

HUSBAND FAILS TO RETURN AFTER YEAR

Wife Testifies He Said He Would Come at Noon.

FAMILY TROUBLES AIRD

Presiding Judge Stapleton Grants Divorce Decrees to Couples Who Are Mismatched.

"He said he would be back at noon, but he's been gone a year," complained Mrs. Florence Reinhardt to Presiding Judge Stapleton in her suit for divorce yesterday.

"Five days after we were married," she explained, "he left for Camp Greene, leaving me without any money. Well, he did give me $5, but borrowed it from me the same day. When he returned and we were living together before he left for good, he would stay out nights very often. He told me he was working nights, but I found out later that he was not."

"She was a widow—had been for 12 years. Right after we were married she declared that I ought to know just what she wanted all the time without asking her," he further asserted.

"I was too tame for him," Mrs. Evelyn R. Dorney told the court, referring to R. B. Dorney. "He wanted a wife who would paint, drink and smoke cigarettes. He said he could get any kind of a wife he wanted when he began to make a good deal of money."

"That's hardly enough," said Judge Stapleton, awarding the decree.

William N. Meyer, who received a divorce from Mrs. C. Meyer, said his wife left him because he did not give her enough money, though he said he gave her $30 a week while he was earning only $25.

While Mrs. Vera Cole was visiting a sister, Burt E. Cole invited a woman friend into their home for a party, she told the court. The party was broken up when Mrs. Cole arrived home earlier than her husband expected her.

Frank L. Gandy sent Anita E. Gandy to a specialist in Seattle and she never returned, he testified.

"No, she did not state who she preferred to live with, but she had lived with her father," testified Oscar W. Sheffer to a question asked him about the affections of his wife, Edith. A landlady of the apartment where they had lived testified that while the husband was away his wife would call up other men on the telephone and make "dates" with them.

Grace L. Speer asserted that Joseph B. Speer could not "stand" to see her in the arms of another man at a public dance and had threatened to kill her at Columbia beach for dancing with other men.

Divorces granted were: Guy Russell from Dolly E. Russell and Edgar F. Bartlett from Frances Bartlett.

SOCIETY NEWS

THE out of doors will claim society today, provided the weather is fine. The golf events at Waverley Country club will call forth the golf enthusiasts and the number of visitors from Tacoma will be entertained.

This afternoon the Juniors of the Proctor Hunt club will hold one of their enthusiastic closed paper chases under the direction of Harry M. Kerron. The start will be made at 1 o'clock from the Portland Riding academy and after the chase at the clubhouse the riders will be the guests of Mrs. H. R. Everding.

A telegram from Washington tells of the engagement of Miss Margaret Recker, a pretty Red Cross worker, whose home is in Indianapolis, to Glenn E. Miller, formerly lieutenant in the air service.

Miss Recker is a graduate of a well-known preparatory school of Virginia and of Scudder-on-the-Hudson and attended the University of Wisconsin. She has just completed a history of the work of the Red Cross.

Mr. Miller served for more than a year in Washington and it was there that he met his bride-elect. He has returned to Portland and taken up his work as president of the J. E. Miller Investment & Securities company.

The marriage will be in May and the bridegroom will journey east for his bride.

An event of interest last night was a large reception given by the congregation of Wilbur Methodist church at the Multnomah hotel, with Dr. Francis Eganor and Laura Kilham presiding as host and hostess. The entire table-d'hotel was utilized for the reception.

The alumni of the Christian Brothers Business college will have an attractive party May 1, when the entertainment of several hundred guests will take place in the Multnomah hotel.

The Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church will have charge of the "Ladies Aid" social at the Old People's home on East 10th Monday. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Fletcher Linn.

Mrs. N. U. Carpenter was hostess last night at an informal evening party in fulfillment to a score of the sub-debutante set who are friends of her daughter, Miss Dorothy Carpenter.

Tonight Mrs. H. D. Kilham will be hostess for her daughters, the Misses Eleanor and Laura Kilham, with about 75 young people in attendance.

At the home of Mrs. H. H. O'Reilly tonight an informal evening party will be given with the Misses Jane and Anne O'Reilly and Elizabeth Goddard as hostesses.

The monthly meeting of the Camelia Social club will be held this evening at the East Side Business Men's club.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Swift of 716 East 8th street announce the engagement of their daughter, Rachel, to Max Goldberg, a wholesaler of this city.

