Oregon's Total in Drive Expected to Grow.

PORTLAND'S SHARE 90,000

Belated Returns May Increase Figures-Applications May Yet Be Received.

On Christmas eve in Oregon there were precisely 222,703 persons entitled to wear the badra of annual memberto wear the badge of annual membership to the Red Cross, an honor gained by participation in the enlistment rollcall which closed the first of this week. Of the total number, 90,000 memberships are credited to Portland.

"The membership total will be fur-"The membership total "there increased by belated returns," said State Chairman Wilber E. Coman. "Various chapters of the outer-state "Various chapters of the outer-state districts have yet to report, while sev-eral large industrial reports are yet awaited by the city campaign committee.'

Industrial Holl 17,600.

The city's industrial enrollment yes-terday noon had attained a total of 17,500 memberships, according to the accounts of Mrs. Katherine MacMaster Mason, industrial chairman. Mrs. Ma-son is confident that the final total from local industrial plants will reach 21,000

State headquarters has observed that communities which were somewhat laggard in last year's campaign made the best showings in the drive just closed.

Miss Getta Wasserman, state executive secretary, announced yesterday that 15 chapters had passed the total that 15 chapters had passed the total number of memberships secured last year, the list being as follows: As-toria, Baker, Douglas, Hood River, Josephine, La Grande, Lane, Filot Rock, Clackamaš, Columbia, East Washington, The Dalles, Umatilla, Tillamook, and Willamette.

Salem's Gain Best.

The Willamette chapter, Salem, bears the paim for record overenrollment as compared with last year's memberships. The recent drive has enrolled ships. The recent drive has enrolled 5000 members in that chapter, while but 5617 were enrolled last year. Citizens who have not yot attained memberships in the 1918 Christmas rollcall may do so by calling at 507 Gaseo building, Red Cross headquarters, where applications for memberships where applications for memberships will continue to be accepted. In making his final report to headquarters, Dr. H. C. Fixott, chairman for Multhomah County outside of Port-land, presents the following records of the various districts under his super vision:

District No. 1, captained by Mr. R. E. Clanton at Bonneville, assisted by Mr. Perry Kitamiller, Mrs. J. J. Lynott and Mr. W. E. Metsger as lieutenants, enrolled 408 members this year, returns incomplete, against a total of 193 in a slightly larger territory last year, over 200 per cent.

District No. 2 Has Good Record. District No. 2, captained by Mrs. Lou Harlow, Troutdale, Precinct No. 310, made a most excellent record, enrolling 128 mem-Folkenberg captain, had 115 members this year as com-pared with 67 last year, or nearly 200 per pared with 67 last year, or nearly 200 per cent. District No. 9, Mrs. Hood captain, which was overlooked last year, enrolled 31 mem-bers, being every adult living on Govern-ment Island, a 100 per cent district. The grand totals show a total enrollment this year of 2615 and last year 1948, an increase in Multhomath County outside of Portland of 40 per cent, this despite the fact that the industrial center of North Portland and the Riverdale district the two most prolific districts in the county, were this year taken away from the county ter-ritory and added to the city. Throwing of Colored Paper on New Year's Eve May Be Curbed.

The question of whether the throw-ing of confetti will be permitted in Portland on New Year's eve will come before the City Council for decision tomorrow.

Persons interested in the sale of confetti seek permission for the use of the colored paper in connection with the New Year's celebration, with stringent restrictions, barring the use of powder and ticklers and permitting the sale of only solid colors of con-fetti. Special permission will also be sought from the council Thursday for licenses to sell horns and other noise-
