TWO CUPS GIVEN JUNIORS

Herald White and Dorothy Dunlavy Named as Best All-Around Members of Class at Oregon.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, May 11.—(Special.)—The feature of the junior prom last night, which was attended by more than 1000 persons, was the presentation by Governor Olcott of the three cups and eight medals to Arthur Tuck of Redmond, who made such a phenomenal record in the interscholastic track meet here yesterday.

The medals were awarded for the seven first places which Tuck won in the 100-yard dash, the shotput, the high hurdles, the high jump, the 22-yard dash and the javelin, and for second place in the broad jump.

Governor Olcott, in presenting each of the medals, gave hearty congratulations to the 17-year-old lad who won the most yesterday single-handed. The medals for the other men who placed in the meet yesterday were also awarded by the governor.

The Kopl and Gerlinger cups also were presented by the governor at this time. The winners of these two cups, given to the best all-around junior man and woman in the university, had been kept a secret until this time. The Kopl cup was presented to Herald White of Cottage Grove, who, in his junior year, has been president of the associated student body, a member of the chess club and active in campus affairs. The cup is awarded for character, activities, leadership and scholarship.

The Gerlinger cup, presented by Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, member of the board of regents of the university, was awarded to Miss Dorothy Dunlavy of Portland. The cup is presented for womanliness, participation in campus activities and scholarship.

Commercializing Name and Reputation Charged in Proceedings of National Association.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Vincent Richards, the 16-year-old holder of six American national tennis championships, has been suspended from all tournament play by the United States National Lawn Tennis Association in charge of commercializing his name and reputation as a tennis player.

The action disqualifying Richards was taken on grounds that he permitted "use of his name to advertise and promote sale of tennis goods for pecuniary profit, and that he was connected with a firm manufacturing and selling tennis goods, his connection appearing to be of a special nature rather than of a general one to all lines of sporting goods."

Richards won all of his six national championship titles within the last seven months. He is considered the most promising American tennis player developed since the days when Maurice E. McLoughlin, the California superstar, attained international contest prominence in 1914.

Beginning last August Richards started his collection of championship titles by winning the national outdoor doubles with W. T. Tilden. At Forest Hills he won the national boys' singles and junior doubles with Harold Taylor. At the indoor championships in the 7th regiment armory, this city, Richards captured the national junior and senior singles and the senior doubles with Tilden as partner.

HOW TO PLAY GOLF

IN no case is it advisable to prolong the swing beyond that point when the club becomes horizontal and it should not be taken so far if the player feels that he is losing control over it.

That is the best rule in the matter—keep the club from being taken an inch farther back than that point at which the player has the fullest and most absolute control over it. If this is lost for an instant at the turning point of the swing, the consequences may be feared, and most of the care which was lavished on the preliminary movements will have been wasted.

Besides, in the case of very long swings there is always a strong tendency to cut the ball from the top of the swing, and the result is a slow, ailing drive, which has already been said about not letting the right elbow get too far away from the body during the upward swing, it will be found, or should be, that at the top of the swing it is not more than six inches away—that is to say, not an inch further away than is consistent with keeping the swing in a free-and-easy manner.

While it is of great importance for the sake of both accuracy and power that the swing back should be made slowly, as already directed, the player must guard against any tendency to make a pause at the top point. The beginner, in his deliberate and very conscious efforts, which are never more conscious than at this turning point of the swing, when he feels an enormous sense of responsibility, regularly comes to a full stop here, and the result is practically to destroy all the value of the upward movement. It is just the same as if the club had been poised in the air and the whole thing begun from the top point. There should be nothing in the nature of a sudden jerk from the top of the swing, but the downward movement should be begun as soon as the upward one has ceased.

CALIFORNIA GOLERS TO VISIT NORTHWEST

C. H. Davis Says 15 or 20 May Play at Waverley.

NEW LINKS STAR RISING

Clark Speirs, 18 Years-Old, Beats Walter Fovargue and Has Promising Future.

