The host of tired campaigners, who gave unstintingly of their own time and affairs, retire from the field. To them is the credit for all that Oregon may do. To those who did not answer is the reproach that it was not more.

No change of moment was announced yesterday in Red Cross returns, for city captains and country districts made no reports. Aside from the 2000 city in-crease, gathered by the Multnomah Guard, the figures stand as they did on Saturday night-for Portland, 80,163 members; for outer-state districts, 93,-793; a state total of approximately

Under the supervision of Colonel L. P. Campbell, commander, and Captain R. C. Doibin, adjutant, the Multnemah Guard regiment thoroughly covered the city by districts yesterday, the members soliciting in uniform. They worked unremittingly, and in many instances found it necessary to make a dozen calls or more ere they came to a home where the Red Cross emblem was not displayed.

He was giving a reminder of the organization's place in the world and calling upon his congregation to give it their utmost sympathy and help.

"Do not think that the war is over," said Dr. Pence, "to the extent that you shall feel there is nothing more for the Red Cross to do. SWINDLER' IS CAUGHT

William Keough, Accused of Many Forgeries in Portland.

TRAVELER'S CHECK USED

Man, Arrested in Altoona, Pa., Said to Have-Posed Here as Canadian Miner in Successful Operations.

William Keough, allas "Christmas Keough," charged with swindling the United States National Bank of Portland out of $1800 in October, 1911, and reputed to be a dangerous forger, was arrested Saturday night in Altoons, Pa., by operatives of the Pinkerton National detective agency, according to a telegram received yesterday at the local Pinkerton office.

Keough, who is known as the "holi-day swindler," is said to have passed forged checks aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars in the past 10 years. An idea of the extent of his operations may be gathered from the fact that the Canadian Bank of Com-merce ceased issuing fravelers checks in the denomination of $200 because Keough was alleged to have adopted that particular check as his pet for-

While both the strikers and the City Commissioners agree that it is imperative that the tieup of the city not reach a point that Federal or military intervention become necessary, the union officials are proceeding to arrange a general walkout of all municipal employes, shipyard workers and organized employes of private corporations which are furnishing electrical current to Tacoma.

Following a conference with military authorities at Camp Lewis, Commissioner Davisson announced that if the strike reaches a point where the current is cut off from the military reservation, soldiers will be sent to the generating plant at La Grande to take charge there and supply current to the military needs.
