POLICE ARREST CHINESE

VIOLATION OF BARRED-DOOR ORDER CHARGED.

Officers Start Campaign to Put Stop to Gambling; Offenders Released on Bonds.

Barred doors are to be an institution of the past in Chinatown. Following an inspection Saturday night by Chief of Police Johnson, Fire Marshal Grenfell and Captain Zeltner, of the fire department, together with Lieutenant Thatcher, Sergeant Van Overn and William Bryon, of the Department of Justice, the proprietors of the alleged Chinese gambling resorts in Chinatown were ordered to remove all barred doors which blocked entrance to the interior of the building.

Last night in a raid in Chinatown, conducted by officers of the war emergency squad, proprietors of establishments who had not complied with the orders of the Chief of Police were arrested for violating the fire hazard ordinance. That this action by the city authorities will put a stop to gambling behind closed doors in Chinatown, as well as give better fire protection to the city, is a foregone conclusion, say the police.

Although the fire hazard ordinance has been in existence for 11 years, this is the first time it has been enforced in Chinatown. For a long time the Celestial who wished to gamble has been protected by barred and closed doors and other clever devices.

The police have at times conducted strenuous campaigns to put a stop to gambling in Chinatown, but they have been handicapped by the barred doors, in some cases plated with heavy steel and bolts. It was necessary for the officers in the past to break down these barriers with heavy sledges, and in the meantime the gamblers fled to safety through secret doors and exits.

When the news spread throughout Chinatown last night that the police were coming and meant business, excited Celestials attempted to remove the doors before the police arrived. Those arrested by Lieutenant Thatcher, Sergeant Van Overn, Patrolmen Schulpas and Corder are as follows: Louie Chung, 93 Second street; Ah Wong, 244 Second street; Kung Chong, 244 First street; Lee Yuen, 67 1/2 Second street; Ah Lal, 89 Second street; Ah John, 81 Second street; Mah San, 84 Second street; On Lee, 50 Second street; Chin Tip, 85 Second street; Foo Wing, 82 North Fourth street, and Chin Wing, 67 North Fourth street.

They are all charged with maintaining a fire hazard, and were released under $100 bail for their appearance in Municipal Court today.

MANN PROBABLY OUT OF SPEAKERSHIP RACE

Gillett of Illinois and Fess of Ohio Aspirants.

COTTON GROWERS AROUSED

South Now Said to Be Anxious and Willing to Have Prices on Its Great Staple Fixed.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Feb. 2.—The impression is gaining that James R. Mann, of Illinois, is out of the Speakership race. The opposition to him has kept up consistently and has been aided largely by matters over which his friends had no control.

First the newspapers assailed his pre-war record, and then came the revelations in the packers' hearings as to his receiving a stiff horse and a porterhouse steak from Swift & Company. Now comes Representative Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio, himself a strong dark-horse candidate for the place, with a declaration in favor of Mann's leading opponent, Frederick H. Gillett, of Illinois.

Representative Fess, of Ohio is still a strong contender and it may be said that unless Gillett succeeds in tying up the prize through causing of state delegations the finish is likely to be a race between Gillett and Fess. Longworth will only be able to deliver a small part of the Ohio delegation to Gillett so long as Fess is in the race.

Now that the war is over and farm products, with the exception of wheat, on which a price is fixed, are likely to take a slump, the South is anxious and willing to have prices fixed on cotton. The Southern representatives who control Congress were quite free with price-fixing for the Northern and Western farmers' wheat, but they are now manifesting deep regret that they protected cotton from a price limit. An expression of their misgivings is vented in a bill introduced in the House by Representative Heflin, of Alabama, asking Congress to fix the price of cotton at 20 cents a pound, which is within three or four cents of the highest figure commanded for that staple during the war.

It is not even suspected that Northern and Western members of Congress, especially those representing large wheat districts, will exert themselves to take care of an industry in peace times which demanded and placed the sky as the limit during the war period.

A bill to work out the problem of better enforcement of police regulations on Indian reservations has been introduced by Representative French of Idaho at the request of the office of Indian affairs. The provisions contained in the bill were inserted in one of the appropriation bills but went out on a point of order. It is proposed by this measure to give the Federal Government concurrent power with the states in enforcing the law, the purpose being better preservation of the morals of the Indian wards of the Government. The present system, which has become an almost impossible task on the state authorities, is said to result in great laxity in law enforcement and also in the conduct of the Indians. The gambling laws are violated with impunity and the marriage code is ignored to the extent that the divorce law is almost no barrier to remarriage. In some cases Indians are reported to have separated and remarried as many as four or five times without the formality of a divorce.

The storm which has been whistling around the War Department ever since Senator Chamberlain made his celebrated speech in the Senate a year ago denouncing the treatment accorded soldiers in the Army camps is now blowing from a different direction. A few days ago the fact came out that the soldiers wounded and maimed in action at Walter Reed Hospital, this city, have been compelled to do their own laundry work.

This development has aroused criticism of the War Department from sources which have hitherto been silent. Senator Chamberlain has appeared to regard silence as best policy. The matter will undoubtedly be the subject of some sharp action by the Senate in a short time. There are 25 or 30 wounded and sick soldiers from Oregon, Idaho and Washington at this hospital.

M'ARTHUR OPPOSED TO MANN

Support of Oregon Representative Claimed for Gillette.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Feb. 2.—Although Representative C. N. McArthur of Oregon refused to make any definite statements as to whom he will support for Speaker of the House, his support was claimed today by the friends of Representative Frederick H. Gillette, of Massachusetts. Mr. McArthur has for some time been classified with those opposed to James R. Mann because he has been outspoken in his criticism of Mann's war record and especially of Mann's utterances on the sinking of the Lusitania. It is further known that Representative McArthur has attended frequent conferences with Representative Gillette, Longworth and others opposing the Mann candidacy.

When told today of reports that he was supporting Gillette Mr. McArthur said: "My colleagues, Hawley and Sinnott, have agreed with me that none of us shall make any announcement on the Speakership matter until we hold a conference and decide upon a course of action. This does not mean that we intend to bind any member by the unit rule, but that we desire to discuss the situation in order that we may arrive at some common understanding. We shall endeavor to hold our conference within the next few days. But until then I have no public statement to make on the Speakership contest."

Nagant on Patents Committee.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Feb. 2.—Senator John F. Nugent, of Idaho, has been appointed a member of the Senate committee on Patents to succeed the late Ollie James, of Kentucky.

This committee probably will deal with some very important legislation in the next Congress relative to the right of the manufacturer to fix the price on patented articles at the factory.

Labor Board Takes Hand.

clined upon at the conclusion of a conference of employed miners with Secretary Wilson.
