"A proclamation:

"The Boy Scouts of America have ren-dered notable service to the nation dur-ing the world war. They have done effective work in the liberty loan and war savings campaigns, in discovering and reporting upon the black walnut supply, in co-operating with the Red Cross and other war work agencies, in acting as dispatch hearers for the com-mittee on public information, and in ether important fields. The Boy Scouts have not only demonstrated their worth to the nation, but have also materially contributed to a deep appreciation by the American people of the higher con-ception of patriotism and good citizenship.

Citizen Support Is Urged.

"The Boy Scout movement should not only be recognized but strengthened. It deserves the support of all public spirited citizens. The available means spirited citizens. The available means for the Boy Scout movement have thus far sufficed for the organization and training of only a small proportion of the boys of the country. There are approximately 10,000,000 hoys in the United States, between the ages of 12 and 21. Of these only 375,000 are en-rolled as members of the Boy Scouts of America.

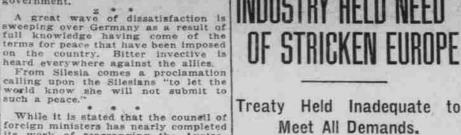

"America cannot acquit herself com mensurately with her power and influence in the great period now facing her and the world unless the boys of America are given better opportunities for the responsibilities of citizenship. Don't Be Afraid, Good Friends of Russia; Don't Rejoice, Our Enemies! Russia Will Emerge Free, Strong and United !"

Says Catherine Breshkovsky in

"STRUGGLING RUSSIA"

A New Weekly Magazine Devoted to Russian Problems

Russia Will Emerge Free, Strong and United!

Leonid Andreiev, the famous Russian writer, in his "Appeal to Humanity" says: "N OT for the Russian people do I pray for help. To save the Russian people is too great a problem, and God alone is the master of its life and death.

In these sorrowful days when the scorn and laughter of fools is the lot of great and trampled-in-the-dust Russia, I bear with pride my Russian name, and firmly believe in the future and glory of Russia. Such giants like Russia cannot perish! Whether the Allied Governments come to Russia's aid or she is left alone to free herself from the putrid swamps, it matters not. In the destined hour Russia will rise from her grave, will come out into the path of light and will take her place amony the great nations of the earth."

("Struggling Russia," April 26, 1919.)

Catherine Breshkovsky, "The Grandmother of the Russian Revolution," says:

* R USSIA will emerge free, strong, and united! Nature itself has constructed her to remain in her entirety. It is the Ukraine that fed all of Northern Russia, giving her excellent wheat and several kinds of grain so much needed all over the country. It was she who furnished all Russia with her garden fruits, the delight of our children. After the Ukraine, it was the Donetzky Basseyn which enabled the Moscow region to develop its industry, supplying it with millions of tons of the best coal, giving heat and light to millions of people.

What would Russia be without the Ural, with its stores of every kind of mineral, metal and precious stones, its beautiful mountains covered with mighty forests, with rich meadows giv-ing the best of grass to feed millions of cattle? Linen and hemp are supplied by Little Russia, and cotton by the Province of Tashkent. Oil, naphtha and kerosene are ob-tained from Baku, which yields these treasures in sufficient quantity to satisfy all the demands of Russia's interior shipping and other industries. Certainly, oil is not the only material from and other industries. Certainly, oil is not Russias interior snipping and other industries. Certainly, oil is not the only material from the Caucasus that enriches Russia. There is another immense Province that presents Russia with no lesser gifts—Siberia. For a long time this vast Province has been considered by the Rus-sian people its treasury of gold, silver, precious furs and lum-ber, in quantity sufficient for many centuries.

And in their turn all these Provinces are in need of the region which has Moscow as its center, for all Russia's industry was concentrated here owing to the fact that the dense popula-tion of 'Great Russia,' gathered here through political need and historical developments, could not depend upor the natural products of its own scanty soil and was forced to apply its energies to industrial work.

Textiles, wares and other goods were manufactured around Moscow in great quantities and there was not a nook in Russia that did not use goods manufactured in Moscow. Thus, every Province was always certain that all its needs would be satisfied by the industrial center and always looked upon that center as a part of itself.

Once Russia is free, she will unite around her all those who seek freedom and peace, who desire to live together in friendship. She will exist as a strong Federal Republic, protecting every nationality within her boundaries."

Russia's Sacrifices in the World War

"Russia will rise from her grave," says Leonid Andreiev. The civilized world should understand that Russia's temporary ruin is the consequence of her participation in the War; that Russia is lying in seas of blood and tears because she has sacrificed everything for the Allied cause.

