

REGRETTED MAMMIS
WASHED BY DR. BOYD
"Greatest Failure of Modern Civilization," Charge.

HOME IS HELD NEGLECTED

Refusal to Assume Responsibilities of Parenthood Is Declared
Gravest of Wrongs.

Tender meditations upon idealized motherhood were foregone yesterday morning in the Mothers' day address of Dr. J. H. Boyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who verbally applied wash, knut and thong to the young women of the present generation who are regarded as the most "quaint biological product of the evolutionary process and the finest flower of ages of civilization and refinement in the history of all eternity by evading the responsibilities of parenthood.

Comparisons were drawn by the pastor between the higher types of womanhood who are refusing home life to wage reform in the industrial world, and the lower type, which is bringing forth a generation of feeble-minded and benumbed morals. His point was illustrated by the case of Ruth Garrison, the 18-year-old girl who recently featured in a Seattle murder trial, and the Lewis boys, 16 and 21 years of age, who figured in the Clarke county bank robbery, whose moral and spiritual natures, he said, had never been awakened whose inner sensibilities had been stifled.

Child Without Honor Peril.
"The possibilities of crime in vitiated character are old stories," said Dr. Boyd, "but what children should command heartless crimes that require a mentality full of cunning is something new in the world. Here we have a concrete illustration of the law of neglect. When a child nature can become so neglected that it is without honor, then it is time for us to stop and investigate such conditions.

"This is Mothers' day, when we celebrate that influence which is the profoundest, the strongest and the most delicate. We can all sit under the tender touches of memory and recall the influences which prepared our own young lives for the combat with the dangers of life. Today the schools and the juvenile courts have had to take the responsibilities which have hitherto remained with the home. Business may be corrupt and politics may be corrupt, but they may be reformed. A home defiled and a childhood corrupted is a civilization destroyed.

Modern Woman Held Fallare.

"The modern woman, the woman of education and refinement, is the greatest failure of modern civilization. Instead of reforming the law of life, she is seeking to reform industry, politics and everything else that has little need of her.

MORAL VALUE REAL MEASURE

Rev. E. H. Pence Tells of Method of Appraising Men.
"You cannot measure a man, that little pigmy of man, by the number of pounds he weighs or the ounces of his brain," said Rev. E. H. Pence of the Westminster church, in his sermon yesterday morning in his sermon thought on "Babes, Stars and Men." He contended:

"Man must be measured by the moral value he gets out of life and puts into life, his hopes and aspirations to live forever. The further the man is from the moral value, the more he is from there. Man is but a reed blown hither and thither by the wind, but he is a reed that can stand before the storm. Man cannot conceive the vastness of the solar system. Man is conceivably little as compared with the vastness of material things, but man has done wonders. He can do more. But he must grow toward his God. One way of finding him is looking at him through the eyes of a child.

STAR OF GOLD DUE MOTHERS

Greatest of World's Uplifting Influences, Says Dr. Short.
A large congregation welcomed Dr. Francis Burgett Short back from three weeks' visit in California at the Wilbur Methodist church yesterday.

The Wonderful Call
When Baby Comes

Like the Blast of Heavenly Trumpet
When Call of Motherhood Is Felt.
Of all the most vital times in a woman's life the coming of a baby is fraught with the greatest meaning. Care should be exercised to insure that all who are not here realize the great responsibility of motherhood. It is a grave and deadly responsibility. To me it is sad and melancholy. The mother is the most vital, most-vital. The attention given in childhood means the man or woman of the future. If the mother is indifferent to her child, the child will be indifferent to her. In the English language which fits her case. She is a monstrosity, I would say."

morning. In his sermon on "Mothers to Whom the World Owe a Star of Gold," Dr. Short said:
"Under the blessing of Christianity, the one great factor that is doing most for the uplift of humankind is motherhood. Nations might forget their once great men and survive, but no man inherits the privileges of life who forgets his mother. The shrine of motherhood should be kept fragrant with the flowers of devotion and loyalty to the noblest of beings which they attend; should remain the centers of love and consideration; they should be abundant in inspirations that point out to us the path that leads to the heights of honor through the fellowship of service.

"Motherhood has left its lasting imprint upon life through four important channels of expression: Social, scientific and patriotic devotion, home making and Christian devotion. Life's activities are bulging with the helplessness that has come from being a child, and the woman's Christian Temperance Union and other kindred institutions; her country and though husbands and sons have suffered and fallen in battle on land and sea, she has even suffered more than they in the quiet loneliness of home mourning their absence.

