued canceling contracts for wood ships.

"Portland is vitally concerned in the shipbuilding industry," said Mr. McNary, "and cancellation of contracts on the part of the Government will be a serious blow to the entire community. It is my intention of recommending to the Shipping Board that the ships originally contracted for be built. When the vessels are floated they can be used in the merchant marine. It is apparent to me, however, that as the Government gradually ceases its shipping activities the shipbuilding industry will have plenty to do in constructing vessels for private account and for foreign account."

Discussing the work confronting Congress, Mr. McNary outlined its general scope by saying that the high points will be the ratification of the peace terms, placing the country on a sound financial basis, legislation for the reclamation of public lands and Government ownership of railroads, the telephone lines, water power development and the rehabilitation of wounded soldiers will likewise have a prominent part in the session.

It was the intention of Mr. McNary to remain in Oregon longer, but the shipping situation decided him to return to Washington as soon as possible.
