Selfish League Denounced. Declaring nationalism, which sought to bring prosperity to one nation at the expense of others, is a Germanic document, and that no league of nations composed of purely selfish nations can be successful...

Dr. Faunce's address on "The Church and Social Reconstruction," sounded the keynote of convention work. Settlement of international relations and cooperation was urged.

"Labor that degrades and stunts the personality cannot be tolerated in a Christian land," he said.

Speaking of the present social and industrial unrest, he said: "On the whole I would prefer the tyranny of a single autocrat to the tyranny of the hydra-headed mob."

At tonight's session the convention had before it the report of the survey board which has been estimating the needs of all departments of church activity for the next five years.

SUFFERED PAINS OF RHEUMATISM FOR MANY YEARS

St. Louis Resident Regained Her Health When She Used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"I had been helpless from rheumatism for years though I have suffered from the disease almost as long as I can remember," says Mrs. G. E. Poole of 2522 Semple street, St. Louis, Mo. "Rheumatism had me so strongly in its grip that I couldn't get up unless assisted and I was such a cripple that I couldn't move without help. My ankles and knees were badly swollen. My appetite was poor and I suffered frequently from severe headaches and pains around my heart. I was unable to sleep at night because of the pain. I was so helpless at times that I could not even hold a cup to my lips. "A friend of my husband recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and he got a package for me. After taking the first box I received the only relief I had had for years and I was entirely free from pain and in a few months I was well. I can get about without any assistance and without pain. My appetite and strength returned and the headaches left me. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to many people. 91ST DRIVE FOR CITY COSTS MANY LIVES

1200 Casualties Suffered in First Five Days.

GERMAN SPIES ARE ACTIVE

Replacement Troops, in Battle for First Time, Unable to Use Methods for Protection.

BY COLIN V. DYMENT, American Red Cross Searcher with the 91st Division.

Forty-fourth Article. About 250 91st men were killed or fatally injured in the five-day drive for the city of Audenarde, and about 850 wounded, and the 1200 casualties, many of which by good fortune were slight, more than half were sustained on October 21, the first day.

The country between the Waereghem, Steenbrugge road and Audenarde, eight miles, was a country of small Belgian farms, but each man lived on his land and had a set of farm buildings, unlike the custom in France, where the farmers all lived in villages and went out with their teams to the farms.

Buildings are hard things to fight among. They provide admirable cover. Soldiers can go into the gutters, cut holes through the roofs and get fine observation and distance; machine guns can shoot from the parlor windows or from behind the head of a bed.

The drive for Audenarde, with its casualties, will be further described tomorrow, and the 31st serial will end this afternoon with the conclusion of the fighting in Belgium.

off at the waist, and down into the hole made by the shell and seemed to be sitting up.

Brave Officer Falls. Lieut. Fletcher of A, being passed, went to the rear, and with captain and first lieutenant both gone, liaison with first battalion F. C. half a mile back, sent runners without result, so Lieut. Howard H. Van Voris, first battalion intelligence officer, of 505 North N street, Tacoma, offered to go.

He went on up to company C and told Lieut. Captain Thornton, command of Los Angeles, pointing to a wooded hill across a small gully, to which Captain Chase advised him not to go, as the hill had not been cleared out yet.

The lieutenant, however, went across anyway, taking the lead of his patrol. As he passed through the front lines, lying in cover, he was again told the hill had not been occupied by American troops, but the brave Tacoma man, presumably desiring not merely to find company A but to ascertain in what strength Fritz held the hill, entered the woods. A burst of machine gun fire met the patrol and all dropped. They lay a couple of minutes, then Van Voris said, "Come on, men," and stood up. A second burst killed him and the patrol retired. This was three-quarters of a mile southeast of Waereghem, at the edge of the forest.

A third northwest officer whose mind was still the end on his duty was killed this morning. Lieutenant Albert M. Closterman of 468 East Sherman street, Portland, who on the 21st was in command of company C, 362d infantry. He had started forward with Acting First Sergeant Arnold R. Pratt, Sergeant George Tyson of Phillips, Wyo., Private Franklin Lester of 23 South Eighth street, followed by Sergeant Carl E. Caldwell of Fairfield, Ill., Private Earl Baker, and three others.
