

FIGHT FOR SHRINERS' CONVENTION NO DOUBT

Portland Nobles Use Roses and Logan Juice in Campaign.

15,120 DRINKS ARE SERVED

Al Kader Delegation With Band Is Prominent Everywhere in Indianapolis, Showing Much "Jazz."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 11.—(Special.)—The battle for the 1920 Imperial session of the Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, continued throughout the day between the rival nobles representing Portland and New Orleans.

Portland was busy distributing roses, being certain to see that the work was the first consideration in their distribution. "Win the women of the Shrine and we will win the 1920 session," the Al Kader boys said, "we have not bad philosophy at all. Sooner or later all wayfarers go to the Portland and New Orleans headquarters, just to see whether anything has developed or is developing, a brother from Portland was in a statistical frame of mind today, he said, "we had the jazz music going and people crowded in to dance. That made them hot and the Al Kader boys said, 'So they crowded over to the refreshment booth, over there, and clamored for more and more loganberry juice. Let me figure a minute and I'll tell you how many drinks we served from 10 o'clock in the morning until we ran out, at 10 o'clock night.

Many Drinks Served. The noble produced a pencil and paper and figured for a while, "that's right, but it does look big. You see, we served 126 gallons of the juice and it makes 126 drinks to the gallon. When you multiply 126 by 120 you get 15,120."

The wayfarer man looked and was convinced that the Portland delegation had served 15,120 drinks of loganberry juice. The stock has been replenished and the refreshment booth is just as popular as ever.

Although there are scores of bands here representing temples in every section of the United States and Canada, the band from Al Kader temple is carrying off more than its share of honors. The Portland nobles are liberal with their music and don't have to coax to play. In making the rounds to the various hotel lobbies they have been called upon for dance music and it is said that the Al Kader temple band partners—no matter whose sweetheart or wife she may be—and a full-fledged dance is on.

Department Stores Visited. The Al Kader temple band made a trip through a number of the large department stores this afternoon and clerks were found to be busy as they were lifted over the counters as dance partners. The aisles served as dance floors, there is not a band nor patrol in Indianapolis having more fun than the Portland Shriners and they appear to be "live wires" from the word go.

SPOONER LONG SENATOR

16 YEARS' PUBLIC SERVICE HAS LEFT WISCONSIN MAN POOR.

One of Ablest Constitutional Lawyers Gives Best Part of His Life to His State.

NEW YORK, June 11.—John Coit Spooner, former United States senator from Wisconsin, died at his home in this city early this morning, after an illness of several weeks, was 76 years of age.

Sixteen years a United States senator from Wisconsin, each one of which, in the words of President Roosevelt, was a direct financial loss which he could ill afford. John Coit Spooner relinquished the position with which the legislators of his state had thrice honored him, and retired in 1907, two years before his completed term, to re-enter the private practice of law and acquire a competence for his family and himself in his declining years.

Regarded as one of the ablest constitutional lawyers, a brilliant debater and one of the greatest authorities on international law in the upper house of congress, Senator Spooner, like a few of his famous colleagues notably Rouse Conkling, John G. Carlisle, Thomas Brackett Reed and George F. Hoar—left public office a poor man. During the 12 years of his public life, the naval stores and Oregon-California land grant cases.

Born in Lawrenceburg, Ind., January 6, 1842, the son of Judge Philip Spooner, who removed to Madison, Wis., when John was 16 years old, the future senator received his A. B. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1864 after having served with distinction in the Union army in the civil war, and for gallantry in the battle of Gettysburg, and brevet major shortly after reaching the age of 31.

First elected a United States senator in 1885, he served until 1891, when he was succeeded by William F. Vilas, Democrat, receiving, however, the full vote of the republican members of the legislature for re-election.

SHORTHORN SHOW IS FEATURE AT UNION

CATTLE DISPLAY IS LARGE

Draft Horses Attract Attention of Many Farmers—Prominent Stockmen in Attendance.

