(Continued From First Page.) country, rough and hilly, with no place to light in time of trouble, the type of plane adopted should have more than one motor.

Wrong Course Spotted. "I was looking for a golf links," explained Lieutenant Peters, "and there was the Waverly club spread out beneath me. I circled down for a landing, but there were no markers nor were there any evidences of the other planes."

Officers' Remarks. "Mr. Albert is 80 years old," said Governor Olcott, "but he was wild to go adventuring in the clouds, and my chief regret just now is that he had to remain behind. By gosh, it was great."

Members of the reception committee were William McMurray, chairman, W. E. Conklin, Richard W. Childs, H. C. von Borstel, chairman of the aviation committee; Milton Reed Klepper, president of the Aero club of Oregon; A. M. Grille, and Adjutant Carolyn Jones of the motor corps of the National League for Women's service.

PLANES LEAVE SATURDAY

The squadron will leave Portland for the return flight to Mather field early Saturday morning, according to an announcement made last night by Colonel Watson.

Its route will include Albany, Springfield and Cottage Grove on Saturday, landing at the latter city that night; Sunday flight to Grants Pass and Ashland, reaching Grenada, Cal., that night and resuming the homeward flight the following morning.

Colonel Watson said that on the flight to Portland, little attempt had been made by local committees to keep the crowds away from the planes and he requested that on the return flight action be taken to prevent similar situations.

CORVALLIS ACCLAIMS BEVAN. Crowds Cheer Getaway of Town's Native Air Pilot.

CORVALLIS, Or., June 10.—(Special.)—Corvallis bade good-bye to the De Havilland four here this afternoon at 2 o'clock by the ringing of bells and blowing of whistles.

The Curtiss planes are equipped with Hispano-Suiza motors, developing 150 horse power at 1450 revolutions, and fly at a speed of 80 to 90 miles an hour. They weigh 2200 pounds, and will climb 1500 feet.

The squadron of planes will make its first exhibition festival flight at 10 o'clock this morning, from Eastmoreland field, the municipal golf links, bearing the following civilians as passengers, all of whom are to report promptly to Milton R. Klepper, president of the Aero club of Oregon, at the field.

BETTER ORGANIZATION SOUGHT

"For many years I have been convinced that boxing in this country is handicapped because of the absence of a proper organization to look after its interests."

"Boxing was in an even worse condition in England when Lord Louisa had the moral courage to come forward and establish the National Sporting club and a board of boxing control."

"All honor to you for having done the same thing in accepting the presidency of the army, navy and civilian board of boxing control, which I understand Colonel Roosevelt would have done had he lived."

"I feel that in being responsible for the exhibition between Willard and Dempsey, it is in my power to do something to strengthen the authority of your board, and after discussing the matter with the board, which I understand Colonel Roosevelt would have done had he lived."

"I will be obliged if you could inform me at your earliest convenience of the decision of your board in the matter."

WILLARD GOES 12 ROUNDS. Dempsey, Suffering From Wound Over Eye, Unable to Continue Ring Work; Crowds Visit Camp.

TOLEDO, O., June 10.—Tex Rickard, promoter of the heavyweight championship contest between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey here July 4, tonight requested Major Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, president of the army, navy and civilian board of boxing control, to select the referee for the contest.

Rickard said Willard and Dempsey had agreed to accept the selection of the board.

Rickard in his letter to Major Biddle suggested the board name all of the officials to be connected with the contest, which includes the referee and two judges, if the board so decides; to appoint the official timekeeper and to alter any conditions of the match which the board believes will be helpful to the glove sport.

Willard covers four miles. Willard covered four miles on the road this morning and boxed several rounds this afternoon. The cut over Dempsey's eye did not permit the challenger to do any glove work.

Rickard's letter to Major Biddle follows: "I am writing to you in your capacity as president of the army, navy and civilian board of boxing control."
