HOOD RIVER STILL BLOOMS Apple Trees in Upper Valley Continue to Wear Spring Decorations. HOOD RIVER, Or., May 23.—(Special.)—Colonel and Mrs. W. F. Tucker, here yesterday from their "El Corregidor" in the upper valley, state that apple blossoms will be remaining next Sunday on the higher levels for visitors who may desire to motor from Portland to see the trees in bloom. "Our community is now at its spring-time best," said Colonel Tucker. "The wild shrubs are beautiful, and the different shades of greens on the folds of the hillsides are wonderful. Our orchards are magnificent with blossoms. Dwarf quince trees at our place, their blossoms of pinkish tint, have been very appealing this week."

MELODRAMA HUGE AFFAIR "AN AMERICAN ACE" AT ORPHEUM CONTAINS 11 SCENES. Lincoln J. Carter, Renowned as Spectacular Playwright, Author of Latest Sensation. The biggest production ever staged in vaudeville is the headline attraction of the Orpheum show booked for seven performances at the Heilig beginning with the matinee tomorrow. It is "An American Ace," a condensation of a five-act play written and devised by Lincoln J. Carter, who is known as "the king of spectacular stage effects."

The stars of the act are Taylor Granville, who adapted "An American Ace" for vaudeville, and Laura Pierpont. "An American Ace" is the largest production in vaudeville not only because of its stage equipment but for the size of the company, more than 30 persons taking part in the melodrama and several extra stage hands and electricians being required to work the scenic and lighting effects. The melodrama has 11 scenes. An air battle is one of the features of the act, the hero downing three Hun planes. Other scenes include a trench section which is said to be the most realistic trench scene ever devised; an attack with bombs from a cathedral tower; explosion of oil tanks of the enemy and wrecking of an inn by a bomb which crashes through the roof. The Orpheum show of which "An American Ace" is the stellar attraction will close with the matinee next Wednesday.

BODY ADOPTS RESOLUTION OPPOSING DRY LAW REPEAL. Demand for Better Teaching of United States History in Public Schools is Made. HILLSBORO, Or., May 23.—Adopting what was practically a duplicate of the resolutions of the Presbyterian general assembly condemning President Wilson for recommending repeal of war-time prohibition, the state grange went on record as emphatically opposing repeal. When the report of the committee on roads was taken up, the one-mill tax for market roads was indorsed, and also the Roosevelt highway, the latter with the qualification that it be built by direct taxation instead of being financed by the issuance of bonds. The committee on forestry recommended that a state forestry service be established to purchase timber lands now in private hands, and that they constitute a permanent forest reserve. This was adopted with the recommendation that the state also purchase the logged-off lands and reforest them for future generations. A resolution indorsing the league of nations was adopted, and government ownership of railroads, with public stocks to be operated in the interest of the producer and consumer, was also advocated. More thorough teaching of political economy, civil government and United States history in the public schools was urged and the superintendent of public instruction was requested to provide means for teaching these subjects. The Grange also recommended that the teaching of farm accounting and bookkeeping be made compulsory in the rural schools. Last night 157 candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the state degree, the work being put on by the Washington county Pomona team. A banquet was served after the initiatory ceremonies. Bend was selected for the meeting of the 1920 state grange.

Vancouver Soldier Returns. VANCOUVER, Wash., May 23.—(Special.)—Winifred Matson, son of Henry Matson, living near Vancouver, who, as a member of company A, 395th regiment of the 77th division, was in the actual fighting on the western battle front, returned to this city today. He was engaged for 22 days in the fighting in the Aronne forest, and was at the Meuse at the time the armistice was signed.
