A few inches either way or higher, Harper's drive would have gone for a double and from what followed we would judge that there would have been some 1500 cold suppers. However, the pellet, as hit by the ex-Seal, stuck in Siglin's glove and Knight's long triple to left centerfield fell short one run of tying the count.

Following Knight's blow there came a battle of wits—McCredie vs. Clymer. Bunny Fabrique was next at bat for the northerners. He hits left-handed, so in went Southpaw Red Oldham. Clymer countered by jerking Fabrique in favor of Herb Murphy, a right-handed swatter, who grounded to "Tex" Westerzil and was thrown out, ending the Siglin and Farmer figured in Portland's second run also and it was Farmer's home-run smash far over the right garden wall off Abe Bowman in the eighth which proved later to be the winning tally. In the sixth Siglin singled across second, was sacrificed to the keystone by Farmer and hoofed it across the rubber when Dick Cox doubled.

Manager Clymer trotted out Lyle Bigbee and Schultz as pinch hitters in the eighth, the former batting for Catcher Bob Schang. Lyle fanned the ozone and Schultz lifted a puny fly to Siglin. Bowman and Bob Coleman finished on the points for the Purple Sox. A great catch by Compton in the sixth checked further Beaver scoring. Westerzil drove the sphere into left field.
