Automobile tours of the Columbia highway, returning in mid-afternoon. They lunched at Chanticleer inn, saw the wonderful scenic panorama spread out before them as their cars wound high above the river—and each of them professed that the trip had been a revelation.

But the rollicking gobs of the crew, with aiders of the 31st division, who returned yesterday, were just as profuse in their appreciation of the highway, for all who cared to make the tour were taken motoring during the afternoon. Cars were supplied by the motor corps of the National League for Women's Service, for the forenoon tour, while the courtesy of auto dealers supplied cars for the afternoon.

Crew Hilariously Cheered.

All Portland, or at least those citizens who could be there, lined the downtown streets yesterday morning

RECAVANS OF CITY ORDERED FOR VICTORY LOAN.

Don't delay with your victory loan subscriptions. The job has to be done. Why not do it in such a manner that Portland will retain her position as the city which has never lagged in any patriotic enterprise?

The district managers and their representatives are starting out today with renewed vigor to recavans their districts. Be ready for them. Let's be the first city on the coast to "go over."

and cheered riotously when the crew of the Oregon, reinforced by 223 men of the famous 31st division, and led by the sailors' own band, with Percy Campbell and his contingent of musicians in reserve, marched through the town. The men of the 31st division were the first detachment of the Wild West troops to reach home.

Soldiers wearing real camaraderie, tramped rhythmically along, with the clean, strong swing of men perfectly drilled. The parade concluded at Victory square, where the blue-jackets went through intricate drills. Needless to say, business at Victory but was brisk immediately following the sight of fighting men of both services marching on parade in Portland.

Last night, at the Multnomah hotel, the blue-jackets were tendered a ball by the victory loan committee. There was no lack of pretty partners and good music, and the delighted "gobs" made the most of the time that remained to them before they returned to their hammocks.

Officers Guests at Banquet.

Captain Tarrant and his fellow officers of the Oregon were guests at a banquet at the Hotel Benson last night, given in their honor by the victory loan committee of Oregon. The gathering

WEAR YOUR VICTORY LOAN BUTTON.

Instructions received from Washington request every victory bond buyer to wear the official subscriber's button. Boys who have done their part in the service join in this request. Failure to wear the button may set a bad example and will surely create a false impression. Each purchaser of a victory bond, therefore is urged to wear the button continuously until the end of the present campaign.

was brilliant, comprising representatives of all governmental branches, library loan executives, and prominent members of the city. Even the church militant was there—in the person of Billy Sunday, evangelist extraordinary, who afterward thrilled a huge audience with his victory loan message at the auditorium.

Women workers for the liberty loan, who have charge of the residential district campaign, are determined to complete their work within the next few days. New workers have been secured for lagged districts, and the house-to-house drive is gaining force and effect.

STEAMER NESPELEM ON THE DALLES RUN

New Service Is Scheduled to Start Today.

RUN MADE THRICE WEEKLY

Plan Is to Use Trucks to Gather Freight from Inland Points for River Trip.

Entering the Portland-The Dalles service as a passenger and freight vessel, the steamer Nespelem will leave Taylor-street dock at 7 o'clock this morning under the banner of the newly-organized The Dalles-Columbia River Navigation Company. The Nespelem will operate from Portland every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, returning from The Dalles alternate days.

The Nespelem was constructed on the upper Columbia river, well up toward the border, and was brought down last year, Captain Charles Miller undertaking the task, and he is to handle the steamer in the new service. She was used for a time on the run to The Dalles, handling freight principally, and was decided to add passenger accommodations, and she is rated today one of the newest and best-appearing of the stern-wheel fleet.

The steamer Tahoma, owners of which are also interested in the new service, the former Peoples' Navigation Company, being a part of The Dalles-Columbia River Navigation company, made her last trip to The Dalles Thursday and will remain tied up until the Nespelem draws more business than can be handled on the present schedule. The Nespelem is expected to start on her regular run from Portland, returning the following day, so a daily service will be afforded.

The company's representatives toured the interior country not long ago and their plan has been to reach the upper Columbia region, using the Celilo canal, and handle freight from certain landings accessible to interior points, such as Walla Walla, moving the shipments to and from the river on motor trucks.

