TAXPAYERS ARE CAUTIONED
DEPUTIES ASSIST IN FILING INCOME REPORTS.
Collector of Internal Revenue to Station Employes at Central Points in Oregon.

In a statement issued by Milton A. Miller, Collector of Internal Revenue, taxpayers are cautioned against strangers who represent themselves as "income tax experts." A free advisory service by the Government is to be maintained in every important town and city, it is pointed out.
"Whenever the time comes for the filing of returns and payment of taxes, central points will be in charge of trained collectors, deputies and inspectors, who will give authentic information on any phase of the new taxes," said Mr. Miller yesterday.
"Bank, trust companies and other responsible institutions have offered to co-operate with the Government in this important service, which offer has been accepted.
"Any firms or individuals who assert that they can influence the Government in making up the amount of the taxes must be looked on with suspicion. Open-minded consideration will be given in each case, whether the individual or his attorney appears.
"Former Government employes are prohibited from acting as counsel for prosecuting claims against the Government within two years after leaving the Government service."

GIRL HELD FOR PERJURY
Trial of Mrs. Onoma Conrad Expected to Reach Jury Today.
When Teresa Horton, maid in the employ of Mrs. Onoma Conrad, told Deputy District Attorney Bernard, after being sworn, that she knew nothing about liquor being served in the roadhouse conducted by her mistress on Foster road, perjury charges were filed against her and she was lodged in the County Jail.
The District Attorney's office has four witnesses who will testify. It is asserted, that the maid was present and helped serve drinks to members of the State Military Police.
Trial of Mrs. Conrad, better known as Essie Watkins, began in the court of District Judge J. W. Bell yesterday afternoon.
The state concluded its case yesterday. Its evidence consisting of the testimony of members of the State Military Police, who, under the guise of surveyors, are said to have gained admittance to the roadhouse. They said they had no difficulty in securing whisky from Mrs. Conrad, first as a gift, later for 50 cents a drink.
The case will go to a jury today.

WASCO WANTS LOOP ROAD
County Judge Adkinson Represents Interests at Portland Session.
THE DALLES, Or., Feb. 6.—(Special.)—Indorsement is being given by ranchmen in Southern Wasco County to the proposed construction of the Mount Hood loop road, which is to be considered at a meeting of County Judges and Commissioners in Portland Saturday. A movement is on foot to secure improvement of the Barlow-Oak Grove road, which would branch off from the proposed loop southeast of Mount Hood, and would give a direct route from Southern Wasco County and Central Oregon to Portland by way of Government Camp.
When County Judge Adkinson goes to Portland Saturday as a representative of Wasco County he will carry with him the indorsement of many interests in this county, including The Dalles Chamber of Commerce.
For the first time in the history of Tammany Hall, women will sit on the executive committee of that great political organization in New York.

MAN MISSING THREE YEARS
LOCATION OF JOHN O. PETTY MARSHFIELD, MYSTERY.
Good Habits and Character Observed by Friends—Search to Be Made for Body.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Feb. 6.—(Special.)—County and city officers will be asked to aid in solving a mystery of three years' standing—the disappearance here of John O. Petty, a single man of about 45 years, who had no relatives in America.
Mr. Petty disappeared from here immediately after the Smith pulp mill was dismantled about three years ago and parts taken to Oregon City and British Columbia. He worked some time at the task and accumulated a considerable sum of money. Foul play therefore is feared. Mr. Petty was engaged to go to Oregon City to work. He was seen the day before he declared he would depart, but since that time no word has been received regarding his location. Inquiries have been made at Oregon City and other places.
Those who ask a search think Mr. Petty either became insane after leaving here or else was murdered and his body concealed in this vicinity. Friends say his habits and character were good. Neighbors and friends believe if it were possible to locate Russel Winslow, a civil engineer and promoter, who lived with Mr. Petty for some time. Mr. Winslow might be able to shed some light on the affair.
Mr. Petty related to his friends the circumstances of his association with Mr. Winslow, who he said came to his home and arranged for board. Although Mr. Winslow remained with him for several months, he never revealed Mr. Petty for his keeping, according to the old man's stories. In the meantime Mr. Winslow sold him property in the Boise Addition. Mr. Petty claimed, to which he could obtain no title, although paying out nearly $400 in the purchase. In his complaints about Mr. Winslow's persisting to remain at his home, although unwelcome, Mr. Petty said he was unable to rid himself of his guest, and "was afraid of him."
In 1918 Russel Winslow promoted a mining scheme in Southern Coos County, which failed. Soon after Mr. Winslow was married here and left. His present location is unknown here.
Friends of Mr. Petty, in defending themselves for not sooner instituting an inquiry, say they hoped to trace him through ordinary channels, and gave up that hope only recently.
A thorough search of the wooded district in the Boise Addition is expected.

John O. Petty, it is said, was a native of Great Britain. He was of light complexion, slightly stooped and wore a mustache.
Textbook Question Up to Voters.

Please, Mother! It's Nasty! Give Me a Candy Cascaret!

TO MOTHERS! Instead of the dreaded dose of castor oil, drops, calomel or pills, give your children Cascarets and save money, worry and trouble. Children love Cascarets because they taste like candy. Nothing else acts so gently but surely on the child's little stomach, liver and bowels.

When one of the kiddies has a white tongue, tainted breath, sour stomach or a cold; when cross, bilious, feverish, constipated, remember, a Cascaret to quickly "work" away the nasty bile, sour fermentations and poison should always be the first treatment given. Cascarets never gripe the tender bowels, never injure, and never disappoint the worried mother. Each 10 cent box of Cascarets contain directions for children's dose from one year old and upwards. Also for adults.
