WINDOWS SHOW FESTIVAL VISITORS WHAT STATE DOES.

Retailers, Clubmen Report. Fail to Show Appreciation of Home Payrolls' Value.
Displays of Oregon-made wares and goods in the windows of Portland business houses were silent salesmen and community propagandists during the recent visit of the manufacturers' visiting men's association and of the scores of thousands who were drawn to the city by the Rose Festival.
The exhibition of products of Oregon industry was made possible through the efforts of the committees delegated by the Portland Ad club and the Progressive Business Men's club, who interviewed the manufacturers, secured their co-operation and made arrangements with the stores for display windows. With them worked A. G. Clark, manager of the associated industries department of the Chamber of Commerce.
Representing the Ad club, the retailers were enlisted by M. E. Lee, while George L. Rauch, for the Progressive Business Men's club, secured exhibits from manufacturers. Though the display transcended all previous attempts, it was but partially successful, according to the committee, owing to attitudes of indifference on the part of some business men and manufacturers.
"We had secured 100 or more exhibits of Oregon-made goods," said Mr. Rauch, "but were able only to obtain display space from 47 retailers, and several speakers will give addresses. We had the appreciated aid of the Central Labor council in securing displays. One industry, which I will not name, but which the Ad club freely aided to enter the field last year, even stock for it, finally declined to exhibit."

GRANGE MEET WEDNESDAY

Multnomah grange will hold its regular quarterly meeting Wednesday at Pleasant Home. A business session will open at 10:30. Gill will report on the recent meeting of the state grange.
The evening programme will open with the conferring of degrees on a class of members, to be followed by a social programme. Automobileists will take the Powell Valley road and those going by railway will take the Mount Hood car, leaving First and Alder streets at 8:40.

HARBORMASTER GOES EAST

CAPTAIN JACK SPEIER BOOSTS FOR PORTLAND PORT.
Official Will Meet Shipping Board in Hope of Securing Additional Coast Commerce.
Bound on a mission to the east, with Washington, Philadelphia and New York as the principal points on his itinerary, Captain Jack Speier, harbor-master of the city of Portland, left last night with the avowed purpose of adding to the shipping of the port, backed by the municipality and the Chamber of Commerce.
On the eve of his departure he was apprised of the serious illness of his mother, whose home in San Francisco, so he proceeded there first. If her condition does not interfere with his immediate plans, he will be in the east shortly. Shipping interests have considered for some time the advisability of having a representative, versed in maritime matters and competent to explain local conditions, proceed to the Atlantic side and personally meet the men who are figuring on the coast-to-coast services as well as Europe, and the outcome was the selection of Captain Speier.
He has successfully negotiated the ordering of navy vessels to Portland for several years as Rose Festival attractions, and on the recent visit of the congressional navy committee, which investigated the Astoria naval base site, he was the personal representative of the city, meeting the members at San Francisco and proceeding here as well as to Puget sound with their delegation. There are matters relative to the future governmental policy, as

Investigation of affairs at engine company No. 9 at East Thirty-fifth and Belmont street, was begun by Acting-Mayor Bigelow and Battalion Chief Holden on report that four firemen in that station had engaged in a free-for-all fight yesterday morning.
As a result of the fracas, H. D. Thomas and L. W. Gillilan swore out a warrant charging W. Hansen, captain in charge of the company, with attacking them with an iron bar. Police had not served the warrant at a late hour yesterday.
