National Conneil Demands That Allies Allow Representation at Peace Conference.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25 .- (Special.)-The recognition of the Jugo-Slav state, which was seriously contemplated by some of the allied governments, "has some of the allied governments, has until now been delayed by Italy's vio-lent opposition," declares a statement obtained from the headquarters here of the Jugo-Slav national council to-day, "But through the union of the Jugo-Slavs of former Austria-Hungary with Serbia, the latter must be ex-with Serbia, the latter must be excluded also fro mthe peace conference, if recognition is not given there to the Croats, Slovenes and Serbs of former Austria-Hungary," the statement says. The full text follows:

"The dissolution of the Austrian empire and the formation of new independent states in its stead, of which Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo-Slavia have already assumed definite lines, have to a great extent given prominence to the a great extent given prominence to the question, "Who is to represent the for-mer empire at the peace conference? Opportunity to Speak Sought.

"The two formerly dominent races of Austria-Hungary, the Germans and the Magyars, have been abandoned by all their subject races and have shrunk to a negligible minority. It is out of the question to have them representing all the different peoples formerly under their sway. There is no doubt that the Czecho-Siovaks, Jugo-Siavs, Poles and Roumanians must be given

Poles and Roumanians must be given an opportunity to bring their wishes and claims directly and by themselves before the peace conference.

"But there is some rejuctance on the part of the allies. These new states, excepting Czecho-Slovakia, have not been recognized as yet by the allies. The recognized has until now delayed by Italy's violent opposition. But recently such momentous events have taken place in the development of the new Jugo-Slav state that the Jugo-Slav representation at that the Jugo-Slav representation at the peace conference may be considered as assured.

Claims Are Unified. "Territorial questions in Macedonia will be treated in the same spirit of unity and indivisibility as the Adriatic question. There is no preponderance of Serbia in the new state, all the parts of Jugo-Slavia being put on an absolutely equal footing without anyone's demand for an Aegis or whatever kind of domination, and consequently there are no more separate Serbian and sepaare no more separate seroian and separate Jugo-Slav claims.

"The first thing the delegation will ask will be the full political and territorial recognition of the new state. The territorial claims, based upon the principle of justice and National self-determination, include in the new state all these territories where Jugo-Slavs live in compact masses and where they have formed since time immemorial an undisputed territorial continuity. Those territories are: Serbia and Montenegro

WOODEN SHIPS ARE

Captain Eyres, Master and Owner, Gives Reasons.

YARDS URGED TO BUILD

Golden Opportunity Afforded Pacific Coast at Present Time to Build Up Merchant Marine.

ASTORIA, Or. Dec. 25 .- (Special.)-Wooden five-masted fore and aft schooners are by far the best type of vessel to be constructed for lumber arriers, contends Captain William I. Eyres, local inspector of hulls for the Emergency Fleet Corporation. He urges that Coast yards which are practically idle as the result of the cancel-ation of Government contracts be utilzed for the construction of that class of vessels.

Captain Eyres has followed the sea for over 50 years and talks from actual experience gained as a shipmaster and shipowner. In speaking of the golden opportunity afforded the Pacific Coast at the present time to build up a merchant marine and engage in a traffic which is bound to bring excellent returns, Captain Eyres said:
"While it may be conceded that the wooden steamer above 1500 or 2000 tons wooden steamer above 1500 or 2000 tons registered is not as efficient for general cargo carrying as is the steel craft, still for steam vessels of the single deck type to be used as lumber earriers, the wooden type is far superior in every respect to the steel craft. All practical seafaring men are aware of that fact. However, in discussing the merits of wooden vessels I shall confine my comments to the fore I shall confine my comments to the fore and aft schooner, particularly the single deck type of large carrying ca-pacity. Of vessel to be constructed for the immense trade that Is soon to be developed?" I will state without fear of contradiction that for this traffic the wooden (fir) fore and aft sailing schooner, with single deck, five masts and a carrying capacity of from 1.500,000to 2.000,000 feet of lumber has not and never can have a gival or competitor, until such time as some motive power is devised that will be cheaper. power is devised that will be cheaper than wind fro propelling ships. There are several reasons for this.

"The wooden fore and aft schooner can be sailed to any part of the world with perfect safety and without carrying a pound of ballast, certainly an economical feeting in the forest safety.

Marie Walcamp i, now the heroine of nomical feature in her favor, and a thing that steel vessels cannot do. The square-rigged vessel is considered obsolete as a lumber carrier, so the only craft which might be termer a rival of the wooden fore and aft schooner is the steel vessel of a similar type."

The wooden vessel can be built for 20 per cent less, is a faster sailer and mora durable. All in all there is no more durable. All in all, there is no question but that the American fore and aft schooner is the one practical craft for a dividend-paying lumber car-

Cattle Buying For Swift & Company

Swift & Company buys more than 9000 head of cattle on an average, every market day.

Each one of them is "sized up" by experts.

Both the packer's buyer and the commission salesman must judge what amount of meat each animal will yield, and how fine it will be the grading of the hide and the quantity and quality of the fat.

Both must know market conditions for live stock and meat throughout the country. The buyer must know where the different qualities, weights, and kinds of cattle can be best marketed as beef. If the buyer pays more than the animal is worth, the packer loses money on it. If he offers less, another packer, or a shipper or feeder, gets it away from him

If the seller accepts too little, the live-stock raiser gets less than he is entitled to. If he holds out for more than it is worth, he fails to make a sale

A variation of a few cents in the price per hundred pounds is a matter of vital importance to the packer, because it means the difference between profit and loss.