The Dalles-Columbia line is operating the steamer J. N. Teal as far as The Dalles, so the middle section of the Columbia river is being favored with an adequate service now. It has been some time since steamers plied above the Celilo canal, but that end of the business is being revived soon, depending on inducements in the way of traffic.

DEVA IS TO FLOAT TODAY

One Government Hull Will Remain at Supple-Ballin Yard.

The tenth hull of the Balgait type finished for the emergency fleet corporation, and next to the last of the type, the Supple-Ballin Shipbuilding corporation is to turn out for the government, leaving the ways at the Oak-street plant at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Miss Helen Langguth Smith, a student at the Jefferson high school, being selected to christen the vessel.

The Supple-Ballin plant has four building berths, so with the launching of the ship today, which is to be christened Deva, three ways will be vacant. Of 15 steamers recently sold by the government five were of the Supple-Ballin type and it is said there are more inquiries for the same design. The Birchleaf, one of the five disposed of, was given a dock trial of six hours yesterday at the yard, and is to go on her 24-hour sea trial Thursday.

TWO HULLS READY TO LAUNCH

Ferris Type Steamers Will Be Float-ed at Astoria Yards Tomorrow.

ASTORIA, Or., April 28.—(Special.)—Two hulls of the emergency fleet steamers are to be launched at the Astoria yards on Wednesday afternoon. One will be the Maura at the Rodgers yard and her sponsor will be Mrs. Katherine Bunch, daughter of Captain E. E. Dyer, federal inspector at the yard. The other vessel will be the Onteora at the Wilson yards and her sponsor is to be Mrs. W. A. Viggers, wife of the president of the Marine Iron Works.

Both craft are of the Ferris type and the hulls are 100 per cent complete. They will be taken to the plant of the Astoria Marine Iron Works to have their machinery installed. Another vessel, the Wovawala, is to be launched at the Rodgers yard in about 30 days.

LOCAL NAME FOR SHIP URGED

Record in Building Held to Entitle Oregon to Remembrance.

Since names of steel ships building at the northwest and Columbia river yards were changed recently, the prefix "west" being dropped, it has been suggested that Mrs. Wilson, wife of the president, who has named the vessels, be asked to make another change and give one ship a local name.

As there are steamers called Portland and other cities of the name, Willamette has been proposed as a locality name, also Columbia and Multnomah. It is suggested that the state and the northwest and Columbia river yards of the Oregon district has made a record in the war drive for tonnage, both in steel and wood construction. A big steamer named Oregon, it is held, would not be amiss.

FRENCH SAILOR IS DEPORTED

Actions Following Assignment to Ship Here Cause Downfall.

Rene Denis, a French sailor who came to Portland last year with a crew assigned to one of the new ships constructed by the Foundation company, goes back to France under a deportation order, because he was named by the police soon after reaching the city. He has been sent to Seattle by Immigration Inspector Bonham and sails from there Thursday, on a French vessel.

The termination of actual warfare abroad has enabled the immigration bureau to start a number of aliens, or their names, who had been held for long periods, some of them since the time that America entered the war.

NEW JAPANESE TRAMP HERE

Kaian Maru to Load Shanghai Lumber Cargo.

It has been so long since a tramp steamer flying a foreign flag traversed the harbor that the arrival yesterday of the Kaian Maru, one of the latest-built Japanese freighters, attracted considerable attention as she steamed to the upper basin and berthed at the Inman-Poulsen mill. The vessel, coming to load a Shanghai lumber cargo being furnished by Dant & Russell, about half of which will be taken aboard at the mill of the St. Johns Lumber company. She Sheriff Kendall and Coroner Fisher made an investigation Saturday and decided it was a plain case of suicide and that no inquest was necessary. However, rumors became current today, so Coroner Fisher convened an inquest.

Evidence at the inquest showed that Paumetler, who lived alone, had shown signs of mental derangement for the past few days. Saturday evening he slashed himself in three places with a butcher knife, wounding himself terribly. When discovered he was alive, but unconscious, and died half an hour later.