BY O. M. PLUMMER. UNION, Or., June 11.—(Special.)—Undoubtedly the management of the Union Stock show have a stand in with the weather man. For the past four seasons they have held their show with the best of weather conditions prevailing, and so it is today.

All the highest priced Shorthorn females that have been sold at public auction in the past two years in the states of Oregon and Washington will be seen in various classes. Breeders who have shown their cattle on the circuit in the northwest admit it is harder to win a grand championship at Union than at any other show held in the three northwestern states. All the cattle barns are full to overflowing with Shorthorns, Herefords, Friesians, Holsteins, Ayrshires and Brown Swines.

Entries have been made from Union, Baker and Grant counties as well as from the state of Washington in the cattle division. Tractor enthusiasts would meet a rude awakening at Union as the best classes of drafters of representative breeds are to be seen. There is keen interest in the horse classes. Local horse interests are receiving more support this season in the way of large entries than in several years past, and the type of drafter that is being inspected these days by the admiring multitude is the kind that will establish solid credit with the banker. Speculators from all surrounding counties as well as some from Portland are flocking in. Mr. McAllister, field man of the Union Stockyards of Portland, O. M. Plummer of the Pacific International, Judge Thorburn of the Agricultural college at Corvallis, are here and stockmen from over the state are pouring in.

Judging of pure-bred draft horse classes is nearly completed with the following results: Grand champions—Clydesdale stallion, Chief Under, Ledbetter & McKennon, Alleci; mare, Lady Jean, J. E. Reynolds, La Grande; Perchon stallion, Salem, C. R. Hunter, Island City; mare, Agnes, eastern Oregon experiment station, Union; Shire stallion, Wilson, Idaho, W. R. Ledbetter, Alleci; mare, Ocoo Flower, W. R. Ledbetter, Alleci.

Prison Scenes Realistic.

Although it is against the law to photograph the interior of any state or federal prison, the scenes in "Blackie's Redemption," a thrilling "crook" story, in which Bert Lytell is starred, are authentic to the last detail.

Director Ince was lucky enough to obtain the advice of Sheriff Larimer in building the "sets." Mr. Larimer is sheriff of Los Angeles and his knowledge of criminal life was invaluable. "Blackie's Redemption," which is being shown at the Peoples theater, is the second of the clever Jack Boyle stories of the underworld in which Mr. Lytell is starred. The first was "Boston Blackie's Little Pal."

New Bill at Sunset.

The Sunset theater opened yesterday with two feature pictures, in which Charles Ray is seen in "A Nine o'Clock Town" and Mable Normand appears on the screen in "The Slavey's Beau." Both pictures are comedies of the finest type. In "A Nine o'Clock Town" Ray runs true to form by portraying a simple and ambitious youngster who is awkward and uncouth. So clever is Ray's portrayal of the country chap that the humor is saved from any resemblance to the usual slap-stick screen play and takes on the finesse and art of a classic.

Equally at home in the comedy field is Mable Normand, and her work in "The Slavey's Beau" ranks with that in "Mickey" and other such big attractions.

Button Fakers Get Rich

Anticipating rich returns from peddling buttons, posters and other souvenirs during the Rose Festival, at least 500 men in uniform have descended upon the city and are doing a land office business here, according to Lieutenant Robert V. Laughlin, local field representative for the secretary of war.

This is simply misuse and abuse of the uniform for the purpose of disposing of cheap and shoddy articles," he declared yesterday. These men don't give change and their whole system is a grafting scheme on the part of civilians. They are not selling the articles—they are selling the service chevrons, the empty sleeve and the honor of the fellows left in Flanders fields.

ARMY OFFICER WARNS AGAINST PEDDLERS IN UNIFORM.

Lieutenant Laughlin has just returned from a visit to headquarters in San Francisco. He mentioned an arrest recently made there for the same sort of operations. The man taken in custody was required to deposit his discharge papers as a surety that he would play square in the future. Experience in other cities has shown that a large percentage of the men taken in custody have never been in the service.