"Motherhood has ever signified home-making in the home, the throne of glory, though some may look upon it as a place of degrading service; this is a real mother's laboratory wherein continents are discovered and nations born, men developed and the great movements of the world initiated. Motherhood is a distinctive accomplishment and an opportunity of wonderful range and power. I wish we had more mothers who were true to their duty to their families; they might not be required to express that devotion in just the same way that our mothers did, but they should be true to their duty in every life that it touched; that devotion would eliminate many of our divorce fiascos; it would produce a better generation of children and a more unmarried would insure greater care in the selection of life's companions.

"The old-time mother, the mother that benefited her children most, was the Christian mother; the mother that hugged and crooned and sang to sleep her babies, the mother that came from God rather than infringement upon her privileges for having a good time. This old-time mother lived to educate and to lead her children to their own life freely that others might profit by her sacrifice; these are the mothers who are the mothers of the world and they are the mothers to whom the world owes a star of gold."

ALL TRIUMPH DUE TO MOTHER

Pastor Pays Tribute to "America's Noblest and Best."
A special feature of the mothers' day program at the East Side Christian church yesterday morning was the reading by Miss Jessie Lynne Sawyer as a prelude to the sermon, of Eben E. Redford's sermon, "When I Grow Up, I Will Be Like My Mother."

"America is upheld today before the nations of the earth as having accomplished a great feat which had never before been attempted or considered possible. Honors have been heaped upon our president, upon the officers of our army and navy, and decorations have been given to our brave soldiers, but I wonder if the world has not forgotten to pay honor to whom honor is due, tribute to whom tribute is due, for it must be clear to the thinking mind that America is the greatest nation on earth today because America has the noblest and best mothers in the world. Our mothers have suffered and died during the past four years of horror, and because America has lived, treasuring in their hearts, like Mary, the mother of Jesus, the strange sweet promise of God, living to produce every son and daughter in the day of crisis to go forth upon the task assigned them.

"Our hearts thrill with pardonable pride as we hear of the death of the invincible American at Chateau Thierry, Cantigny and that earthy heroism which has made pure, clean and manhood facing death in a moment, the warriors of the world to gasp with astonishment; but I wonder if the world has not forgotten to pay honor to whom honor is due, tribute to whom tribute is due, for it must be clear to the thinking mind that America is the greatest nation on earth today because America has the noblest and best mothers in the world. Our mothers have suffered and died during the past four years of horror, and because America has lived, treasuring in their hearts, like Mary, the mother of Jesus, the strange sweet promise of God, living to produce every son and daughter in the day of crisis to go forth upon the task assigned them.

CLARKE HELD FOR HEARING

Man, Prevented From Marrying by Wife, Admits Identity.
VANCOUVER, Wash., May 11.—(Special)—Edward M. Clarke, 35, was held in an attempt to marry Margaret McGowan here Friday following promissory notes, records and affidavits saw him approach the courtship with his bride-to-be, in the county jail pending a hearing.

The Lumbers Trust company is disposing of $100,000 worth of Lewis county, Idaho, bonds bearing 6 per cent interest and priced to yield 5 1/2 per cent to the investor. The company also is offering $35,000 dike construction bonds of Coville, Wash. District No. 2, to yield investors 6 per cent.

Clark, Kendall & Company are placing Bend school district bonds in the amount of $28,000 at a 5 per cent basis. The issue will mature serially in from 10 to 20 years.

The Ridgefield, Wash., May 11.—(Special)—Major R. S. Stryker returned to his home here on Friday after spending almost two years overseas. The community rejoices in his return, as he was the only physician here for ten years before the war and has hosts of friends.

CONFERENCE POLICY AND OF OREGON BANKERS
Plans Are Completed for Seaside Convention,
SUNDAY OUTING ARRANGED

Men Prominent in State Financial Circles Scheduled to Discuss After-War Problems.

Bankers of Group One, Oregon State Bankers' association, are anticipating a profitable session at Seaside next Saturday. A special call to accommodate the bankers and their wives, sisters and sweethearts will be attached to the Spokane, Portland & Seattle train leaving Portland at 11:15 P. M. Friday, and returning will leave Seaside at 5 P. M. Sunday, affording those who attend the privilege of spending the week-end at the resort. The Hotel Moore has been opened especially to entertain the members of the party.

Rapidly changing conditions call for uniform policy and concerted action by the bankers of the state and in order to discuss the problems of the industrial problems, make this session of the greatest importance. For this reason the bankers are deeply interested in the program. The program will include addresses by E. G. Crawford, president of the Oregon State Bankers' association; Edgar Sensenich, vice-president of the Northwestern National Bank, and C. H. Vaughan, cashier of the Eastern Banking company at Hood River.