C. H. Davis, Jr., captain of the Waverley Country club team, returned from an extensive trip through California last night, he announced the arrival of the cleverest southern golfer who will attend the Pacific northwest golf championship which opens in a month or two at the links of the Spokane Country club.

"I talked with Willie Locke, professional instructor," said Captain Davis. "He said that the main topic of California golf nowadays was a trip to the northwestern golf links. Douglas Neville, A. H. Vincedane and Ted Riley assured me that they were coming."

Captain Davis intimated that a team of 10 California golfers may come to the Waverley Country club some time this summer for competition against the Waverley team. Captain Davis' idea is to have half of the California aggregation selected from the northern and half from the southern part of the state.

Some of the devotees of the ancient Scotch pastime who will come north for competition against the Waverley players and to participate in the northwest championships are: Douglas Grant, Robert Y. Hayne, Robert J. Coleman, Jr. and H. Vincent of Earlingsmead; John P. Neville, Frank Kales of Claremont; Vincent Whitney, Cyril Tobin, San Francisco Golf and Country club; K. Johnston and F. H. O'Keefe, San Jose; Ervin S. Armstrong, Robert J. Cash, Norman Macbeth and J. C. Niven, Los Angeles; W. Campbell, Virginia; W. B. Ewing, Eugene; and George Cline, San Gabriel. Everything depends on whether or not the Californians can get away from business for a long enough holiday.

Captain Davis played over nearly all of the California courses and personally talked with many of the prominent players of the southland. He spent considerable time at Del Monte, Pasadena, Los Angeles, Inglewood and at the San Francisco Country and Golf club.

David Findlay, golfing professional at the Flatland, is the only one of those golfers who play with a white collar at all times. Professional Findlay is an "plain as an old shoe" on the links and plays in the same clothes in which he comes down town and attends to his duties at the club while he is in the country. He is in the habit of putting on a golfing costume," says Mr. Findlay, who is getting excellent results at Tualatin.

Clark Speirs is the newest discovery in the northwest. He was formerly a caddy on Seattle's municipal links and either exclusively or in alternate fashion contest last week between the Grays Harbor Motorship corporation and the Ames Shipbuilding company of Seattle, Wash. Speirs, who is a native of Scotland, won two points, the youngster having a medal score of 151 for 18 holes in the last round of the contest won by 15 points to 12.

Carl Hulskamp's Seattle Golf club team will meet the team of the Waverley Country club here soon. Mrs. Carl Hulskamp is the captain of the women's team. The district's best players, Hulskamp were residents of Burlington, Cal., all last year, and both have many golfing friends there and at Del Monte. In the country that did not exceed its quota was Springfield.

Golf has been firmly planted in the lodges of California Elks. The Sacramento herd has issued a challenge to any of the brotherhood of the coast. The 48 lodges of the Elks of California, and the Elks of Napa will journey to Sacramento May 25 in quest of a "closed shop" clause. No. 142, could turn out "some team. Why not?"

J. W. Byrne, national figure as a golfer was explaining the other day the secret of his success in achieving holes in one. "The difference between the ordinary player and myself in playing a one-shot hole," he facetiously, "is that he only plays for the green, while I invariably aim at the hole." Speirs, who is a native of Scotland, announced that in over 20 years of golfing, 3000 rounds or so—fortune has deposited my ball in the hole just four times."

Manager "Whitey" McBride's Cornfoots did not go to Woodburn yesterday owing to the rainfall in the morning which caused the Woodburn management to telephone Manager McBride that the game postponed. KIRKPATRICKS BEAT CAMAS

Blyden and Wax composed the battery for Heale's side, while Gains and Byers, Gains, the Camas chucker, is a big fellow with a lot of stuff and, according to experts, has a promising future.

PROTEST TO GET HEARING

Billiard Victory of Cannefax Contested by Loser.

NEW YORK, May 11.—A protest of the victory of Robert Cannefax of Chicago in the recent world's championship three-cushion billiard match, made by Alfred Hays, of Cuba, who lost the title, will be considered by an arbitration committee of three. De Oro charged that Cannefax made a foul during the second night's play by hitting the white ball twice with his cue.

