

FINNS WANT TRADE WITH PACIFIC COAST

Government Representative Is Here on Scouting Trip.

PORTLAND PROSPECTS GOOD

Jacob de Julin Much Impressed With Outlook for Direct Commerce From Local Port.

To promote direct trade relations between the United States and the new nation of Finland is the mission of Jacob de Julin, director of large business interests in Finland, who arrived in Portland yesterday. Mr. de Julin is on a tour of the Pacific coast to investigate the possibilities of direct trade relations between the Pacific coast ports and his own country. He arrived in Portland from San Francisco, and goes from here to Puget Sound.

No arrangements for actual purchase or shipment of goods are being made by Mr. de Julin at this time, but he said yesterday that he was so impressed with the possibilities of Portland as an export center for foodstuffs for Finland that he would immediately recommend to his government the appointment of a Finnish consul here, who will look after business interests and make arrangements for purchases and shipments.

Finland is in great need of Oregon wool and foodstuffs, said the Finnish commissioner yesterday, and hopes are held that by fall ships will be regularly plying from this coast with cargoes of wool and foodstuffs of all kinds. It is hoped to accomplish this by conjunction with Denmark, that country also being in need of foodstuffs from America.

Food Source Needed.
Finland is pretty well supplied with food at the present time, according to Mr. de Julin, this being very largely due to the action of Herbert Hoover and the American food administration.

The new nation, however, is not self-supporting in the matter of foodstuffs, and some permanent connections with America and particularly the productive Pacific coast are urgently needed.

In the past the additional supply of food needed was secured from Russia and Germany, but those sources of supply are now cut off and Finland is looking to the United States.

Finland has thus far been able to pay cash for her food from this country, according to Mr. de Julin, but it is hoped to develop an export as well as an import trade in the future, and to square up the account by shipping pulp, lumber and paper products and other produce of Finland to this country. Mr. de Julin himself is a director in one of the largest pulp and paper mills in Finland and is also a director in a large lumber mill. He is president of the Central Association of Employers of Finland.

Finland Busy Section.
Finland is not the bleak, barren country that it is thought by many, but is a progressive and active nation with a population of industrial and highly educated citizens, according to the Finnish representative. About a year ago Finland broke away from Russia entirely and established a republican form of government. Woman suffrage and prohibition are two of the leading principles of the new government.

Finland had an interesting time with the bolsheviks, but after a short struggle the latter were completely ousted from the country. Mr. de Julin was in Finland at the time and was once besieged in one of the Finnish towns by a mob of the revolutionists.

"We don't even mention the bolsheviks any more," Mr. de Julin said last night, emphasizing how completely the revolutionists had been ousted.

Mr. de Julin and his secretary, Peter Wolonitz, spent some time yesterday afternoon conferring with local export and import men, and in the evening made a tour of the Columbia river highway as their guests. This noon they will have luncheon at the Arlington club as the guests of Arthur C. Callan of the Pacific International company.

GUN PLAY BRINGS ARREST

Dispute Over Alleged Liquor Cache Lands Two in Jail.

Ed Jones, 26, was arrested yesterday by Patrolman Perry on complaint of R. H. Enloe, 642 Weidler street, who told the police Jones had gone to the Enloe home, gained entrance at the point of a revolver, and had demanded part of an $1100 shipment of whiskey which Mr. Enloe is said to have received recently from Aurora, Or.

The police also arrested Barney Perlman, a chauffeur, 20 years old, who is said to have transported the liquor here from Aurora.

Captain Circle said last night that according to Mr. Enloe's story, Jones had arrived at the Enloe home armed with a .44 caliber revolver. Jones was asked to ride downtown in the Enloe automobile, and was promised that a share of the $1100 would be forthcoming as soon as they reached the business section.

Mr. Enloe left Jones sitting in the automobile, and ostensibly going to get the money, hunted up a policeman and caused Jones' arrest. Both Jones and Perlman are booked for investigation.
