THIEF OF WATCH ALLEGED—Allen E. Carpenter was arrested Saturday at 235 Salmon street by Inspectors Niles and Graves, and charged with larceny. It is alleged that Carpenter stole a 23-jewel Elgin watch from Beatrice Fuller at 235 Salmon street, which was a present from her sweetheart, now in France. He is also charged with violation of the prohibition law, as whiskey was found in his possession, say the officers.

The Swing of the Pendulum

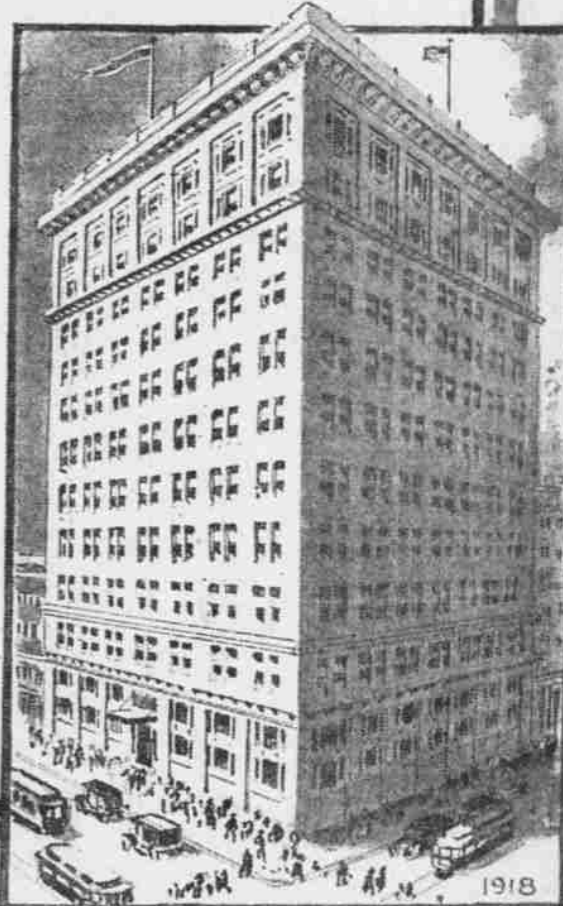

All persons who study the trend of events know that after a period showing certain characteristics there is extremely apt to be a period just the opposite; in other words, the pendulum swings the other way for a while.

We have just passed through a time when thrift has been emphasized as never before in history, and now the danger will be that a reaction will set in, and we will indulge in wild extravagance and luxury.

That must not be, for a return to the simplicities of life, the "plain living and high thinking" of our forefathers is what this country needs to curb the restless, nervous excitement that pervades so many communities.

Setting a goal ahead of you, for which you must save, has a steadying influence on a life. This bank advises your opening a savings account, and depositing a regular sum weekly or monthly.

UNIVERSITY MAN AWARDED CROIX DE GUERRE

Lieutenant Benjamin F. Dorris, University of Oregon, Eugene, Jan. 11.—(Special.)—Lieutenant Benjamin F. Dorris, of Eugene, '15, was awarded the Belgian croix de guerre (war cross) when he was in a base hospital in France recovering from wounds received in action.

Ben Dorris was active in campus affairs, having been president of his class in his senior year, business manager of the Oregonian, the junior annual, and a member of Phi Gamma Delta, Psi Chi, and Torch and Shield.

Control Not Possible

The State Chamber of Commerce is laid out on the broadest lines. Its organization is so broad that no one section of Oregon, not even the metropolis, can control it.

Eastern Oregon is represented by six directors, residing in different sections of that great region, the development of which contributes so heavily to the taxable wealth and commercial prosperity of the state.

Such a representation precludes the possibility of the state organization being used selfishly to promote the interests of the metropolis or of any other one section as against the interests of any other section or of the state as a whole.

COLLEGE HOSPITAL OPEN

Scarcity of Nurses Render It Advisable to Isolate Patients.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Jan. 12.—(Special.)—Shepard Hall at the college has been converted into a hospital and was opened this afternoon, with six influenza victims.

Because of the undesirability of having halls of residence quarantined, and because of the scarcity of nurses, it was considered advisable to isolate the patients. Students contracting influenza will be taken to the hospital as soon as reported.

Dr. J. R. Mathis, of Amity, the new college physician, will report for duty Tuesday. Miss Rosella Powell and Miss Esther Brightman, nurses, will be in attendance.

Registration and Licensing of Profession in Oregon to Be Proposed to Legislature.

Fifty professional engineers from all parts of Oregon and Washington attended the annual banquet of the Northwest Society of Highway Engineers, held Saturday night at the Benson Hotel.

The principal topics of discussion were two bills which the society will have introduced at the Oregon Legislature.

One of these bills has for its purpose the abolition of the County Surveyor and the substitution in his place of a County Engineer.

Another bill requires the registration and licensing of all engineers practicing their profession in Oregon, to insure against mistakes and inefficient engineering work being done in the state.

Seymour Jones, Speaker of the House, and W. B. Dennis, who will attend the coming session of the Legislature, were guests of honor at the banquet and spoke strongly in favor of the bills.

O. Laurgaard, City Engineer of Portland, was toastmaster. Other speakers were Professor H. V. Skelton, of Oregon Agricultural College; Herbert Nunn, Oregon State Highway Engineer; James Philomen, an engineer of Chile, South America, who has just become a citizen of the United States; Robert B. Gould, of Bend, Or.; Dr. E. W. Lazelle; Professor Warren D. Smith, of University of Oregon; Professor C. B. McQuillogh, of Oregon Agricultural College; M. O. Bennett, of the State Highway Department; Captain L. Swartz, and First Lieutenant C. G. Ritter.
