ITALIAN SOCIETIES UNITE—Italian societies of Portland, 12 in number, have formed a federation, or central council, which will serve to keep the membership in touch with various movements. Hereafter when the Italian societies are invited to participate in the Rose Festival, Fourth of July or some other enterprise, instead of having to take up the matter with each of the dozen societies, the central council will meet and call representatives from the various units and the matter can be quickly acted on. Angelo Corallo is the honorary president and the other officers are: President, O. Colistro; first vice-president, Mrs. Jennie Corallo; second vice-president, Mrs. Corallo; secretary, D. Rinaldo; assistant secretary, P. C. Colistro; treasurer, G. Staal. The executive committee consists of representatives of the following organizations: Christoforo Colombo, Mazzini, Bersaglieri, Forester, Druids No. 2 and No. 4, Rivendotti, Truisti ed Echasse, Unione dei Giardinieri, Circolo Regina Margherita, Italian Relief club, Italian-American Republican club and Congregazione della Immacolata.

INSTRUCTOR READS OWN POETRY—Charles Wilber Snow, instructor in English at Reed college during the past term and director of the Reed extension course in modern poetry given at library hall during the winter, read poetry of his own writing before an informal gathering of Reed students and faculty members in the social room last evening. The reading consisted of lyrics, colorful sketches, dramatic poems and narrative bits, picked up by Mr. Snow in his travels over the states and Alaska and drawn from his experiences as an officer-instructor of artillery for 18 months.

R. S. M. EMERICH DIES AT ALLEPO—J. J. Handaker, state director of the American relief committee, received word yesterday that R. S. M. Emerich, who went to the far east with a large corps of workers and supplies, had died recently at Allepo. The news came by radio from Constantinople. Mr. Emerich was well known here. Before his death he sent word that cholera was raging and that the people were starving and more relief should be rushed immediately. Mr. Emerich accompanied four ship loads of supplies.

POLICE OVERSIGHT UP MONDAY—The hearing set to determine whether police officers of this city are to be paid for overtime, when they are called upon to perform duties other than patrol, or patriotic work, has been postponed until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The meeting had previously been set for tomorrow morning, but inability of several of the members of the city council to attend a meeting tomorrow may make it necessary to postpone the meeting.

MILITARY TRAINING THE TOPIC—Universal military training will be the theme before the Oregon Civic League tomorrow at the regular weekly luncheon at the Benson hotel. Dr. Calvin S. White will speak in the affirmative and Otto Harnisch, president of the Oregon State Federation of Labor will take the negative in the debate. The public is invited to attend the meeting, which opens with the luncheon at 12:15 P. M.

WOMAN TRIES SUICIDE—Mrs. A. C. Travers, 30, attempted suicide yesterday by drinking carbolic acid in her home at 512 Corbett street. The ambulance service company took her to Good Samaritan hospital. Her act is attributed to despondency over domestic troubles. Hospital employees reported to the police that the woman had tried to kill herself before. Her condition is serious.

LIQUOR AUTOMOBILE IS TAKEN—George E. Knowlton and Florence Knowlton were arrested at midnight Wednesday for driving a motor car without a license. The car was a 1918 Buick, with a high proof whisky. Deputy Sheriff Lamont, Bailey and Wilson took them into custody. They were released on bail of $50.

SUIT FILED FOR $5000—John Chmela filed suit for $5000 damages against the Northwest auto company for the circuit court yesterday for injuries received at Third and Couch streets March 24, 1919, when an automobile struck him.

COMMUNITY CLUB TO MEET—The South Mount Tabor Community club will give the 20th of a series of free weekly entertainments this evening in the assembly room of the Joseph Kellogg school, Sixtieth street and Powell valley road. Features of the evening's programme will be a memorial address by E. D. Timms and an address on "Reconstruction Measures" by H. L. Idelman. A short business meeting will be held following the programme and all residents of the community are requested to attend. The programme will be in charge of the Boy Scouts, with George Chisum as chairman. The club recently purchased a motion picture machine, which will be installed in a short time. An outdoor amusement committee is being organized to take charge of the outline of the weekend outings for the summer.

BARGAINS IN STRAW HATS—The American Red Cross shop is now having a sale of men's straw hats. "We have accumulated a large number of men's straw hats of the vintage of last season," said Miss Helen Whitney, secretary of the Red Cross Shop, 70-72 Third street. "These are some of the best bargains the shop has ever offered and while women are the largest customers of the shop, I think men who want to buy straw hats will find it well worth while to drop in and take a look at these."—Adv.