L. L. Paret, cashier of the First State Bank at Seaside, is a member of the executive committee, and has made arrangements for special entertainment for the visitors Saturday evening. There will also be an automobile trip to Elk Creek and Cannon Beach resorts on Sunday. Presence of the women folks will contribute materially to the interest and assure a largely increased attendance. Officers of Group One are J. A. Thornburg, Forest Grove, chairman; C. H. Vaughan, Portland, vice-chairman; H. West, Portland, secretary; Percy C. Caulfield, Oregon City, treasurer; Paul S. Dick, Portland; Sherman Miles, Seaside; and W. L. Wright, Astoria, members of executive committee.

Announcement is made by officials of the American Druggists' Syndicate that there are more than 200 stockholders in that corporation in the State of Oregon. It is estimated that more than half of the druggists of the United States are interested in this organization that has a great deal of the jobbing distribution manufacture in that line.

May 15 interest will be due on second liberty loan 4 per cent bonds and also on bonds of that issue converted into U. S. government bonds. Oregon holders of the second issue will receive almost $500,000 in interest on holdings in excess of $2,500,000.

Edward H. Geary, for some time Pacific coast representative of the Chemical Bank of New York, has been elected vice-president of the Security Savings & Trust company and has assumed his new duties and taken up his residence in this city, where he lived when a boy. He is well known on the Pacific coast, having occupied many important positions with banking concerns in Seattle, California, and comes back among old friends in his new place.

Clearings of Portland banks for the last week totaled $28,123,617.10 as compared with $21,547,776.78 for the corresponding week of 1918. Statistics of the credit index, a barometer of the life population, and indicates that Portland has so far been able successfully to overcome the problems of the period of reconstruction.

Supplementary articles of incorporation have been filed with the secretary of the State of Oregon by the First Trust & Savings bank of Portland to change its name to the Bank of Commerce. The bank is located at St. Johns and will soon occupy a new building in the business district.

Morris Bros., Inc. is offering to investors $44,000 bonds of school district No. 24, Baker county, at Haines. The bonds are sold to net 5 per cent interest and are 6 per cent negotiable warrants to mature in 20 years.

Creek county will open bids at Prineville May 23 for the construction of highway construction bonds to the amount of $95,000. This issue was authorized at the election last November, the bonds to bear 6 per cent interest and running for 20 years.

Clark, Kendall & Company are placing Bend school district bonds in the amount of $28,000 at a 5 per cent basis. The issue will mature serially in from 10 to 20 years.

The Lumbers Trust company is disposing of $100,000 worth of Lewis county, Idaho, bonds bearing 6 per cent interest and priced to yield 5 1/2 per cent to the investor. The company also is offering $35,000 dike construction bonds of Coville, Wash. District No. 2, to yield investors 6 per cent.

PAPER MILL WILL EXPAND

Hawley Company to Spend $150,000 to Increase Capacity.
OREGON CITY, May 11.—(Special)—The Hawley Pulp & Paper company has let contracts to the Hurley-Mason company, Portland contractors, to increase the capacity of the wood pulp mill 40 per cent. The expenditure on this work will be $150,000.

This increase was necessitated by the increased volume of business of this paper company and is in addition to the work now being done to the sulphite mill on which $100,000 is being expended.

The work on the sulphite mill will be completed in June and that of the wood pulp mill by October 1.

With these two improvements the output of the Hawley Pulp & Paper company will be greatly increased and more business brought to Oregon City.

MODERN "ISMS" A SIGN OF THE TIMES
Evangelist L. K. Dickson Tears Mask From False Teachings and Declares That Scriptures Foretell Many Present-Day Prophets and Their Doctrines.

Declaring that one of the greatest signs of the second coming of Christ is the prevalence of false prophets and the epidemic of false teachings which is now sweeping the world, Evangelist L. K. Dickson spoke to a large audience in Christensen's hall, Eleventh street, between Morrison and Yamhill, last night on the subject, "Modern Prophets, True and False," and proved his points by the prophecies of the Bible to the satisfaction of those present.

In the earlier days of Spiritualism the spirits taught concerning "First Cause," "Banner of Light, April 12, 1871. This same writer in the publication called "Crucible," April 22, 1871, is reported as a Supreme Spirit even in another Spiritualist work we find the following: "The being called God exists organically, in the form of the being called man."

Evangelist Dickson.
Taking for his text Matt. xxiv. 11, 24, the evangelist said in part as follows: "The time is coming when the application of the Bible and of the surety of Scriptural prophecy (II Pet. 1:19), may be found in the world today as the fulfillment of the words of our text. There are many signs of the nearness of the end of the world under its present condition, and of the glorious appearing of the Lord Jesus Christ before the eyes of men today, but none surpasses in striking fulfillment the sign which is mentioned in our text. The men and women who today have become victimized under the spell of the myriad of diversified false teachings, each one of which claims to have been given perennally given through divine revelation, having attached to itself the name of Christ, now number hundreds of thousands. Never before has any one century been so saturated with these false "isms" as the present one.

