

OLYMPIA LEGISLATURE
WILL ADJOURN TODAYClosing Hours Calmly Spent on Committee Reports.

NORMAL SCHOOL BILL WINS

Senate Passes Measure for Institution at Centralia, but Makes no
Levy for Support.

OLYMPIA, Wash., March 12.—(Special.)—With one day of the legal session remaining the Washington legislature is experiencing a calm closing. Further consideration of bills ceased in both houses promptly at noon, and the afternoon and evening hours were passed in leisurely action on conference committee reports. From present prospects there will be no night session tomorrow, and final adjournment may come early in the day, depending on progress of committee conferences on amended bills.

Sufficient misunderstanding developed between the chairmen of the respective senate and house banking committees to wreck several bank bills in the forenoon session. One of these was house bill 222 giving member banks of the guaranty fund the advantage of their deposited security up to amount of capital and surplus as custodians of public funds. The other, senate bill 139, regulated state fund deposits in a manner satisfactory to national banks. The other house bills that went to the scrap heap in the mix-up made false statements of assets to obtain bank credit a felony and clarified the state requirement for diligence in realizing on negotiable paper.

Senate Passes Normal School Bill.

As the first order of calendar business the senate this morning passed senate bill 253, a modified form of the Clayton act, limiting strike injunctions and legally recognizing labor unions. The second bill passed establishes a state normal at Centralia, but makes no levy for its support or building. With the bill finally through both houses, after four years' fight, the Lewis county delegation is satisfied that the next session will make the school a reality.

On final consideration of the dairy code Senator Taylor added an amendment making understandings to control prices unlawful and the code was accepted as amended by the house.

Other final house bills passed by the senate permit clam culture in oyster lands, establish seed inspection, provide condemnation for new river channels, abolish the board of property commissioners, authorize report on new road in Snohomish county, fix March 31 as expiration date for insurance company license, provide for return of parental school children, and authorize court, amend public morals code as to crime against children, and authorize counties to operate ferries.

Committee on Governmental Losses.

The house defeated the county commission form of government amendment and proposed legal authority for borrowing from local municipal fund to meet shortage in another, passing the following senate bills: Prohibiting cellar bakeries after June 30, increasing salary of state land commissioner to $5000 a year, new irrigation code regulations, authorizing issuance of 40-year period irrigation district bonds, arranging for census of third-class school districts, authorizing acquisition of aviation landing sites, appropriating $2500 for relief of Irving D. Dill, and eliminating cost of inspection as expense charge of accident and health insurance companies.

Acting Governor L. F. Hart today signed house bill 118, which validates a levy of 24 mills made by the city of Aberdeen to clear up outstanding indebtedness. The levy was successfully resisted in the supreme court by E. B. Benn as exceeding the legal limit of indebtedness, after $105,200 had been paid under the levy without protest.

The acting governor approved senate bill 93, which abolishes compulsory vaccination requirements and otherwise amends the educational code. Final passage ceased today, with 66 bills left in the senate rules committee, of which 30 were house bills. The house rules committee kept 64 house bills and 25 from the senate. Out of 572 bills introduced in the 34th session, 34 per cent passed each house. The remaining killed, wounded and missing bills rest in various standing committees.

Conspiracy Case Dismissed.

NEW YORK, March 12.—The government's case against Leo and Morris Rosenwasser, leather manufacturers, who have been on trial for three weeks, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government in army contracts, was dismissed today by Federal Judge Garvin, who said that the prosecution had not proved a conspiracy.

"No More
Sleepless Nights"
Bathes Internally

Mr. J. B. Barrows, 274 West North St., Decatur, Ill., writes Tyrell's Hygienic Institute of New York as follows:

"I am still using the 'J. B. L. Cascade' once a week, and find it most efficient for keeping me in fine condition. It acts as a sedative for tired nerves and has been a great help for sleeplessness. I have frequently arisen from bed and used it in the middle of the night with satisfactory results."

The reason for this remarkable result is because the functions cannot work properly when there is accumulation of waste in the lower intestine.

The "J. B. L. Cascade," by the simple process of properly applying warm water, eliminates all this waste and causes the functions to work smoothly and properly.

Over half a million intelligent Americans are now using the Cascade with similar results.

MOVING PICTURE NEWS

Anita Stewart, beautiful film star who returns to the screen after a long absence, in "Virtuous Wives," to be shown at the Liberty theater next Sunday.

TODAY'S FILM FEATURES.

Columbia—Charles Ray, "The Girl Dodger."

Majestic—Alice Brady, "Her Silent Sacrifice."

Star—J. Warren Kerrigan, "The Drifters."

Sunset—William Farnum, "The Rainbow Trail."

Liberty—Wallace Reid, "Alias Mike Moran."

Peoples—William Farnum, "The Man Hunter."

Globe—William Farnum, "The Spellers."

Circle—Billie Burke, "Eve's Daughter."

Majestic.

A love equal to any sacrifice, the variety rampant in fiction but not so prolific in life, is the theme of the new Alice Brady photoplay, "Her Silent Sacrifice," which opened at the Majestic theater yesterday. It's a highly emotional picture, has some dramatic situations, enables Miss Brady to wear numerous handsome gowns, and occasionally skirts perilously close to the censorship ban.

Parisian smart society and the atmosphere of the studios provide locale for the story. A pretty and unsophisticated little daughter of an innkeeper falls in love with a struggling artist. So deep is her affection for him that she enters into a "you-can-have-me" agreement with a titled roue, the latter agreeing to open the doors of success for the artist. Success achieved, the nobleman demands payment, but through the prince's Hindoo servant the tangle is finally unraveled, and the man and maid embark together on the blissful seas of matrimony.