WOMAN SLUGGED, IS CHARGE—Mrs. Loredo Dentler, 47 Ella street, reported to the police that a robber had slugged her on the street in front of her home Wednesday night, and had robbed her of her purse and jewelry. She said she had descended from a street car and was on her way home when the robber, who had followed her from the car, struck her with his fist and knocked her down. The assailant fled towards the river. Police were unable to capture him.

Magnetism of Hand Wins Place in Recruiting Staff.

Officer Thinks Applicant Has Ability to Draw Men Into Army.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—(Special.)—Francis B. Arnold walked into the army recruiting office at 660 Market street today and said he wanted to enlist. Sergeant Harrison inquired what Arnold's qualifications were, to detect his qualifications. He said he was a miner what branch of the service he preferred. Arnold picked up a ruler, placed it across the palm of his hand and challenged Harrison, who weighs 250 pounds, to pull it off. Arnold said not close his hand, but Harrison with all his strength could not move it. "The magnetic forces" was Arnold's explanation.

"Well, we'll put you into the recruiting service right now," said Harrison. "Maybe you can draw in a few more recruits."

So its Private Arnold, of Colonel Gardner's recruiting squad.

POLICE CHANGES ORDERED

CAPTAIN HARMS TRANSFERRED TO GREATER ST. JOHNS BERTH.

Four Detectives Added for Early Morning Duty at Headquarters.

Joe Day in Charge.

Chief of Police Johnson yesterday announced that he would add four men to the inspectors' bureau, enlarge the St. Johns precinct and place Captain Harms in charge of that section, as one of the first measures of building up the police bureau. The men sent to the detective office are: Sergeant Joe Day, formerly in charge of the St. Johns precinct and Patrolmen Cahill, Hill and Morris.

Joe Day was for years in the inspector's department before his transfer to St. Johns. It is expected that he will take charge of the detective office at night. Hill and Cahill formerly worked as detectives and Morris as a patrolman. Joe Day has considerable experience as a private detective when he cleared up some of the hardest cases ever handled by Portland sleuths.

Chief Johnson said he had changed the St. Johns district before he changed the headquarters to look after traffic. Chief Johnson sent him a note assuring him that his work in the detective office had been satisfactory and that the transfer to St. Johns was because that precinct is to be enlarged so that it is necessary for a captain to be in charge of it.

The St. Johns district will in future include University and Columbia parks. Chief Johnson said he was having headquarters for those districts at St. Johns will improve police efficiency there, inasmuch as the two parks are too far from the downtown headquarters to get reinforcements in case of need.

The contemplated changes include establishment of a second night relief in the inspectors' bureau, which has been closed at 12:30 A. M. The new appointees will be on the second relief. The changes, according to Chief Johnson's order, are effective June 1.

FORMER WIFE IS REWED

David Culy of Gresham Returns to Love of 20 Years Ago.

When David Culy of Gresham announced a week ago that he was going to California for the summer his friends did not know he was not going alone. He kept his secret almost to his wedding day, which was last Saturday. His wife was Mrs. Oryl Mack of this city, who was Mrs. Culy 20 years ago when she and her husband separated. Mr. and Mrs. Culy will make their home in Portland when they return from California.

VALLEY TOWNS PROSPERING

WILLAMETTE REGION ENJOYING SPURT IN ALL BUSINESS.

Wheat, Small Fruit and Berry Crops Promise Record Yields—New Buildings Are Started.

Willamette valley towns that were complaining a year ago of the loss of population due to war industrial activities in the cities where shipbuilding plants were located are now enjoying a spurt in all business. The valley is crowded and there is a shortage of houses for residents, according to John M. Scott, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific Oregon lines, who returned yesterday from a trip to Independence, Dallas, Sheridan, Albany and Salem.

Accompanied by H. A. Hinshaw, general freight agent, the trip was made to confer with business men and shippers regarding the business outlook for the seasonal traffic.

The outlook was never better than at the present time for bumper crops and reports received indicate that the Willamette valley will harvest immense yields of small fruit, prunes and grain. It is expected that there will be a larger wheat crop than has come from the valley in many years, much of it grown on lands that have been developed under the stress of effort by farmers to increase production of foodstuffs in response to the appeal of the government food administration last year.

Salem is experiencing a remarkable revival of business in all lines and the hotels there are turning patrons away because of the exceptionally heavy travel.

Prevailing cool weather has been most favorable to the growth of loganberries and the outlook for that crop in the valley is the best in the history of the loganberry industry. Officials of the Pheasant Products company at Salem are making preparations to handle the disposal of the large quantities of the product which will be shipped to the departments of their plant and out of the valley.