"The time is coming when the application of these words of Jesus to His disciples, 'What shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world?' (Matt. xxiv. 3). That throngs of seemingly bright men and women should be deceived by false teachings is a strange thing when we remember the words of Christ (Matt. xxiv. 5): 'For many shall come in my name... and shall deceive many.'

"Satan has always worked out his diabolical plans for the destruction of mankind through deception. Through six thousand years of experience in this art he has learned that men are most easily deceived in regard to religious matters and therefore to the church in the last generation he brings his greatest power to bear in striving for the last time to destroy the plan of God for the salvation of the world. Satan knows that his time is short and therefore he is concentrating his efforts and strengthening his efforts to deceive. (Rev. xiii. 17). It is recorded of the apostle Paul in speaking of the last days that 'wicked men and deceivers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving and being deceived.' (Tim. iii. 13).

"A true prophet, as Jesus speaks for God. The spirit of prophecy is the testimony of Jesus (Rev. xv. 10). It is Jesus Christ speaking through human lips and the prophet may be known by the agency of the agency of wicked spirits and the power of Satan. Their work is to deceive and while they are deceiving those who are not direct inspiration of superior beings, good or evil, it is true in a more relative sense that the concentrated efforts of divine truth may be regarded as God's prophets; and teachers of error may properly be called false prophets.

The prophets of God are teachers of purity, righteousness and faithfulness in warning the people of coming dangers. The duties of those whom God calls to preach in His great name are clearly expressed in the following scriptures (Isa. lviii. 1, 2, 3; Joel iii. 1; 2 Tim. i. 2). False prophets do not improve their work by deceiving those who have warned them of coming danger; but they proclaim peace to the sinner. Their teachings lead from God and his word, they have made the doctrine of the mind. The inspired writers have also spoken definitely of the testimony and work of false prophets (Eze. xiii. 1, 2; Jer. xiii. 1, 2).

After stating the duty of the faithful servant of God to preach the word, to rebuke, and exhort with all authority and doctrine, the apostle says: 'For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine, but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers of itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall receive unto themselves a guide. And that time has now fully come. The people choose pleasing fables, which do not disturb them in their sin, rather than the reproving and searching declarations of the word of God. They love to be deceived by the teachings of false prophets, and say to the seers: See not, and to the prophets: Prophecy not unto us right things, speak unto us smooth things, prophecy deceits.' (Isa. xlii. 19; Jer. xv. 2).

The ears of the people are filled with the pleasing fables of the world's conversion, a good time coming, and that they are entering into the golden or millennial age. The threatening of God's word on the proud, the haughty, the vain, the sinners in Zion, and those who are suffering back by the teachers of these times. Many of them even dare to teach that the moral code of the Ten Commandments is abrogated by the revelation of the new dispensation, and of such teaching, we see in the professed church of Jesus Christ, that it is utterly untrue as Jesus said it would. (Matt. xxiii. 12).

"The most striking fulfillment of the words of our text is found in many of the modern 'isms' such as Spiritualism, Mormonism, Eddyism, and Russelism, all of which are built upon fundamentals entirely foreign to the inspired word of God, the only true guide for the Christian. Here the evangelist cited a number of teachings published by these organizations which he compared with the Bible. He said in part:

"David said, 'The fool hath said in his heart, I will not see God in my generation.' (Ps. lxxiii. 17). 'Banner of Light,' August 8, 1858, a writer in this leading Spiritualist journal said: 'It is just as sensible to pray to the ocean, or the sun, as to the Jewish "unknown Jehovah," or Christian's God.' W. F. Jewesson in debate with Mr. Burgess, said: 'I do not believe in a personal God, but great Freeway Cause, no Creator, Space and the worlds, or the matter composing them, never created anything except 'First Cause.'—Banner of Light, April 12, 1871. This same writer in the publication called 'Crucible,' April 22, 1871, is reported as a Supreme Spirit even in another Spiritualist work we find the following: 'The being called God exists organically, in the form of the being called man.'

And again, 'Man is God's embodiment—his highest, divinest outer elaboration. God then, is man, and man is God.'—The Educator, No. 9, 1888. He is reminded through these quotations of the words of Paul: 'Who changed the truth into a lie, and worshipped the creature more than the Creator.'—Romans 1:25.

In the earlier days of Spiritualism the spirits taught concerning "First Cause," "Banner of Light, April 12, 1871.
