OREGON SOLDIERS ARE THANKED BY PERSHING

Service of 66th Field Artillery Brigade Commended.

BOYS LONGING FOR HOME

Fighters Declared Now as Anxious to Reach America as to Go Oversens When Call Came.

Men of the 66th field artillery brigade, of which the old Oregon cavalry is a part, recently received the persona thanks of General John J. Pershing and the corps commander, Colonel P. H. Worcester, on their enviable record of five months' continuous service at the front and the neat and soldierly appearance they made at Hohr, Germany, on the visit of the commander-in-chief.

"This brigade was always to be de-pended upon when in the region of the Marne and the Aisne rivers in the St. Mihiel battle and the Meuse-Argonne offensive," said General Pershing after he reviewed the men. "It supported our gallant infantry in many a pitched battle and this duty so well performed will always be a source of pride to each and every member of the brigade." General Pershing's tribute to the brigade was followed by a letter from corps commander, Colonel P. H. Worcester, complimenting the men upor their excellent appearance and the rep-utation they have established.

Irksome Task Performed. "This brigade has an enviable record of over five months' continuous serv-ice on the line," said Colonel Wor-cester. "The satisfactory manner in which it has thus far successfully ac-complished its irksome and vexations duty as a part of the army of occupa-tion has called forth favorable com-ment from all its higher commanders. Let every member of the brigade, by his neat and soldierly appearance, main-tain that reputation which will always source of satisfaction to us when our duty is done."

Copies of The Long Range Sniper containing the letters have been forwarded to The Oregonian by Corporal Waldo C. Stout, battery C. 148th field artillary, with an interesting letter in which Corporal Stout expresses the American soldier's longing to get home with an earnestness which is only to be compared with his impatience to get overseas when war was declared. Soldiers Are Lonesome.

"There are strict orders here against fraternizing with the Germans, but under the billeting arrangement it is impossible to prevent some undue friendliness," writes Corporal Stout. "The men get lonesome and often welcome an opportunity to visit with the people with whom they are billeted, es-pecially when they are young—and of the opposite sex. Some of us came here guage, but it is surprising the amount that has been acquired by those who were ignorant of it a few months ago. As long as we are human I guess we will fraternize, not with the beche by choice, but it will be with whoever we are thrown in with—so for the love of Mike get us home so we can fraternize with human beings again. The last time I passed Fifth and Washington streets a man was earnestly shouting to the crowd: You're needed over there. You must go if this is to be a wonderful bit of realism. there. You must go if this is to be a safe place to live in, and we went, most of this brigade as volunteers, but I did in the aspirations of the humble hero not hear the man say we were to stay forever, and inasmuch as we did go, please, somebody, get up on a box and set up back.
