THE MORNING OREGONIAN, THURSDAY, MAY 22, 1919.

Physician Goes East Prepared to Spend Part of $10,000 Won on Wilson's Election in 1916.

Every democratic national com-mitteeman west of the Missouri river received a telegram yesterday request-ing him to visit western headquarters in the Congress hotel, Chicago. Dr. J. W. Morrow, newly elected democratic national committeeman for Oregon, paid for the messages yesterday just before he bought his transportation for Chicago. This morning the doctor will leave for the meeting of the na-tional committee. tional committee.

Accompanying Dr. Morrow will be W. D. Bennett, who is not only sec-retary to the national committeeman, retary to the national committeeman, i but is also secretary of the far-famed Jackson club and secretary of the democratic county central committee. Mr. Bennett will open headquarters Monday and will be prepared to dis-tribute literature telling of the glories of the Portland Rose Festival and the beauties of the Columbia river high-

If it is in the cards, Dr. Morrow wants to have a western headquarters for the democratic party established in Portland. This is his idea in getting all the western national committee-men in his room at the Congress hotel. He will not ask that an Oregon man be placed in charge, but will suggest that some man familiar with western political conditions be given manage-ment of the western division. Having won $10,000 on the election of Wilson in 1916, Dr. Morrow is willing to devote some of this sum to making a showing for the democracy of Oregon. That he will be seated as the na-tional committeeman Dr. Morrow has no doubt, notwithstanding that there are rumors that political enemies of the doctor are figuring on sending another claimant to Chicago for recog-nilion. If was not decided yesterday just who might be sent by the opposi-tion. There had been some talk of Postmaster Myers, but as he recently had a trip to Washington, it was the opinion that someone else should baye
