

WOMEN TO BE ACTIVE IN EFFECTING PEACE

Work Begun in War to Continue, Says Mrs. Moore.

NATION LEAGUE INTERESTS

President of American Council of Women Emphasizes Need of Agreement Among Peoples.

Woman's part in effecting permanent peace was outlined at the evening service of the First Congregational church by Mrs. Philip North Moore of St. Louis, president of the American Council of Women and member of the party representing the League to Enforce Peace which arrived in Portland Monday evening.

Arrived in Denver yesterday 48 hours late, after spending two days behind a snowbank at Russell, Kans., brought with them a tribute to the Russell chapter of the American Red Cross, which for two days brought them food and comforts. The Kansas women did everything possible, the passengers said, for their comfort during the time they were forced to wait for workmen to clear the tracks.

The Union Pacific Kansas City train was the first to arrive in Denver from the east since Wednesday night, when the storm began which tied up rail and wire transportation throughout Kansas and Nebraska. Conditions were rapidly nearing normal today, Kansas and Nebraska railroad lines being cleared and the various wire services restoring traffic conditions rapidly.

PEOPLE'S SUPPORT NEEDED

W. H. SHORT SHOWS NECESSITY FOR UNITY OF OPINION.

Speaker Declares That Room for Doubt Not to Be Left in Minds of Any.

"From the beginning the League to Enforce Peace has stood for a strong league that would organize the economic and military power of the nations in a co-operative scheme that would make the likelihood of another war as small as is humanly possible—insure justice among peoples in all matters where nations touch nations in their relations," said William H. Short, secretary of the league, last night.

"We believe that the people of the United States want that kind of a league and want the United States to join such a league. We do not think it is longer necessary to convert the masses of American citizens to the idea. But a deliberately planned campaign is going on, intended to convince our peace commissioners and the allied nations that the rank and file of Americans do not want a league of nations and that the United States should not join a league that puts the United States into a league."

"Now if that campaign succeeds—if European statesmen are convinced that the United States will not join a league, or if he himself is convinced by it that the country will not back him in demanding that the senate ratify a treaty establishing a strong league—we shall lose the only opportunity that will come to us in our lifetime to make the world safe through a genuine league of nations."

LEAGUE OF NATIONS LOGICAL AFTERMATH

Professor Wilson, of Harvard University, Explains Objects.

FOREIGN PROBLEMS GREAT

Address Delivered at White Temple Deals With Necessity for World-Wide Peace Tribunal.

A league to enforce world peace not only is necessary to the advance of civilization, but it is the most simple and logical aftermath of the war, according to Professor George Gratford Wilson of Harvard university, a member of the Tait party visiting Portland in the interests of such a league, who spoke Monday night at the White Temple. Thus the league of nations launched at the peace conference by President Wilson will become a leading factor for permanent peace was a further declaration of Professor Wilson.

So that his auditors could better grasp the world situation of today, which makes such a league a virtual necessity, Professor Wilson opened his address with a rapid but comprehensive sketch of conditions in Europe at the end of the world war, pointing out the various racial and national problems yet unsolved, which might provide grounds for renewed warfare were preventive steps not taken. Then he led his audience into the future.

"It is necessary that somebody shall say, 'Enough is enough' these petty problems provoke the peoples of Europe to threats of war and reprisal," he said. "The five great nations who banded themselves together to win the war, who took upon themselves the obligation to make treaties respected and to make life possible for mankind, must now fulfill that obligation to a greater extent."

"The war wasn't caused by a scrap of paper. It was the breaking of the agreement that led England to enter the war and that opened the way for the other great nations to go to the aid of the original victims of Germany. And now it is necessary that the people of Europe find some way to make future treaties observed and endeavor to form some arrangement by which things may be kept at peace."

"Somebody must say, 'thou shalt not' when trouble arises. And something more than mere words is required—there must be a force behind the words; there must be armed force, directed solely by the desire to enforce peace, to prevent war. The peace conference in accordance with every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

"The League to Enforce Peace wants to meet this serious emergency. The League to Enforce Peace wants to carry on a campaign of education and agitation in the next few months that will result in an actual expression of desire for a league from every group and institution in the United States. It wants to see to it that such expressions or resolutions reach the peace conference and the newspapers of Europe by cable. It wants to focus a popular demand at Washington which the senate will bear with the distinctness of a demand from constituents."