The Monday Musical club junior department will meet this afternoon at 1 o'clock in the assembly room of the Portland hotel. The subjects will be "The Beginning of Oratorio and Opera" and "The History and Story of the Passion Play." Several talented children will play. Mrs. Emma Welch Landry will give the address.

The ladies' annex of the Portland Social Turn Verein will give a dance in fulfillment of the clubhouse, Thirtieth and Main, this evening. All club members and their friends are invited.

Mrs. John Joly entertained Thursday afternoon of this week with a delightful tea in honor of Mrs. George Dorcas, who is leaving for California, and Mrs. E. H. Nolan, who will leave about the first of the month for her home in eastern trip. The tea table was specially admired with its lovely French centerpiece of spring flowers.

Society is especially interested in the chamber music concert to be presented this evening at the Little theater by the Portland Musical Society. The program includes the "Pipes and Drums" and "The History and Story of the Passion Play." Several talented children will play. Mrs. Emma Welch Landry will give the address.

An interesting wedding took place Wednesday when Miss Gertrude Clark, daughter of Mrs. E. Clarke of Birmingham, England, and Glen Riley of Portland, were united at the parsonage of the Evangelical church, on East 8th and Market streets, Rev. E. D. Hornschurch officiating in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Baughman, Miss Sophie H. Stone and Miss Emma Waadrey. Immediately after the ceremony supper was served at the Hotel Portland, where covers were laid for additional guests as follows: Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Murnese, Mr. and Mrs. H. U. Nolan, Mrs. Ellis, John Ellis and Miss Minnie Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Riley will be at home after April 20 at the Penrose apartments.

The children of the Irvington club families will be guests of the club this night at a party for those under 12 years of age. Mrs. Fred Felter is chairman.

Mrs. E. N. Howe was hostess yesterday at a luncheon for a few friends who are members of a little sewing club. The table was adorned with sweet peas and maidenhair fern. Those present were Mrs. W. W. McCredie, Mrs. C. M. Menzies, Mrs. C. B. Cadwell, Mrs. A. C. Wells, Mrs. F. C. Atwell, Mrs. E. Dorres and Mrs. A. A. Inman. The guests sewed in the afternoon, piecing together a quilt, the squares of which had been made by some of the neighboring school children.

Plans for Victory Loan Drive Near Completion.

Committee Secures Site in Post-office Square for Erection of Headquarters.

Wanted, 100,000 capitalists in Portland.

City Chairman Emery Olmstead of the victory loan campaign announced yesterday that it was his ambition to have a total of 100,000 investors in Uncle Sam's gilt-edge securities before the close of the coming victory loan drive.

The various sub-committees of the city organization got into immediate action yesterday as soon as their appointments had been made. Julius L. Meier, chairman of the committee on headquarters construction, had pushed his plans to the point where he was able to announce last night that the new victory headquarters, which will be located in the big arch of the "big push," will be open and ready for occupancy at 5 o'clock Monday morning.

The headquarters will consist of a frame structure 50x30 feet in size and will be erected in the northwest corner of the postoffice grounds, immediately behind the big arch of triumph, which will span Sixth street at Morrison, leaving ample room for the staging of the large array of spectators in charge of the big arch of triumph, which will be whipped into shape by the various committees of the special features bureau.

Every bit of music and labor for the construction of the victory headquarters will be donated, and organized labor will have a large crew of men on hand early Sunday morning, and the weather permits they expect to have the entire building inclosed by dinner time Sunday night.

"I can say," said chairman Meier in charge of the work, "the victory loan committee will be able to take charge of the new building bright and early Monday morning, and we are going to paint it red, white and blue, and its interior arrangements will be such that every feature of the local drive can be handled without confusion and in a businesslike way."

Local victory loan workers were greatly gratified yesterday over the announcement from Washington that the various quotas, together with the rate of interest and terms of payment, of the victory bonds, will be announced next Monday. Everybody connected with the drive has been chafing under the delay of this all-important announcement.

"We do not want the impression to get abroad that we do not value the element of patriotic enthusiasm in connection with the coming drive," said Chairman Olmstead last night, "and there will be opportunity for full play of all of the patriotic energy we have in us. What our plan of campaign is, we will base it upon the fact that the victory certificates are going to be absolutely the best kind of an investment that ever has been offered."

SPRUCE CORPORATION SUED

Stockwell Lumber Company Alleges Contract Broken.

TACOMA, Wash., April 11.—(Special.)—The A. P. Stockwell Lumber company of Aberdeen filed suit in the federal court here today for $75,000 against the United States Spruce Production corporation, alleging that the latter had broken the delivery of 1,000,000 feet of lumber which the government failed to observe.

