KLAMATH FALLS. Or., May 15.—
(Special.)—Stephen B. Gardner, resident of this county for 25 years, died here recently. He was 77 years of age. He fought in the Indian wars of 1855, and took the first flock of sheep into Curry county... Mr. Gardner was a member of the Masonic lodge. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Nellie Bailey and Mrs. Viola Liebert of San Francisco, and four sons, E. H. Gardner of Sonth Kiamath; D. W. Gardner of North Bend, and G. A. Gardner of Jackson-ville. And the municipal of th Mr. Deich does not believe there is a chance for successful prosecution of Mrs. Middleton for murder, owing to the death of Tuck. Evidence now at hand is not enough to convince the most simple-minded jury of her guilt, said the deputy, and unless something turns up to throw a clearer light on the mysterious death, there will be ne prosecution. DENCE OFFERED IN SUIT. District Attorney Active. "While I am not yet informed of all the facts in the matter, the affair cer-tainly will bear investigation," said District Attorney Evans.' "I presented McReynolds Alienation Hearing Entimily will bear investigation," said District Attorney Evans. "I presented it to the grand jury on the showing made thus far and left it to them to take such action as they see fIC" There is no action which the grand jury can take in the matter from the standpoint of criminal prosecution, but, if it finds gross neglect in the treat-ment of the sick man, it way roturn a report for public consideration. "There is nothing personal in the charges I have made," said Mr. Collier as he left the grand jury room. "I am other poor devil, arrested while ill, will not be slammed in there and left to die, without a change of securing medical attention. NEWPORT, Or., May 15 .--- (Special.)---The Portland fish market may be seri-ously affected in the near future by the laying up of ocean-going fishing craft. The halibut fishermen are so dissatis-fled that they have decided to demand higher wages than are offered at

The Newport Ice & Fish company is paying 7% cents a pound for halbut and 3 cents for black cod. The com-pany buys from independent fishermen and asserts that it is only offered 9 cents a nound for ballbut and must cents a pound for halibut and must furnish ice and boxes and pack the fish for shipment. Oscar Klinge, president of the com-

Oscar Kinge, president of the com-pany, says there is less demand for fish than before the armistice was signed, when the government advocated eating fish in place of meat. He says it costs half a cent a pound to ship fish from Seattle to Portland and 2 cents from Newport. Last year fisher-men were paid 13 cents for hallbut and 6 cents for cod

Concrence Is Proposed.

The fishermen express the belief that the cold-storage men are trying to lay up a lot of fish at lower prices to be sold at a big profit next winter. They say that consumers in the large cities and towns are charged enough though fish has not advanced in price in proportion to other food, to entitle them to better wages. Never has there been so much discontent or so many boats tied up at Newport with crews ready to quit.

made in a statement issued yesterday by Dr. Parrish. "Eugene Tuck was brought into the city jail on May 9," reads Dr. Parrish's statement, "and the same day was taken to the emergency hospital in a state of complete collapse. He was given a large dose of bromides, which seemed to aid him. At the same time he was also given a bottle of cough mixture with instructions as how to take it. Mrs. W. A. Elvers, nurse in the emergency hospital, saw him once or twice each day thereafter. "On Tuesday morning, the 13th, at 9:30 o'clock Dr. Ziggler and myself called at the police station to examine another prisoner. While there our at-tention was called to the condition of Tuck. The history of his case was taken. The patient was ordered to be placed in bed, to be alone and not to be moved. A dose of calomel and salts was ordered. Ancient Treaty Cited in Claim for Restoration of Fishing and Hunting Rights. After two days in Portland in con-sultation with their attorney, Erskine Wood, a party of six Nez Perce Indians headed by their chief, Yellow Bull, left Wednesday for their reservation, 12 miles from Lewiston at Lapwai, idaho. The Indians brought to Portland with them a treaty signed years ago during Indian wars, which pledged them fish-ing and hunting rights now taken away by federal laws. It was in an effort to restore their original rights that they made the trip to Portland. Only one member of the group. Ed-ward Paul, has an extensive command of the English language.