Van Dyke, "not for the love of war, but because of our love for peace. It was a Christian duty and on this point, I find myself in a quarrel with my friends, the pacifists. They do not, effectively and in real practice, stand for peace, but for war, because the effect of their doctrine brings on war."

"I liken the pacifist who stands for peace at any price to the man who, seeing a woman attacked, stands by and refuses her aid. And what do you women think of that kind of a man? I know what you think."

"Our sympathies from the outset were with the allies, for those of us who were in a position to know what was taking place, knew that Germany would rule and dominate not only Europe, but the whole world and that she was making ready for it by preparations for this war."

"I wrote to Washington in 1914 that the Kaiser and his lords wished to take breakfast in Paris, later their dinner in London and, probably, as soon as they could, in their own way of figuring, their supper in the United States, maybe in our national capital."

"Germany planned, made this war and forced it onto an unwilling world, with even poor little Serbia protesting against it as being taken before the court of arbitration; but the Kaiser wanted war and he was then, as I knew, massing his troops near the borders of France."

"Every allied country despised war; they wanted peace: their motives, fully analyzed, were Christian and they wished arbitration. Russia, in her actions at the outset, sought not war, but to protect Serbia against the blood lust of the aggressor; but she could not stop the Kaiser and the terrible conflict was on. Germany sought by force to rule the world and on that memorable day in August, 1914, she let loose her hordes and began a record of high crime and devastation such as the world had never before known and may God grant it shall never again know."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

"I can never forget—and the world must not—those terrible scenes in poor Belgium and France," he said. "When German armies advanced on the cities and towns of those countries waste and while the smoke was still ascending from the ruins, I witnessed what had happened. Women and children in every community could see what I saw; they would be more readily and quickly welded themselves into a band against war for all time."

Why Swift & Company Handle Poultry, Eggs, Butter and Cheese

Swift & Company went into the produce business because they saw a crying need for the kind of service they were equipped to perform.

The produce business was in chaos. Collecting, transportation, preparation and distribution was hit-or-miss, with delay, deterioration and loss on every hand.

The farmer was at the mercy of an uncertain, localized market. He had no way of reaching through to the people who needed what he was raising for them. There was no premium upon improving his stocks, for grading was lax or lacking.

The consumer had to accept produce that, as a rule, had no known responsible name behind it. He had no way of knowing how long the eggs or the butter he was buying had been lying around in miscellaneous lots in the back room of a country store. Much of the poultry was not properly refrigerated before shipment or properly protected by refrigeration in transit.

Swift & Company's initiative brought system to this chaos. Their organization, equipment, and experience in handling perishable food products were already adjusted to the task. Their refrigerator cars, branch houses, central points, far-reaching connections, trained sales force, supplied just what was demanded.

Now the farmer has a daily cash market in touch with the nation's needs with better prices. Standardization makes better produce more profitable. More consumers are served with better, fresher, finer foodstuffs.

Nothing suffers from this save inefficiency, which has no claim upon public support.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.

Portland Local Branch, 13th and Glisan S. C. Ogsbury, Manager

GREAT ACTIVITY FORECAST

COMMERCIAL REACTION ALSO DUE, SAYS MR. FILENE.

League of Nations Held Necessary to Insure Fairness in Payment of War Debts.

Months of good business in the United States, to be followed by a period of what may approach business depression, to be followed by a period of commercial activity that the nation has never seen, if a league of nations is formed, was predicted last night by Edward A. Filene, director of the United States Chamber of Commerce and a member of the League to Enforce Peace party.

"The outlook for a year and a half to two years of very good business," said Mr. Filene, "to be followed by a period of diminished business, possibly running into bad times. How severe the reaction will be and how long it will continue seems impossible to judge."

"The big factor in determining how good or how bad business will be after Europe has supplied her rush wants will depend on the kind of an agreement coming out of the peace conference."