Christie comedy and Pathe Weekly, with specially arranged Worlitzer music, are other features.

Liberty.

"Alias Mike Moran," a film adaptation of "Open Sesame," the Saturday Evening Post story dealing with a draft evader whose substitute wins fame on the battlefield, and so inspires the real Larry Young that he joins the Canadians and proves that he's not a coward at heart will be shown at the Liberty commencing today.

Wallace Reid, one of the most popular of the screen's male stars, is the leading figure in the story—the weakling who finally proves himself a man. A delightful romance is said to be blended into the tale, with Anita Little as the girl. James Cruze directed the picture, with Emory Johnson, Charles Ogle and Edythe Chapman among the supporting players.

"The Big Idea," a Billy Parsons comedy, and Burton Holmes travelogue are other programme numbers.

Sunset.

"Sealed Wives"—extra wives Mormons used to have in secret—form the story basis for "The Rainbow Trail," film as well as story sequel to "Riders of the Purple Sage." With William Farnum as its stalwart hero, this dramatic and scenically beautiful offering is the week-end attraction at the Sunset theater.

Big Bill, who was the man-killer, Lassiter, of "Riders of the Purple Sage," plays that role in "The Rainbow Trail," as well as Sheffield, the young hero of the alluring Zane Grey tale.

"The Rainbow Trail" is full of swift, tense action, and its settings are some of the most magnificent scenery in the country—the Grand Canyon of Arizona, the great painted desert and the Navajo reservation.

The struggle of the United States government to stamp out polygamy is woven throughout the story. With Sheffield, a relative of the lost Lassiter, gaining access to a "hidden city," of "sealed wives," and there finding the dream girl, "The Sage Lily," for whom he has long searched the plains, the deserts and the mountains of the great west.

"Damaged, No Goods," a hilarious Sunshine comedy, is another attractive feature.

Screen Gossip.

Rumors of the week: W. S. Hart has signed to make two pictures for Mystery Film company at a half million each and is then to retire.

William Hart has signed with Artcraft for eight pictures.

Bill Hart is to return to the United Artists.

W. G. McAdoo has received a bale of scenarios from promising writers, which he has forwarded to Douglas Fairbanks and the United Artists. One writer says he will not charge anything for his story if President Wilson will play in the picture.

Louise Lovely worked 26 days in "The Man Hunter" with Bill Farnum, changed costume 13 times and began work on February 13.

Vitagraph has engaged a mysterious new player. She is Princess Della Fatra of Egypt, who arrived in Los Angeles this week and is now being cast in a new Vitagraph play, the title of which has not been announced.

It takes an incident like the Caruso film debut to prove the uncertainty of photoplay production. A man known throughout the world—a million dollar star—and a good picture "filmed" most gloriously.

They say Bessie Love is making big strides in popularity under the Vitagraph banner. Bessie was in Portland for a few hours just before she went with Vitagraph. Then she was talking of her own concern-to-be—the Bessie Love Film corporation.

Herkheimer brothers—one of 'em is wedded to Jackie Saunders—are in New York planning more film pyrotechnics. They were at the helm of the defunct Balboa producing company.

A meeting of the Northwest Film Board of Trade is to be held in Portland soon. They are trying to hook up distributors and exhibitors in an organization which will result in closer co-operation in the film industry. Seattle is headquarters of the board.

The West Virginia legislature has passed a bill prohibiting pictures like "The Birth of a Nation" from being shown in that state. It provides that no plays that will "arouse feeling between the races" are to be permitted.

Henry Kolker, Edward Connelly and Darrell Foss are in support of Viola Dana in a forthcoming Metro production.

The new Paramount-Arbuckle contract for three years is said to involve a sum aggregating $3,000,000, the largest contract Adolph Zukor has ever signed with an individual artist, and he has hooked up Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, D. W. Griffith and a host of others.

Your Employees' Health is Your Responsibility

In the light of modern knowledge—exact knowledge—of sanitation, the employer who neglects disinfection of office, store, or factory has a load upon his conscience.

He must know that wherever people gather, there is coughing, sneezing, and spitting; wherever there is a traffic of feet, germs are tracked about and deposited.

And, in the absence of constant disinfection, wherever germs are deposited, they increase by millions.

Safe, reliable, and absolute disinfection is easily and economically achieved with

Lysol
Disinfectant

Use it regularly in water used for mopping, keep some Lysol solution always in every cuspidor. Make Lysol your toilet-room disinfectant. You will then go a long way in reducing the sick-list in your organization.

Lysol annihilates all germ life at the instant of contact. Its dependability is vouchsafed by those who know—hospital authorities, boards of health, physicians.

Lysol is economical; a 50c bottle makes 5 gallons of powerful disinfectant; a 25c bottle makes 2 gallons. Remember that there is but one, true Lysol—the product made, bottled, signed and sealed by Lehn & Fink.

Lysol Toilet Soap

Contains Lysol, and therefore protects the skin from germ infection. It is refreshing, soothing and healing and helpful for improving the skin. Ask your dealer. If he hasn't it, ask him to order it for you.

Lysol Shaving Cream

Contains Lysol, and kills germs on razor and shaving-brush (where germs abound); guards the tiny cuts from infection, and gives the antiseptic shave. If your dealer hasn't it, ask him to order a supply for you.
