The Country Over

savings deposits have increased per capita 27.7 per cent during the four-year war period. The Pacific States have increased 46.9 per cent.

These figures are interesting, showing how the lesson of thrift has been learned by Americans. But there are adults who have not yet learned to save, and thousands of children who must be taught the lesson.

One of our home savings banks will aid in saving loose change that might otherwise be trifled away. It holds all sorts of coins, also bills, is convenient in size, and good looking.

Start the family on the thrift road. It leads to success and independence.
