THREE TO BE NAMED FOR NEW JUDGESHIP
Governor Olcott Must Select One for Place.
WORK TO BEGIN JUNE 1
Twenty-Four Have Already Applied for Place as Judge of Court of Domestic Relations.
Names of three applicants for the position of judge of the newly created court of domestic relations will be submitted to Governor Olcott with the recommendations of the judges of the Multnomah circuit court early in May, announced President Judge Stapleton yesterday. This will allow the governor's selection to be made without delay and give his appointees opportunity to prepare to take over the new office June 1.
Judge Stapleton will call a meeting of Judges Gantenben, Kavanaugh, Morrow, Tucker and others in his chambers the latter part of this week for the purpose of determining just what course shall be taken in the selection. They will discuss the advisability of a public hearing for all candidates and will decide the day their selections will be made.
At a meeting called by social workers of Portland for Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Portland hotel, all candidates for the position of judge of the new court have been invited to speak. Judge Stapleton and possibly some other of the circuit judges will attend this meeting, and it may be that it will serve the purpose of a public hearing.
All applicants to be considered.
"We shall give all applications consideration the latter part of this month," said Judge Stapleton, "as our selection should be in the hands of the governor early in May. That will give him an opportunity to pick one of the three for the place and to notify that man or woman, of the appointment so that the appointee will have time to get ready for the job."
"I wish, in view of recent publicity given campaigns of certain candidates for the position, to state that pledges have been made no candidate by the judges and that the selection is not pre-ordained. We do not intend to allow politics, religion, or anything else but the welfare of the children to guide us in making our selection. A wise choice means too much to the future generation to risk snap judgment based on anything but consideration of what is best for the community."
When asked about newspaper comments on a candidate, Judge Stapleton refused to talk, except to admit that his mail had been swamped with solicitations for January immediately after that no application had been sent in by or for W. M. Davis for the position. Mr. Davis has stated that he is not a candidate.
Twenty-four Apply.
At present Judge Stapleton has 24 applications on his list. Others have been mentioned, but these are the only ones opened thus far.
Martin Hawkins is the latest to be added to the list. J. A. Strowbridge being next.
The complete list follows: Martin Hawkins, J. A. Strowbridge, R. A. Meers, Fred L. Johnson, John E. Owen, W. L. Brewster, A. G. Thompson, Marion B. Meacham, William A. Williams, John B. Easter, A. Nielsen, James E. Brockway, Thomas W. Gillard, Lida M. O'Brien, Frederick M. Dempsey, Richard Sleight, Hugh J. Boyd, Thomas J. Closter, Arthur I. Moulton, Olan Nolan, H. M. White, C. H. Piggott and W. M. Gregory.
STUDENTS TO HEAR MUSIC
Symphony Orchestra Asks Jefferson Pupils to Rehearsal.
Students of the Franklin high school and members of the high school orchestra will be the guests of the Portland Symphony Orchestra tomorrow morning at the Heilig theater, when the last rehearsal of the programme to be presented Wednesday night at the Heilig theater will be given.
Fifteen hundred students of Jefferson high school and of the Hill military academy were present at the last rehearsal given before the programme presented by the orchestra April 4. A letter of appreciation telling of the enjoyment which the students derived from the rehearsal was written by Hopkins Jenkins, principal of the Jefferson high school, to the symphony orchestra, and to the management of the Heilig theater.
Due to the fact that Madame Jeanne Ferrier, of San Francisco, who was to have been the soloist, for Wednesday night's programme, is ill, there will be no assisting artist.
The programme which has been planned by Carl Denton, conductor of the orchestra, is a varied one. The concert will be opened with "the overture 'Ray' by Strauss, Mendelssohn's 'The Pleasures of Childhood,' by Bizet, is said to be one of the most interesting compositions that has been presented by the orchestra this season. It is composed of four movements, each depicting the joys of childhood. The overture 'Di Ballo,' by Sullivan, will conclude the programme.
