

CITY GIVES SOLDIERS JOYFUL RECEPTIONS

Old Third Oregon Members Happy to See Portland.

MR. BIGELOW LAUDS MEN

Companies E, F and G of 162d Infantry Get Enthusiastic Greeting as Train Arrives.

Literally with open arms Portland greeted companies E, F and G of the 162d infantry, which spent yesterday afternoon and evening in Portland on their way to Camp Lewis to be mustered out.

The troop train, which arrived in Portland at 12:35 P. M., was met by hundreds of joyous parents, relatives and sweethearts. Tickets to the train shed were given out beforehand at Liberty temple to immediate relatives only.

Some of the boys were unable to wait until the train stopped for a glimpse of the windows and leaned far out of the windows. There were tears in the eyes of the infantrymen and their home folks, but many incidents served to keep the entire party in jovial spirits.

After ten minutes the informal reception at the union depot was broken up by the officers, who commanded the men, preceded by the Red Cross band, to march up victory way to the Liberty temple. The band actually arrived in sight of the temple three or four minutes before the arrival of the boys.

Waiting on the steps of Liberty temple, in addition to relatives and sweethearts, were members of the color team of the auxiliary to the United Spanish War Veterans, each waving his silk American flag.

Mr. Bigelow lauds men. "America," led by Walter Jenkins of the Y. M. C. A., commenced the Liberty temple formal reception. Frank Hilton, secretary of the civic reception committee, introduced C. A. Bigelow, acting mayor, for the address of welcome.

Lunches were served on the banquet plan, according to the description given by one pleased soldier. A trio composed of Walter Jenkins, Walter Hartwick and P. H. McCoy sang a number of selections, while both Mr. Jenkins and Mr. Hartwick also sang several solos.

Some mothers disappointed. Workers at Liberty temple saw a side to the reception and celebration yesterday which the majority of 162d men and their friends did not notice. A number of men who were expected by their parents did not arrive and disappointed mothers came to the temple for news that might explain their absence.

DEMOCRATIC ROWS STAGED IN PORTLAND

State Chairman Refuses to Call Conference.

DOCTOR POINTS OUT WAY

Election of National Committeeman to Attend Chicago Convention Purpose of Meeting.

Inasmuch as H. G. Starkweather, democratic state chairman, has refused to call a meeting of the committee to settle the deadlock over the vacancy of national committeeman, Dr. J. W. Morrow, member of the state committee for Oregon, has issued a call, thereby stirring up excitement among the brethren.

"Irresponsible and presumptuous," is the way the Starkweather backers refer to the call.

Thus is another chapter written in the row in the executive committee of the party in Oregon.

Dr. Morrow calls meeting. It is the contention of Dr. Morrow that the vacancy should be filled by the state committee rather than the executive committee.

Opponents of Dr. Morrow contend that he is trying to jump through a program; that the notice is so short that only a few committeemen are likely to attend.

Senator Chamberlain Target. "If I had been elected earlier I intended sending a democrat to Chicago to represent Oregon."

Back of the attitude of Chairman Starkweather, the colonel and Mrs. Thompson is said to be a determination not to elect anyone as national committeeman.

Dr. Morrow is catalogued as a Chamberlain man. This the doctor denies, saying that he will support the primary election.
