PORTLAND MEN VIEW INDUSTRIES IN COOS

Post-War Business Conditions Discussed at Banquet.

CLOSER RELATIONS IN VIEW

A. G. Clark, Home Industry League, Points to Need for Dependable Employment for Workmen.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Feb. 20.—(Special.)—Talk at the annual Coos county business men's association banquet, held here tonight at the Chandler hotel, was mainly on reconstruction and post-war business conditions.

Business is just now feeling its way lowly back to the eventual changes that must come with the cessation of war conditions, most speakers declared.

The banquet was atended by a number of Portland's leading business men and representatives, on special invitation from the local association, with a view to aligning more closely relations between Portland and Coos county. The Portland contingent arrived on the 1 o'clock train and spent the afternoon among the business houses in Marshfield and North Bend, acquainting themselves with local representatives and looking over industries.

The Portland guests represent varied lines of commece, and the Oregon Retail Merchants' association in particular. The party numbers Edward A. Maclean, manager of the Oregon Retailers association; J. D. Kenworthy, of Wadhams & Kerr Brothers; Theodore Bergman, manufacturer of boots and shoes; E. B. Clark, with Mr. Bergman; D. J. Maher, Santa Cruz-Portland Cement company; E. N. The principal items of the programme were accorded to the visitors and a number of excellent addresses were made. Manager Clark of the Home Industry league, who gave one of the leading talks, spoke of the need of substantial and permanent industries that will furnish not merely spasmodic employment for Oregon's workmen, but constant and dependable occupations that will result in the laboring element enjoying conditions under which its members can accumulate money.

The programme following the banquet was presided over by Toastmaster John D. oss and the numbers included: Address of welcome, by President Roscoe B. Hazer of the local association; roads, Charles Hall, president of the Bank of Northwestern Oregon; permanent industries, A. G. Clark; home industries, Mrs. Ben Ely; Mrs. L. A. Humphreys, food demonstration; E. N. Strong, reconstruction; J. D. Kenworthy, business conditions; E. A. MacLean, Oregon Retail Merchants' association work, followed by short talks by local men.

County to Be Visited.

The Coos County Business Mens' association has been in existence for five years and was organized for the purpose of protecting tradesmen, establishing standard business conditions and fostering commercial relations with other communities. It is a branch of the state organization. Plates were laid tonight for 160 persons and members of the association were present from North Bend, Bandon, Coquille, Myrtle Point and Powers.

A number of the Portland business men have arranged to remain in the county for several days and will call on mechants in the Coquille valley and North Bend. Manager Clark of the state association, will visit all parts of the county to acquaint himself with conditions and strengthen the local association. Theodore Bergman is among those who intend staying to make the rounds of the county.