Sidelights and Satire.

Talk may be cheap but not when a ballplayer is talking truculently to an umpire. When "Babe" Ruth fouls out to "Slim" Hays, there is something feminine in the play—Ruth to Hannah.

"To my way of looking at it the Beavers don't need another pitcher any worse than a trolley car needs tracks," remarks Earl Raines Goodwin, sport columnist who admits that General Pershing lent some valuable aid in winning the war.

There is no 20-50 in oil stock. It is either a good buy or a boob-ty. In the old days they used to call horse-racing the sport of kings. It is still the sport of kings, as a few ex-kings have become hostlers to owners of race horses.

RAIL PROBLEMS ARE HUGE

Congress Will Be Asked to Approve $750,000,000.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Senator Cummins, who is expected to head the Interstate commerce committee in the next congress, announced yesterday on his return to Washington that he planned to have early consideration given to the railroad problem. Immediate financial legislation for the railroad administration, he declared, is necessary.

"I expect that we will have to ask for a billion dollars instead of the $200,000,000 proposed at the last session of congress," Senator Cummins declared. Director-General Hines "agrees absolutely" as to the fundamentals of the railroad legislation.

LANE EASILY RAISES QUOTA

County's Victory Loan Subscriptions Go Beyond Mark.

EUGENE, Or., May 11.—(Special.)—Lane county had exceeded its quota in the Victory loan by $14,150 at noon today, when the last count was made for the banks of Eugene. The county's quota was $657,000, but the report showed sales of $671,150. The Eugene banking district, one of the two in the county that had lagged behind up to the last day, easily won the big one. The district's quota was $483,975 and the amount subscribed through the three local banks up to noon Saturday was $485,250. The only bank in the county that had not exceeded its quota was Springfield.

STRIKE DEMAND AT ISSUE

"Closed Shop" Clause May Be Decided for Spokane Teamsters.

SPOKANE, Wash., May 11.—Acceptance of the "closed shop" clause in the teamsters' and chauffeurs' union demands is expected to be decided at a meeting of union officers today at the arbitration board Monday at 10 o'clock. Several hundred members of the union have been out on a strike since the union board's attention is the "closed shop" clause. A five-hour session of union leaders with the employers' committee today failed to reach an agreement.

ARISTOCRACY IS SCORED

Front with the Cross' are now England's two best-sellers. Chaplain Tiplady was induced to come to speak on behalf of the war reconstruction part of the Methodist centenary $105,000,000 programme, an last hour of the First Methodist Episcopal church he spoke on behalf of the drive which opens next Sunday.

The aristocrats of Great Britain fought like—had almost said like gods," said the British padre, as the "Tommys" nicknamed their Wesleyan chaplain. The aristocrat who failed to join the colors at the outset of the war was an outcast. It was not a matter of conscientious objection, but of maintenance. Aristocrats fought magnificently. They fought side by side with the lowest. Their women worked like Red Cross. Their younger women joined the "Waves" and cooked and did the clerical work and everything from which a man could be served at the base camps in France.

"It was Utopia—but only for a fortnight. But, however terrible the experience they had undergone, the thing would reassert itself. 'What's bred in the bone, you know.' 'Now what do we see? Sooner than work—by that I mean go in for business or work with their hands—England, members of the aristocracy would commit suicide. Money from land is all well and good; money from business is common. War modified this for a time—but only for a time. If they have to work to live, they'll go to Canada or to the United States, but in England, never!'"

"So the British working man sees that to be a gentleman he must have leisure and money; his son must not have to work. And that brings our social unrest." "Anthem making headway" was the query. "Never in England," he said. "In the first place, Christianity and Bolshevism are apart. In the second place, most of our labor leaders, I am glad to say, are Christian men. What labor in England wins it will win by organization—and I should not be surprised to see the next parliament a labor body—but never by Bolshevism. England is the last place in the world where Bolshevism will rear itself."