"From a business standpoint, a league of nations is most desirable, as it guarantees of security will enable us and other nations to avoid what might be an unbearable taxation due to the new rivalry in armaments; but there is also a severe economic problem in front of us, for the enormous cost of the war will first compel European nations to export goods at almost any price obtainable in order to pay their war debts, or at least, the huge interest."

"Our scale of living in this country, and the wages we pay, will not permit us to compete successfully on export trade with goods sold under the war pressure debt of Europe. Hereafter relief is possible if the peace conference recognizes this condition, and should decide to pool all the allied war debts and our own and pay it off from funds equally distributed in all the commerce."

Necessity for a league of nations if the world is to reap the benefits of the great war, was explained last night to the congregation of the Rose City Park community church by Mr. Filene, who said that the world had only now reached the stage where universal peace was practicable.

"Our boys who have fought 'or democracy in Europe will likewise return to us bearing a new ideal, but if it is to be realized we must fight for it. The outlines for the league of nations are on paper, but the agreement must be ratified by the people. Otherwise the great cost of the world war in life and treasure will be lost."

Mr. Filene has been a friend to Portland since the day he first saw the Columbia highway. He assisted the local Chamber of Commerce in obtaining a right-of-way for the highway. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce to outline a plan to advertise the highway.

HORSE TRADER MURDERED

SKULL CRUSHED WITH AX AND MONEY TAKEN.

Body Thrown Over Bank Into Brush. Companion Is Jailed at Kennewick, Wash.

KENNEWICK, Wash., Feb. 17.—(Special)—William Carter, an itinerant horse trader, was found murdered at his camp near the county road, 14 miles west of here, last evening. His skull had been crushed with a hatchet, which was found nearby covered with blood. His body had been thrown over a bank into the brush and a sum of money which he was known to have carried was gone.

Sheriff Rolph and two deputies at once began a search for Carter's companion, a stranger who left Kennewick with him Friday afternoon. This man, who gives his name as Pat Murphy, was found at Pasco today and is now being held at the Kennewick jail, charged with the crime.

Murphy had made a complete change of clothes since he was last seen with Carter. He has been having dinner with Carter Friday night, he has not as yet confessed to having any knowledge of the killing.

California Feels Quake. LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—An earthquake shock lasting almost a minute was felt at practically every point in Southern California this morning at 8:45 o'clock. No damage has been reported.

Nitrate Shipment Expected. VANCOUVER, Wash., Feb. 17.—(Special)—Edward J. O'Connell, secretary of the farm loan board for Clarke

GRANGES ADVOCATE FILMS

"Movies" to Keep Boys on New Jersey Farms.

MULLICA HILL, N. J.—Films as a means for "keeping the boy on the farm" are to be tried by some of the granges in South Jersey, with possibility of a general adoption of the scheme by the patrons of husbandry. Home talent entertainments, which for years have featured the "socials" of the granges, are no longer attracting the young people, the farmers say.

A committee has been appointed to look into the question of motion pictures. Edward Gaunt, brother of the late Senator W. F. Gaunt, for many years master of the New Jersey state grange, is chairman. The committee's invasion of the film into the country districts means breaking up of a custom that has prevailed for generations. The school boy whose turn to recite "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight" came next isn't sorry over the prospective change in program.

Battleship May Be Called Porto Rico. SAN JUAN.—United States Senator Miles Poindexter, member of the senate naval affairs committee, has written a letter to the Porto Rican department of education promising to endeavor to name a battleship after the island of Porto Rico. This would be in compliance with a petition recently signed by thousands of Porto Rican school children and forwarded to Washington.

Did You Ever Stop to Notice two girls walking down the street, both equally good looking, but such a difference? Why? The well-dressed and groomed one bought that smart new dress at Chery's and our credit agency made it easy to pay for 358-81 Washington st. Pittcock block.—Adv.

APRIL 1 STRIKE APPROVED

Chicago Federation Aims to Aid Labor Party's Ticket at Election.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—A general strike of union labor on April 1, the date of the municipal election, for the purpose of aiding the new labor party's ticket was approved by the Chicago Federation of Labor today, which granted its members a day off for making profits for the "Day off for making profits for the union."