Building operations are beginning to take shape and improvements are under way or being planned in many of the towns and cities. The progressive business men of the valley are alert to the demands of renewed commercial activities and setting about to take up the slack in the production of foodstuffs in response to the appeal of the government food administration last year.

FIRE HORSES IN FAREWELL

Parade of Victory Rose Festival Their Last Appearance.

The farewell public appearance of horses belonging to the Portland fire bureau will be made in the floral parade of the Victory Rose Festival, according to announcement made yesterday by City Commissioner Bigelow, in charge of the fire bureau.

At the present time the city is awaiting bids for six fire trucks, which, when purchased, will place 12 horses out of commission. The fire bureau has an appropriation to purchase four large pumps, which will be bought some time this year, according to Mr. Bigelow. The pumps will put the remaining 15 horses in the department out of duty.

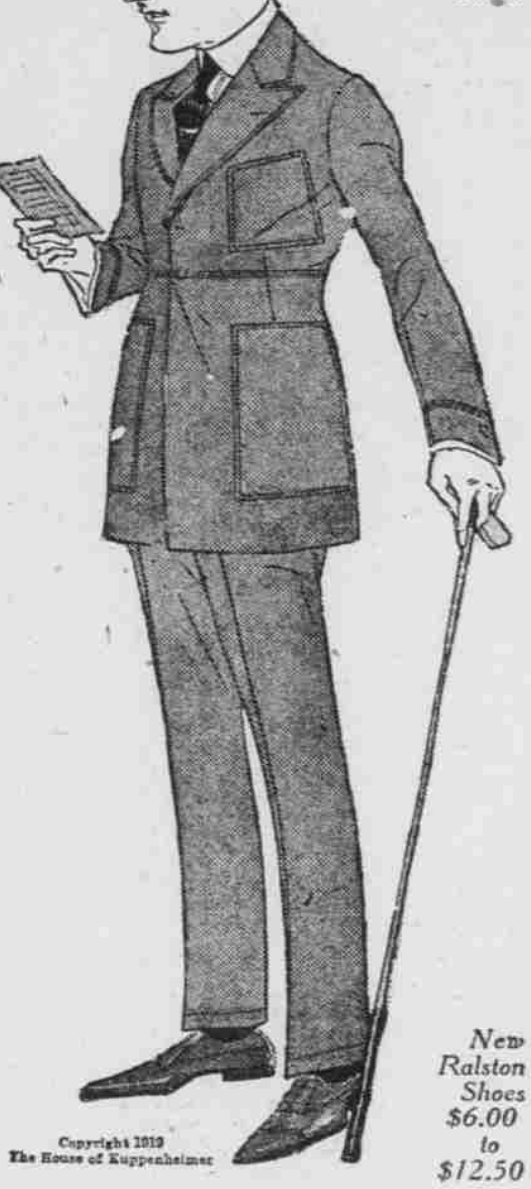

Special decorations are planned in connection with the last appearance of the horses, it being planned to include some mottoes in flowers to indicate the farewell appearance of the faithful animals.

At the Theaters.

Hippodrome.

"LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE" has come to the Hippodrome to stay the rest of this week and she does all the very things James Whitcomb Riley told about in his famous and beloved poem. The text of the poem has been followed faithfully and many lovely interesting interpretations made. All of it is especially attractive in view of the general beauty of Riley's poem and a happy ending adds a new angle. Dream pictures of the fairies and the "goblins that get you if you don't watch out" furnish a delightful novelty in the picturization. The play is in six reels and a group of extremely talented players will travel throughout the northwestern states.

WORKERS NEEDED IN DRIVE

Short of Minimum Amount.

That the lack of workers, especially of substantial business men who will actually devote a few hours a day to the work, is the dominant factor in the failure of the Jeanne d'Arc $100,000 drive to go as well as it should, is growing more and more evident, as people who want to contribute to the fund, yet at the end of a week have not been solicited, are calling up the headquarters and asking that a solicitor be sent. Some are mailing checks voluntarily or are stopping at headquarters to deposit their checks or cash.

The drive campaign will continue throughout the week, as it is absolutely necessary to secure $40,000 before possession of the new residence hall may be taken. Incomplete returns at headquarters show something over $22,000 collected. At the meeting of the state council of the Knights of Columbus held Sunday it was decided that the state should take up the matter of local campaigns at once, each one to be asked to raise at least $1000. As an evidence of good faith the men attending the council raised $200 among themselves.