The diagram below is prepared on the basis of figures published by Gen. March, Chief of the General Staff of the

The Russian People Against Bolshevism

The plague of Bolshevism has struck Russia because the terrible sacrifices of the first three years of War have exhausted the nation, undermined her industries, commerce, transportation and finance. But the Russian people have fought, are fighting, and will fight Bolshevism to the very end.

If you want to understand why the people of Russia, not only the Russian middle-class but also, and especially, the Russian peasantry and workingmen are waging open war against the Bolsheviki; if you want to know why not only the Russian liberals, the Constitutional-Democratic Party, but also the People's Socialists, the Social-Democrats Mensheviki and the Party of Socialists-Revolutionists are engaged in a death struggle with Bolshevism-read the following telegram of the British High Commissioner, R. H. B. Lockhart, to the Secretary of Foreign Affairs of Great Britain, Mr. Balfour. Thestelegram is dated November 10, 1918, and here is its full text:

"THE following points may interest Mr. Balfour:— 1. The Bolsheviks have established a rule of force and oppression unequalled in the history of any autocracy. 2. Themselves the flercest upholders of the right of free speech, they have suppressed, since coming into power, every newspaper which does not approve their policy. In this respect the Socialist press has suffered most of all. Even the papers of the Internationalist Mensheviks, like Martov's, have been suppressed and closed down, and the unfortunate editors thrown into prison or forced to flee for their lives. 8. The right of holding public meetings has been abol-

3. The right of holding public meetings has been abol-ished. The vote has been taken away from every one except the workmen in the factories and the poorer servants, and even amongst the workmen those who dare to vote against the Bolsheviks are marked down by the Bolshevik secret police as counter-revolutionaries and are fortunate if their worst fate is to be thrown into prison, of which in Russia to-day it may truly to be thrown into prison, of which in Russia to-day it may truly be said, 'Many go in but few come out.' 4. The worst crimes of the Bolsheviks have been against their Socialist opponents. Of the countless executions which the Bolsheviks have carried out a large percentage has fallen on the heads of Socialists who had waged a life-long struggle against the old régime, but who are now denounced as counter-revolu-tionaries merely because they disapprove of the manner in which the Bolsheviks have discredited Socialism. 5. The Bolsheviks have abolished even the most primitive forms of instice. Thousands of mer and women have been shot forms of justice. Thousands of men and women have been shot without even the mockery of a trial, and thousands more are left to rot in the prisons under conditions to find a parallel to which one r ast turn to the darkest annals of Indian or Chinese history.

6. The Bolsheviks have restored the barbarous methods of torture. The examination of prisoners frequently takes place with a revolver at the unfortunate prisoner's head. 7. The Bolsheviks have established the odious practice of taking hostages. Still worse, they have struck at their political opponents through their women folk. When recently a long list of hostages was published in Petrograd, the Bolsheviks seized the wives of those men whom they could not find and threw them into prison until their husbands should give themselves up. 8. The Bolsheviks who destroard the Pursies areas and into prison until their husbands should give themselves up. 8. The Bolsheviks who destroyed the Russian army, and who have always been the avowed opponents of militarism, have forcibly mobilized officers who do not share their political views, but whose technical knowledge is indispensable, and by the threat of immediate execution have forced them to fight against their fellow-countrymen in a civil war of unparalleled horror. 9. The avowed ambition of Lenine is to create civil warfare throughout Europe. Every speech of Lenine's is a denunciation

The diagram speaks for itself. As far as Russia is con-cerned, the statement of Gen. March is based probably on information transferred to this country from Copenhagen. The Copenhagen dispatches underestimated the Russian casualties in this War. A pamphlet issued by the Committee on Public Information under the title "A Tribute to the Allies" esti-mated the total Russian casualties in this War, including war prisoners, as 12,000,000, of whom 3,000,000 were killed or died of wounds.

The estimate of the Committee on Public Information cor-responds with the data of the Russian General Staff. Rus-sia's sacrifices in this War are not less than 3,000,000 dead, and about 1,000,000 disabled for life. Russia is lying in seas of blood and tears because she has sacrificed everything for the Allied cause.

of constitutional methods and a glorification of the doctrine of of constitutional methods and a giornication of the doctrine of physical force. With that object in view he is destroying syste-matically both by executions and by deliberate starvation every form of opposition to Bolshevism. This system of "terror" is simed chiefly at the Liberals and non-Bolshevik Socialists, whom Lenine regards as his most dangerous opponents. 10. In order to maintain their popularity with the work-ingmen and with their hired mercenaries, the Bolsheviks are paying their supporters enormous wages by means of an unchecked paper issue, until to day money in Russia has naturally lost all value. Even according to their own figures the Bolshevika' expenditure exceeds the revenue by thousands of millions of rou-bles per annum.

These are facts for which the Bolsheviks may seek to find an excuse, but which they cannot deny."
