Through the courtesy of Captain E. W. Spencer, owner of the Baby Bell, that famous little hydroplane will be seen in action this afternoon.

The Baby Bell will hold the 16-foot championship of the Pacific coast, and as far as known, it is the fastest 16-foot boat in the United States. Orlo Kendall, former chief pilot of the Willamette bug, has been overhauling the Baby Bell and will drive her this afternoon. The Volger Boy III and other fast boats will compete in the speed races.

IDAHO MEN ENTER MEET

THREE-POINT WINNERS WILL COMPETE IN P. N. A. EVENTS.

Philbrook Makes Effort to Have Jack Merchant, Berkeley Star, Take Part in Games.

George Philbrook, manager and coach of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club track team, who is managing the Pacific Northwest association championship gathering on Multnomah field Saturday afternoon received the entries from the University of Idaho and the Chemawa Indian school yesterday.

The University of Idaho will be represented by three of the stars of its northwest conference championship squad, Richmond, Irwin and McCaulie, all point winners. Richmond is considered the best college sprinter in the northwest and won the conference title by breaking the tape in the 100 in 16 seconds flat, a feat that he has been turning all season. Richmond will also enter the 220-yard dash in the P. N. A. meet. Irwin will enter the field events and is recognized as the premier shot of the northwest. He has a mark of 128 feet in the discus and throws the javelin 160 feet. McCaulie will handle the 440-yard dash. James Choate, Albert Spearson and George Thomas will compete under the colors of the Chemawa Indian school. Choate will enter the broad jump, Spearson the mile and Thomas the 880. All three of these men were contenders for first honors at the Columbia university indoor meet at the coliseum in April and will have to be reckoned with Saturday if they have improved.

The latest athletic satellite that Philbrook is after to enter the P. N. A. meet is Jack Merchant, the brilliant University of California all-round man, who was high point winner at the Pacific coast intercollegiate conference meet in Seattle several weeks ago. Merchant is at present in Berkeley, Cal., and Philbrook sent him a telegram last night asking him to participate in the meet.

A beautiful trophy cup will be at stake for the high point winner of the P. N. A. meet, the honor of which having been made known, and among the athletes who will have an excellent chance to capture it will be Willard Wells, Arthur Tuck, Milton Hunter, Ralph Spearson, Richmond, Irwin and Merchant. Both the track and field events promise to furnish a great fight for supremacy.

DOG GETS MAN IN TROUBLE. Two Pets Shot in Neighborhood Row. Warrants May Issue. LOS ANGELES.—Three dogs, a motion-picture actress, two men and a 22-caliber rifle got all mixed up in Police Judge Richardson's court, and after all the testimony was in the court announced that he might order complaints sworn out for every body implicated, not excepting the dogs.

As nearly as any one was able to learn from the testimony offered by a score of witnesses, Gladstone Beaman, of 2442 Winslow avenue, who was being tried on a charge of shooting two dogs, the property of Miss Betty Compton, a film actress, and G. C. Peckham, both neighbors of Beaman, the trouble all came up over a female dog owned by the defendant.

The dogs owned by Miss Compton and Peckham, according to Mr. Beaman, insisted on calling upon his dog, and after attempting to keep the strangers from his back yard on several occasions, he armed himself with a small rifle and shot them.

The two visiting dogs, both of whom were attacked, according to Miss Compton and Peckham, from the rear, are ruined for life, and their owners yesterday requested Judge Richardson to find Beaman guilty.

COAST BOYS IN THE BIG LEAGUES—BY CHRISTY WALSH.

HE DROVE IN MORE RUNS LAST YEAR IN A "PINCH" THAN ANY MAN IN EITHER BIG LEAGUE

JACK GRANEY PRODUCT OF THE CANADIAN SNOWBALL LEAGUE

GLADSTONE'S SEMAPHORE SYSTEM WOULD HAVE THE BOLSHEVIKI RED SOX IN A RIOT EVERY INNING.

It was an ill wind that blew Buddy Ryan into the hospital and through the fortunes of baseball. It was the same little zephyr that breezed Gladstone J. Graney into the outfield of the big leagues. One afternoon in 1909 Portland was battling at Los Angeles when Buddy Ryan, the heavy-hitting Heaver, broke his leg. Gladstone Graney—better known as Jack—who had been used by the team as one of McCredie's pitching mainstays, was immediately shoved into Buddy Ryan's job. For the remaining two months of the season Graney played star ball in the outfield and was annexed by Cleveland in 1910, where he has been doing garden work ever since. Graney's best claim to diamond fame is the fact that he won more games last year by hitting in the pinch than any man in the American or National leagues. His pinch-hitting average is second only to that of Chet Thomas, his teammate, but is more effective in point of games won. Graney was born in St. Thomas, Canada, and started as a twirler for a semi-pro club in the dominion. He has probably invented more hit-and-run signals than any man in baseball. One Sunday in Portland he was standing on first base, expecting the hit-and-run sign from Boston Garter. The favorite with well-dressed men the world over.