The Stockwell company alleges that it signed a contract with the spruce production corporation on January 28, 1918, to cut 1,000,000 feet of spruce at $105 a thousand, and that the contract was canceled last November. The contract for the corporation was made by Van D. Christ, at that time a lieutenant in the service. When the contract was canceled 198,357 feet of spruce had been delivered.

Carey & Kerr, Portland, and A. L. Miller, Vancouver, Wash., are attorneys for the spruce corporation, and Bridges & Bruner, Aberdeen, for the plaintiff.

ALIENS TO BE RELEASED

RESTRICTION WILL BE REMOVED BY OFFICIALS.

Ninety-Five Residents of Oregon Now on Parole Affected by Federal Orders.

About 95 enemy aliens, who are on parole in Oregon, will be free of restrictions and their bonds released within a short time. The government yesterday sent out word that in following the policy of removing war restrictions as fast as possible the department of justice has ordered the release from parole and cancellation of the bonds of more than 10,000.

With a few exceptions, each of the 95 enemy aliens has had to report to Chief Deputy United States Marshal John D. Mann every week and to United States Attorney Hanson every two weeks. In paroling aliens the department of justice ordered them supervised by the chief deputy marshal in each district to relieve the marshal of his routine. Two of the Oregon enemy aliens were permitted to move to San Francisco, one to Berkeley, Cal., and one to Los Angeles.

The 95 gathered up here had violated the regulation prohibiting alien enemies from entering restricted zones and areas, such as being found within 1000 feet of the river front. Enemy aliens were paroled and a bond exacted from them. Some gave property bonds. Where a cash bond was deposited Marshall Alexander invested the money in liberty loan bonds and is retaining these bonds for the owners of the security.

Labor Editors Suggest Apprehension of Guilty Instead.

CHICAGO, April 11.—A group of editors of labor papers attending a conference of newspaper editors of the seventh federal reserve district in the interest of the victory liberty loan held a meeting today and drafted and adopted resolutions disapproving a nationwide strike in an attempt to free the Y. W. C. A. fund of murder from connection with the preparedness day bomb explosion at San Francisco in 1916.

The resolutions urged that the better way to aid Mooney is to apprehend the guilty parties and asked that unions be assessed for the purpose and the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor take charge of the money and prosecute the search.

C. Gordon, psychologist of Staunton, Va., filed in federal court here. Mr. Chaloner, still legally insane in New York, though the courts of Virginia and North Carolina have declared him sane, is seeking to prove his sanity to the satisfaction of the court, so that he may proceed with prosecution of a $100,000 suit for alleged libel against a New York newspaper.

Mr. Gordon, discussing the "new psychology," asserts in his treatise that the consensus of opinion among modern psychologists is "that every man has two minds—subjective and objective."

MIND-READING IS FEATURE

"THE MIRACLE" TO BE SEEN AT ORPHEUM TOMORROW.

Clara Morton and Harriet Rempel Are Headliners in Three-Star Performance.

A three-star Orpheum show, one of the features of which is "The Miracle," a mind-reading act which is reputed to be the greatest entertainment of its kind in big-time vaudeville, will open at the Hellig tomorrow afternoon for an engagement of seven performances. The show will close with the matinee Wednesday.

The new show has two headliners. They are Clara Morton, the comedienne and beauty of the celebrated Morton family, who has a new act described as a "Solo Sengalogue," and Harriet Rempel, who is presented directly by Martin Beck, managing director of the Orpheum circuit, in a romantic suburban playlet called "Tarrytown." Seattle accepted this playlet as "one of the best and most pretentious of the year."

"The Miracle" is the extra attraction. In this act a modern Svengali walks through the audience, and as the titles of musical selections are whispered to him by patrons they are sung or played on the piano as quick as a flash by a mysterious Trilly, who is seated on the stage. This act was a sensation on Broadway recently.

"SOMEWHERE NEAR THE WAR" The Oregonian has assembled and published in book form—the title "Somewhere Near the War"—the twenty-six letters from Edgar B. Piper, written from Great Britain and the war zone in October and November, 1918. The requests that the series be issued in a single volume have come from many sources; and the result is a well-printed book of 150 pages, printed on Antique book paper in large type, with wide margins and adequate illustrations. There is no material change in the text of the original letters as published in The Oregonian. But they have been rearranged and fully annotated. The nominal price of 60 cents has been fixed. Postage will be additional. The book may be obtained at the business office of The Oregonian or it may be ordered by mail.
