SALEM MAY TRY TO CURB LEGISLATURE

Mayor Believes City Has Ample Authority.

PUZZLING QUESTION AHEAD

Condition of Influenza Epidemic Next Week to Determine Action to He Taken by Authorities.

SALEM, Or., Janu L.-(Special.)-Mayor C. E. Albin, head of the new city administration, just taking office, declared today that consideration is being given to the question of the meeting of the legislature January 13, because of the influenza epidemic and that conditions developing during the next week will govern largely the at-titude of city authorities toward de-manding adjournment of the session.

"I think legally we have the author ity to take what action is necessary to protect the public health in an epi-demic like the present," stated the new Authority Beemed Ample. "While we have discussed the question, what action will be taken, of course, depends largely upon epidemic conditions existing when the session meets. If it is deemed a menace to public health that the session continue, we will probably make a request that an adjournment be taken, and I have no doubt that the request will be heeded. Whether any further action will be taken in an endeavor to compel will be taken in an endeavor to comp the members to give up their session in event such request was refused, a am not prepared to say, although a believe we would have ample author-believe we would have ample authority to act in the premises.

The ban on public gatherings will continue in force here until danger is considered over. Authorities see a good chance for the epidemic to subside to such a degree during the coming week that interference with the Legislative Assembly will be deemed inadvisable. Puzzling Questions Ahead,

Dr. Harry l'emberten, who succeeds Dr. O. B. Miles as City Health Officer, takes the stand that the ban on public gatherings should continue with rigid quarantine regulations until the epi-demic is well controlled.

If city authorities and members of the Legislature were to clash over the report of the city to require appointment of executives by the Assembly, some puzzling questions might be presented, such as the immunity of members from arrest. It is pointed out that, if a clash occurs, the Legislature might enact such legislation as would free the body from outside interference. The general prevailing opidion is that if city authorities request appointment the request will be heeded.
