WASHINGTON. April 21—Destruction wrought by the Germans in northern France was so "systematic and diabolical" that it will require five years to rehabilitate the coal, from and steel industry and from 12 to 15 years to return the mines and mills to normal output, acording to a preliminary report today by Frank H. Probret, consulting engineer of the bureau of mines. He is a member of a special investigating committee which recently returned from Europe.

committee which recently returned from Europe.

"The actual physical damage to the fron mines is comparatively small when compared to the destruction of the coal fields of northern France, which is an reprehensible as it is complete." Mr. Probert said "In my opinion no such alrocity was ever perpetrated against the industrial life of any country. Magnificent steel plants are now but a tangled, twisted mass of structural steel and broken stone. The willful demolition was scientifically planned and systematically carried out. This after the removal of all mechanical and electrical power units that could be used by Gerpower units that could be used by Ger-many. The maliciousness and efficiency with which this crime against French industry was carried out is almost un-

Germany by the limitation of her forces and armament, she still had in her power considerable forces that might be indirectly employed, as already indicated by the dispanch of German officers to Itussia. It was pointed out that unless this practice was checked it would be possible for Germany to create a practicable force in Russia.

This menace has become particularly significant in view of reports of an alliance between Germany and Russia.

The ministers also approved two recommendations of the supreme economic council. The first recommended that the Germans be requested to send as soon as possible to France technical.

It asks recognition as de facto of all national authorities who "are inspired by democratic ideals and enjoy the support of the population, pending the setting up of a federation of Russian states.

Prince Lvoff, Tchaikovaky, Sazonoff and Marklakoff eigned the memorandum embodying this programme. Under it the ailies would recognize the Russian boundaries of 1914 except for ethnographical Poland, and would support democratic de facto authorities in their struggle against bolshevism and smarchy. Huns Plan to Get Treaty of Peace and Hurry Home.

Germans Expect to Return to Weimar From Versailles and Then Look Into Text of Pact.

The German government then for-mally inquired through the armistice commission regarding the programme and on the basis of the reply seemingly determined on the dispatch of the smaller delegation.

Meanwhile, however, the plans and programme of the council of four for discussions with the Germans had been altered, in no small degree apparently, on account of the fact that it was found a physical impossibility, since the instructions to appear on April 25 were sent to the Jerman delegates, to have the actual text of the proposed treaty ready by that date. This would necessitate communicating the determinations of the allied and associated governments to a certain extent in governments to a certain extent in outline, or in a less formal shape than the definite text.

Discussion to Be Limited.

For this purpose the presence of the plenipotentiaries charged with the peace negotiations was, imperative, quite apart from the point of prestige that plenipotentiaries of the allied and associated powers could only meet with German representatives of equal-

Former Incident Recalled.

It may be recalled that the convocation of the Portsmouth peace conference was somewhat delayed by a similar point regarding the competence of the credentials of the Russian delegates. Russian officials stated after president Roosevelt's invitation to the conference had been accepted by the emperor that delegates were being sent merely to learn on what basis Japan was prepared to enter into discussions and that a decision whether the present government of peremptory declination of pace that the council of four think to enter into negotiations based on President Wilson's had a voitation to enter into dead of containing with the idea of a plebiscite, as it would much rather containt within the citer woltation to entering the competence of the converted that the converted the pace conference will assume the responsibility.
