FALING APPEAL IS ASKED

JUDGE REFUSES TO FILE FINDINGS WITH DECREE.

Fee of $20,000 Awarded to Attorneys for Proponents of Famous Will Case.

Notice of appeal to the circuit court from the decision of County Judge Tazewell upholding the validity of the will of Xarifa Jane Faling was filed yesterday by Coy Burnett, E. E. Heckbert and Russell E. Sewall, attorneys for the contestants, following a somewhat heated argument in which an attempt was made to compel the court to file his findings with his decree in the case.

The decree merely states the decision of the court, the findings explain how that decision was arrived at and the attorneys maintained the explanation should be a part of the record for the information of the higher court. The judge did not coincide with that opinion.

A fee of $20,000 was awarded attorneys for the proponents of the will by Judge Tazewell at the conclusion of the hearing yesterday. This is one of the largest fees yet given in a will case in Multnomah county and is only a payment on account. The lawyers will have another bill to present, for the case has been fought through higher courts. The fee goes to Attorneys Logan, Wilson and Labbe.

Some Inside Facts About Buying a Fine Watch

Let us suppose you are determined to own a watch which cannot be excelled anywhere in the world. Price is no object. Your watch must be superlative. You want the world's finest timepiece.

You go to a jeweler in your city. He carries imported watches and a full line of American watches. But he is quite apt to judge quality according to price, and to feel that the high-priced imported movement must of necessity be a finer timepiece than an American watch whose price is lower.

He shows you a Swiss watch. He tells you about its workmanship and beauty, and he also tells you what it will cost—anywhere from $500 to $1,000.

Oh, yes, of course he has cheaper Swiss watches, but here is the real watch.

Being a layman, you are unfamiliar with watch-making. To you a watch is a mystery, a complicated mechanism of springs, wheels, gears and pinions. So perhaps you buy a foreign watch because of its novelty of appearance—the case, the dial or the hands.

You carry that watch for three months, six months, possibly a year. Then things begin to happen to it. Something goes wrong.

Waltham Colonial A. Extremely thin at no sacrifice of accuracy. Maximus movement, 21 jewels. Riverside movement, 19 jewels. $135 to $255 or more depending upon the case.

It needs repairing. You take it back where you bought it. After waiting a long time you are presented with your watch and with a stiff repair bill.

But here's the most disheartening thing of all—it will be a chance in a thousand that your watch is the same again in time-keeping, and the dependability you thought it possessed, simply because it was built by one craftsman 4,000 miles away, each part laboriously made by hand.

A broken part or a disarrangement of its mechanism meant that your watch had become diseased—and only its creator could effect a cure.

So the moment you bought your fine and terribly expensive Swiss watch you bought a liability. It was so delicately, so personally created, that even your careful usage was rough treatment.

Now let us talk about a watch that is better in workmanship, superior in material, sturdier in service, absolutely accurate in time-keeping and infinitely lower in price, yet as beautiful, as elegant, as any foreign built watch the high class jeweler pays duty on.

The Waltham Colonial A, Maximus Movement, is as fine a watch movement as the world can produce.

Here is a watch upon which has been lavished over fifty years of American mechanical improvements in watch-making.

It is a watch that has made the eyes of Swiss craftsmen glisten with wonder and admiration. It actually possesses a superiority of material which no Swiss watch, if you pay $2,000 for it, can surpass.

- List of Waltham watches and prices: 10 Ligne (Ladies) $68 and up, Men's Opera $50 and up, 7 1/2 Ligne (Ladies) $150 to $1,000, Colonial A (Men's) $135 to $255, Jewel Series (Ladies) $31.50 and up, Colonial Series Riverside (Men's) $65 and up, Vanguard Railroad Watch $52 and up, Cadet D. S. Gold Back (Strap) $22 and up, Colonial Royal (Men's) $51 and up, No. 1420 (Men's) $34 and up.

A like movement, called the Waltham Premier Maximus, has invariably defeated at the world's greatest exhibitions all other watches—a watch movement that has commanded more Kew Observatory A certificates than any other watch in the world.

Suppose you bought a Waltham Colonial A Maximus—you have made a lifetime investment in accurate time-keeping, in dependability, at less than one-third of what an imported watch of the same grade would cost you.

You then own a watch that under any circumstances of accident or injury cannot become a liability. It can be easily and quickly repaired. Every part is standardized. It is cased, timed and adjusted with scrupulous care and skill at Waltham.

Twenty-one jewels are incrustated in its perfect mechanism. It is beautiful to look at—slender, yet with something symbolic in line and curve of American strength and lastingness.

The Waltham Colonial A Maximus Movement has every quality of supremacy. It is a watch that will become an heirloom for your children, which can be said of innumerable Waltham timepieces all over this land.

We have told you faithfully the Waltham message, but there are many things which your dealer can demonstrate and add thereto.

Go to any Waltham dealer—and that means the leading jeweler in this city,—he will show you Waltham Watches ranging in price, for gentlemen, from the Cadet Strip Watch, with gold covered back, at $22 up to the Waltham Premier Maximus at $530. And, for ladies, the Jewel Series from $31.50 upward to that exquisite tiny watch (its movement is actually smaller than a dime in diameter) which sells from $150 to $1,000 or more—according to the case.

Waltham 7 1/2 Ligne. The movement is actually smaller than a dime in diameter. $150 to $1,000 or more depending upon the case.
