NEW YORK, April 11.—Samuel Gompera, president of the American Federation of Labor, who has just returned from the peace conference, where he served as chairman of the international labor legislation committee, tonight cabled President Wilinternational labor legislation com-mittee, tonight cabled President Wil-son protesting against reopening the report drafted by the committee.

I cabled President Wilson that I am "I cabled President Wilson that I am impelled to protest against any amendments or reopening the covenant," Mr. Gompers said in announcing that he had cabled to Paris. "It took the inborrepresentatives of the world two months to perfect the covenant and I most emphatically protest against reopening it."

British Text Received.

It was learned that Mr. Gompers to-day received an important cablegram from Paris, containing the full text of the amendment offered by the British labor leader.

Speaking of the report drafted by the inter-allied labor commission, Mr. Gompers declared: It is an instrument that can only make for the good of the working peo-ple and the masses of people in all the countries of the world. "It provides for an international

"It provides for an international labor conference annually and in the interim a governing board. The governing board is composed of a representative of each government, a representative of the employers and a labor delegate. The conference will determine each year the next meeting place.

Standard Wage Proposed. "The first conference will be held in this country at Washington next Octo-ber and I have been selected as presi-dent of this conference. The delibera-tions will last ten weeks."

While Mr. Gompers said he could no make public the text of the report drafted by the inter-allied committee of which he was head, he added that, in addition to the report itself, the committee made certain declarations which it hoped might also be incorporated in the treaty. These declarations, he said, "fundamental and of benefit to labor," were as follows:

"First—Labor shall not be held as a mmodity or article of commerce. "Second-A standard adequate wage.

Child Labor Protected.

"Third—An eight-hour day,
"Yourth—Equal pay for equal work by man or woman when of equal quantity and equal quality.
"Fifth—Protection of child labor."
"A great deal of difficulty was experienced at the sessions of the labor mittee in Paris before the United States could become a party to the pro-gramme," said Mr. Gompers. "This is due to the dual government c. the United States-the state government and the federal government—with separate labor legislation. Our pro-gramme could not treepass on the states' right to deal with labor legislation. Provisions were made to over-

drawn up so that no state shall be asked or be required to enforce any agreement in the covenant of the inter-allied labor committee which involves a lowering of standards for seamen or any other of the laws which might make standards lower than existing

The Oregon state chamber of commerce is formulating plans to co-operate with real estate dealers of the state. Secretary Quayle explained it is proposed that land listed for sale to homeseekers shall have the approval of a committee of three men. With such a system in effect the state cham-ber would have no hesitancy in turn-ing over to dealers the names of pros-pective buyers and the homeseekers rould have much greater confidence

WAR BILL UNCERTAIN

Americans Are Skeptical as to Full Reparation.

ALLIES STILL DETERMINED

Britain and France Insist on Full Indemnification-Russia's Repudiation Recalled.

PARIS, April 11 .- (By the Associated Press.)-While the members of the British and French parliaments are Representatives of Nine Portland mobilizing for a proposal to exact nothng less than full idemnification of the allies by Germany for all the costs of the war and are insisting on Germany's ability to pay the full bill, American representatives on the reparations com-mittee express considerable doubt whether even the account to be prewhether even the account to be pre-sented to Germany under the plan adopted by the council of four (esti-mated at about $45,000,000,000 with the payment spread over a period of 30 years) can or will be collected in full. They assert that they can see the possibility that the ways and means of holding Germany to payment will grow weaker as the years pass, and that Germany may take advantage of some convenient opportunity in later years convenient opportunity in later years to repudiate her obligations to the nt allied powers under the peace

They recall the action of Russia in repudiating the restrictive Black sea clauses of the treaty imposed at the conclusion of the Crimean war at a noment when a new political constellation in Europe gave the emperor of Russia a fair amount of certainty that Russia could do this with impunity. For this reason the American and For this reason the American and other delegates on the reparations commission have opposed a new proposal which the French brought in to specify water the French prought in to specify labor and other requisitions for the restoration of the devastated French provinces in the first few years after peace, maintaining that this revived the principle of priority as between the various creditors of Germany, which had been rejected by the commission and the council of four.

Advantage for France Seen.

They argued that France in this way might receive a disproportionately large share of her cirims in the first years, while the ability of the associated gov-ernments to enforce payments was still good, and that other states dependent upon later payments in money and materials might be left "holding the bag" if Germany proved recalcitrant. The difficulty probably will be met by the French offer to account to the other countries for the cash value of labor, materials, cattle and other things exacted for the restoration of the nine northern provinces.

Germany, although her prisoners will be released at the end of the armistice, probably will be required in the peace settlement to provide a part of the labor needed for rebuilding of devastated re-gions as well as labor at home in the nanufacture or production of materials to be used in restoration work.

FIRE LOSS ON INCREASE

Reduced Efficiency Caused by War Cited as Responsible.

Portiand's fire loss for 1918 was his start some time next week.

$417,774, or $1.34 per capita, which is an increase over the fire loss of 1917, which totaled $276,744, or $2 cents per capita. Portland retains its lead in fire prevention work, however, according to the annual report of Fire Mar-shal Ed Grenfell made public yesterday.

The reasons cited by Fire Marshal Grenfell for the increased fire loss are demoralization of the fire department because of enlistments of firemen durable course of the fire department of the firement ing the war, increased valuations Portland property, greater industrial activity and ignorance of newcomers in this city of the fire prevention rules. Portland's average fire alarms during the year per 100,000 population was 401, in comparison to an average of 657 for 18 leading municipalities on the Pacific coast. Only three lives were lost in conflagrations during the year, and four firemen and five civilians were injured as a result of fires.

Portland school teachers unanimously Portland school teachers unanimously requested a 30 per cent rise in salary in addition to the $10 monthly bonus. The proposal to raise this money may be voted on at a school election, at which time the voters could either levy an additional tax or authorize the board to extend its borrowing power, according to the discussion at the conference. Members of the board agreed a further rise was necessary and practically assented to call the requested election. No formal action was taken other than to ask the committee of school teachers formally to present its request in writing to Superintendent Grout. The writing to Superintendent Grout. matter will be brought up on Thurs-day, when the board will hold a regular session.

A request also was made that the benus granted April 3 be distributed at one time, preferably at the end of the school year in June.

EMPLOYMENT SITUATION FORE-CAST IS MADE. Organization of Committees in Mapritical period of the soldier and sailor employment situation next fall, according to Captain James O. Convill, in charge of the employment service for returning service men. This prediction is based not only on local observations but also on conditions which are general, Mr. Convill stated. The prediction was made in a report filed with Mayor Baker of the work which has been discharged, but that less than 25 per cent of all overseas men have been relieved of duty.

ED or 40 members should be gon and an outline of the work given each committee for consideration and guidance.

Captain Convill cites the following facts on which he bases his conclusions that the hardest work in connection with providing work for the returning men will be in the fall:

"Advices say that about 50 per cent of the men in the army aiready have been discharged, but that less than 25 per cent of all overseas men have been relieved of duty.

"Few men have been discharged from the army and the marine corps and reports emanating from supposedly reliable sources are that the entire naval reserve shortly will be discharged. Possibility of slackening of activities in the Portland shippards would throw thousands of workmen out of employment."

Captain Convill contends that reports that returned soldiers will not accept positions on farms is erroneous. In the Portland bureau, he states, there is more inquiry about the possibility of returning to the farms, especially as small farm owners, than any other single kind of inquiry.