Labor men even talked of suspending all street car service on election day.

Aerial Official Resigns.

LONDON.—Major-General Sir W. S. Brancker, master-general of personnel in the air ministry, has resigned that office to become associated with a large combine of aircraft companies

PREACHER RAPS PACIFISTS

DR. HENRY VAN DYKE REVIEWS GREAT WORLD WAR.

Former Minister to Netherlands Says Huns Courted Conflict to Expand Industrial Control.

At Westminster Presbyterian church Monday night Dr. Henry Van Dyke, former minister to the Netherlands, now author and preacher and one of America's foremost men of letters, spoke relative to the proposed League of Nations. Dr. Van Dyke was met at the Vancouver depot by a special committee consisting of H. R. Albee, ex-Mayor C. E. Cochran and F. W. Paris.

Dr. Van Dyke reviewed the world war and declared that "Germany planned it; she wanted it; she chose this means as a showdown for world power and she won it."

"Excuse my language," said Dr. Van Dyke, when his audience shook with laughter at this remark. "But you know I have just finished a term of service in the navy."

"We went into this war," said Dr.

Bill says to the Doctor—sez'ze

"There may be some plugs that look bigger—but it's the good taste of genuine Real Gravely and the way it stays with you that counts."

Good taste, smaller chew, longer life is what makes Genuine Gravely cost less to chew than ordinary plug.

Write to:—GENUINE GRAVELLY DANVILLE, VA. for booklet on chewing plug. Peyton Brand REAL CHEWING PLUG Plug packed in pouch

DANGER PERIOD SIX WEEKS

With Favorable Weather Good Fall Wheat Crop to Be Expected.

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 17.—(Special)—"If we have favorable weather for the next six weeks, the danger period for fall wheat, we will have a very good wheat crop this fall," said Thomas H. Brewer, president of the Fidelity National bank, yesterday. Mr. Brewer bases this prediction on reports received from small banks in the farming districts.

SNOWBOUND TRAIN GETS IN

Passengers Saved From Discomfort by Red Cross Women.

DENVER, Feb. 17.—Passengers on Union Pacific train No. 115, which ar-

BAD SPRAINS OR MUSCLE STRAIN

Rub Pain, Ache, Soreness and Swelling Right Out With "St. Jacobs Liniment."

Rub it on a sprained ankle, wrist, shoulder, back, or a sprain or strain anywhere, that's when you realize the magic in old, honest "St. Jacobs Liniment," because the moment it is applied out comes the pain, the swelling, and the swelling. It penetrates right into the injured muscles, nerves, ligaments, tendons and bones, and relieves you instantly. It not merely kills pain, but soothes and heals the injury so a quick recovery is effected.

Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Liniment" right now at any drug store and stop suffering. Nothing else sets things straight so quickly so thoroughly. It is the only application to rub on a bad sprain, strain, bruise or swelling.—Adv.

INDIGESTION Relieved in Two Minutes—Absolutely Harmless

Send us your name and address, plainly written, and we will send you an approval of our stomach preparation, 2-cents, for 30 days, at which time you are to send us $1.00 or return the unused portion if not perfectly satisfied. Believes Gas, Sour Stomach (Heartburn), Belching, Swelling and Full Feeling so frequently complained of after meals in Two Minutes. Almost instant relief from Pains in the Stomach caused by indigestion. Address: Bellingham Chemical Co., Bellingham, Wash.—A.

DANIELS PRAISES LEAGUE

DOUBTERS WILL BE CHAMPIONS, VIEW OF SECRETARY.

Agreement on Constitution Declared One of Greatest Events in History of World.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Honest doubters of the feasibility of the league of nations plan will come to be its ablest champions and only militarists see in it "no rainbow of promise across the sky," Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, declared in an address here today at a meeting which marked the formal opening of the Interchurch Emergency campaign.

"The agreement on the league's constitution, Secretary Daniels declared, "was an event in the world's history, second only to the declaration of the shepherds of Bethlehem. We have seen a star in the east and have come to worship it."

"Posterity," he declared, "will applaud the forward looking statesmanship of Woodrow Wilson