

STATE PREPARES FOR FINAL LOAN TRIUMPH

Campaign Machinery Receives Systematic Overhauling.

CHAIRMAN IS CONFIDENT

Return of Soldiers and Attractiveness of Issue to Aid Oregon's Victory Drive.

As the day approaches when Oregon will be called upon to meet her quota of the fifth loan, tentatively announced for April 21, the campaign machinery receives a thoroughly systematic overhauling...

"I have just one thing to say concerning the coming campaign," said State Manager Robert E. Smith, "and that is that Oregon must lead the nation in the victory loan. Our record is our heritage."

"Oregon has been first in practically every patriotic drive, and this is our last grand effort. We cannot afford to mar our uniformly excellent record of war service by letting any other state forge ahead of us in this last drive."

Confidence is Voted. Edward Cookingham, state chairman of the liberty loan committee, sees in the fifth loan a superior offering to investors, though he declines to discuss it in detail until complete official announcement regarding the issue is received from Washington.

Investment to Be Attractive. "The fifth loan will provide a more attractive security from the investor's standpoint because of its short maturity. Bonds of the third issue, now selling at a figure substantially higher than those of the fourth issue. The reason is that, although the rates of interest are identical, third issue bonds mature in 1923, while those of the fourth issue mature in 1932. Consequently the securities of the fifth loan, maturing in 1925, will be more attractive to the investor."

Mrs. Sarah Evans, of the woman's liberty loan committee, has been notified that the treasury department organization has cast 2,000,000 medals from captured German cannon to be worn by victory loan workers.

Chats With Home Gardeners

DEAR FRIENDS: Today we will discuss the early planting of vegetables in our gardens, as the time has arrived to plant these earliest vegetables. I know gardeners who have their peas already in the ground, and others who plant their potatoes in the fall.

Plant Early Vegetables Now. If you have only heavy clay soil you cannot plant anything very early, but where you have a high sandy part of the garden, well drained, and ready for spading, you should plant your early vegetables now.

Spread over the soil a thin layer of wood ashes. Lime helps sandy soil to hold moisture. A 2 by 4 foot plot 30x40 feet is all that should be applied. Spade your land deeply and level it off with a rake.

Pea Planting Outlined. If your land is not well drained you can make raised beds for your early planting, but all later planting must be in level ground.

Early Potatoes Important. The best varieties to plant now are Early Rose, Earliest of All, Scotch Rose, Early White Prolific and the Irish Cobbler, the first two being the best for the first planting, which should be ready for eating the last of June.

medium-sized potato in each hill, as a cut potato may rot in a wet season. Do not plant little potatoes. They do not give as good yields. Plant seed about four inches deep. Don't use a potato for seed if it has a roughened and irregular circle on the skin or looks in any way diseased. In preparing your land for potatoes do not use ashes or manure as they both tend to make potatoes scabby. Potatoes always do well in sod ground which is well broken up and cultivated into a fine seed bed. Early potatoes are always expensive, so it pays well to raise plenty of them to carry us over till our later ones ripen in late summer. We will discuss the planting of early lettuce, radishes, etc., soon. Your garden neighbor, INEZ GAGE CHAPEL.

Mrs. Blanche Brooks, whose husband says she shot him in the arm during a quarrel Tuesday, was bound over to the grand jury yesterday by Municipal Judge Hotsman. She is charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. Her husband, Maurice E. Brooks, is held as a witness under $500 bonds. Mrs. Brooks waived a preliminary hearing and did not appear in court. She obtained bail last night and left the city jail, where she has been held in default of $1000 bonds since the shooting. Her husband told Judge Hotsman that he would be unable to furnish bond. Mrs. Brooks is one of a pioneer Eastern Oregon family.

BETTER SYSTEM IS URGED Methods Employed in Treasurer's Office to Be Improved. Efforts to eliminate the present system in vogue in the city treasurer's office, which is said to be costly to the city and disadvantageous to the public, are being made by City Commissioner Perkins, in charge of the finance department of the city, at the request of City Treasurer Adams. Commissioner Perkins is now conducting an investigation of methods employed by private corporations in handling its financial affairs, and has already found that one corporation utilizes one woman, who accomplishes as much work through the use of cash recording machines as five clerks in the employ of the city.
