DOMESTIC RELATIONS COURT IRKS JURISTS

Circuit Bench and Judge Tazwell to Suggest Head.

JACOB KANZLER MENTIONED

Three Candidates Will Be Named From Among Whom Governor Will Select Appointee.

Official recognition of the right, announced three weeks ago in The Oregonian, of County Judge Tazwell, embryo circuit judge, to have a voice in the selection of the three men to be recommended to Governor Olcott as eligible appointees for judge of the court of domestic relations, was reached at a meeting of the Multnomah circuit bench yesterday afternoon in the chambers of Presiding Judge Sta-

The conference lasted less than an hour and was adjourned without dis-cussion of applications received or the merit of various candidates. The judges decided to weed out the unde-Heien Agnes Ann. The same day the law creating a court of domestic relations goes into operation, Judge Tazwell is raised to circuit bench, hence he will be invited to take part in the discussion and voting. An opinion from the secretary of state to corroborate the exact date the law is operative will be asked by the presiding judge before the meeting Captain Kanzler Mentioned.

A complete list of 32 names, in-cluding all candidates for the position who have made application for the judgeship or who have been mentioned for it by their friends, will be sent around to the other members of the by Presiding Judge Stapleton y. will be made will be held in strict privacy, as the judges have shown a decided dislike to having the methods by which they arrive at their selections flaunted before the public in the daily press. At least that was the opinion of the majority yesterday. Not that the decision was to be a cut-and-dried affair, in which political supporters and personal friends would receive extra consideration, press representatives were informed yesterday, but because it was really none of the public's affair and personalities which might be brought up in consideration of certain candidates would prove embarrassing if generally known.

There may be a little difficulty in reaching an agreement, but Judge Stapicton declared that the judges would continue in session until a decision was made. Judge Gantenbein favors a free discussion of all candidates and an open ballot. Judge Morrow says he will vote only if the ballots are secret. Judge Gatens declares he will submit a list of names and say: "Gentlemen-eny of these men are satisfactory to me; let's go." Judge Stapleton insists that the men will not be picked from any motive other than fitness. Judge Kayanaugh asserts that he has no idea Kavanaugh asserts that he has no idea who he wants as yet, and desires to talk things over. So there is opportu-mity for a little judicial argument.

He made it clear that when the new crop begins to move in about six weeks, it is "quite to be expected that flour prices will moderately decline and it is hoped no advance in bread prices will be necessary between now and the DREW WINS BRITISH BRIDE new crop on account of higher prices ruling for the limited amount of old flour still in this country."

The president further empowered Mr. Barnes to license the wheat-handlings trades, making proper regulations to make effective the guaranty price.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Julius H. Barnes, federal wheat director late to-day formally notified L. F. Gates, president of the Chicago board of trade, that the exchange should reinstate the rule limiting the amount of open trades in corn for any one interest or individual to 200,000 bushels.

His suggestion was designed to prevent undue speculation.

If the Chicago board complies with his suggestion, Mr. Barnes will feel justified in cabling Herbert Hoover, director-general of the food administration, that further regulation "may according to an announcement made by his parents last night.

It also was pointed out that, in leaving the room of the slain man the murderer had to pass the door of Mrs. Cisco's room. It is believed that the murderer saw Mrs. Cisco sitting up in bed, fired two or three shots at her from the hall and then shot her in the head at close range.

Secretary Baker Announces Plan for Future.

A. E. F. SCHOOLS SUCCEED

Military Science Would Be Subordinated to Vocational and Academic Work.

WASHINGTON, May 16. - Secretary Baker is expected soon to make public announcement of a definite stand in favor of universal educational military training, with a statement of his reasons. It is assumed here that President Wilson has approved his plan.

The plan understood to be favored by Secretary Baker contemplates the use of the military establishments as a medium for training the youth of the nation: First, along academic and vocational lines and, as an entirely separate and subordinated feature, in rudimentary military science. The sec-retary's suggested programme is said to be based initially on the benefits which will accrue to the country from the higher average of intelligence and the improved standard of physical wellbeing of the young men who would b taken annually into the training ma-

The favorable results of the operation of the A. E. F. university sys-tem are believed largely to have brought Mr. Baker to his opinion. No only have the thousands of soldiers in France shown great eagerness to avail themselves of the opportunity of exchanging "guns for books" but the progress made under the specially selected instructors and with the carefully designed schedules has been so fully designed schedules has been s rapid as to surprise prominent educators connected with the work. More the comparatively short time over, given to military routine has proved ample to keep the individual soldier in trim for field service should emergency

While the secretary's announcement sumed here that his advocacy of a form of educational military national training will mean the inclusion of some such plan as a basic part of the military policy to be laid before con-
