

Morning Oregonian

ESTABLISHED BY HENRY L. PITCOCK. Published by The Oregonian Publishing Co., 433 Third Street, Portland, Ore.

The Oregonian is a member of the Associated Press... The Oregonian is published daily except on Sundays and public holidays.

Subscription rates—Invariably in advance: Daily, Sunday included, one year, $8.00; Daily, Sunday included, six months, $4.50; Daily, Sunday included, three months, $2.50; Daily, Sunday included, one month, $1.00.

How to Remit: Personal check on your local bank, stamps, or currency. Money order, bank draft, or postal note in full, including postage and tax.

AFTER JUAREZ, WHAT?

Return fire upon Villa's forces in Juarez and sending of American forces across the boundary into Mexico may be the beginning of a new policy toward Mexico. It is a decided change from the watchful waiting for Mexicans to cross the boundary before moving against them.

Possibly the administration deems the present a good opportunity to execute the threat made in 1916 to get Villa dead or alive. While the bandit chief may not be well equipped with airplanes that could trail him to his hiding places, run him down with cavalry, surround and trap him.

It is a sufficient answer to say that he cannot compel ratification. The senate, under the constitution, may adopt or reject. If it advocates its clear function of independent judgment it will have failed to do its constitutional duty.

It was not enough that Raymond Robins, after using the Red Cross uniform to enable him to hobnob with the bolshevik tyrants of Russia, should come home and whitewash them before a senate committee.

It seems almost superfluous to vindicate the memory of democracy in the greatest changes in this slandering work is done most effectively by T. Everett Harre in the National Civic Federation Review.

Mr. Wilson may have been led to a change of heart by considerations growing out of the peace negotiations and by the view which other nations take of his former Mexican policy.

Not only the United States, but the whole world has a right to take steps to end the continuous performance revolution which has torn Mexico for almost nine years.

The only argument against that course is the general principle of self-determination which lay behind watchful waiting. When that principle is invoked against ending a condition where 1 per cent of the population terrorizes and reduces to poverty or starvation the other 99 per cent, it is an absurdity.

Government is calling for recruits for the regular army and the response...

is problematical. There are plenty of eligibles among those just returned, but perhaps they have had enough. Yet life in the army is not what it was in the old days when most of the non-coms and all the "do-or-bers" were foreigners.

PRESIDENT AND SENATE.

The Oregonian hastens to assure its valued correspondent, Mr. T. P. Flisk, of Kelso, who writes another letter today, that it has had no thought of questioning the good faith in the league to the league of nations.

A common charge against the president is that he has violated the constitution by failing to seek the advice or consent of the senate.

It is a sufficient answer to say that he cannot compel ratification. The senate, under the constitution, may adopt or reject. If it advocates its clear function of independent judgment it will have failed to do its constitutional duty.

It was not enough that Raymond Robins, after using the Red Cross uniform to enable him to hobnob with the bolshevik tyrants of Russia, should come home and whitewash them before a senate committee.

It seems almost superfluous to vindicate the memory of democracy in the greatest changes in this slandering work is done most effectively by T. Everett Harre in the National Civic Federation Review.

Mr. Wilson may have been led to a change of heart by considerations growing out of the peace negotiations and by the view which other nations take of his former Mexican policy.

Not only the United States, but the whole world has a right to take steps to end the continuous performance revolution which has torn Mexico for almost nine years.

The only argument against that course is the general principle of self-determination which lay behind watchful waiting. When that principle is invoked against ending a condition where 1 per cent of the population terrorizes and reduces to poverty or starvation the other 99 per cent, it is an absurdity.

Government is calling for recruits for the regular army and the response...

Government is calling for recruits for the regular army and the response...

Government is calling for recruits for the regular army and the response...

groups have reached a point where only a single issue continues to keep them apart. Even a suggestion such as is contained in the proposed Episcopalian-Congregational concordat is a hopeful sign because of the stimulus which it gives to discussion.

Some scores of denominations, each going its own way, are extremely unlikely to meet the new demands which are being made upon the church as a whole in the reconstruction of the world.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

groups have reached a point where only a single issue continues to keep them apart. Even a suggestion such as is contained in the proposed Episcopalian-Congregational concordat is a hopeful sign because of the stimulus which it gives to discussion.

Some scores of denominations, each going its own way, are extremely unlikely to meet the new demands which are being made upon the church as a whole in the reconstruction of the world.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

Those Who Come and Go.

"Loganberry culture in Oregon is just in its infancy," says George O. Brown of Sheridan, who formerly had a large Loganberry plantation.

"The Mexican trouble is coming off as scheduled," observed Dorr E. Keasey, formerly of Portland but now of Mexico City, who is at the Hotel Portland.

George M. Kyle, formerly a Portland school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

It is no news that the seventeen-year school student, who early got into the school under the United States flag, has been the food of man in far away corners of the earth for centuries.

More Truth Than Poetry.

HOPE FOR THE TERRIBLE TURK. (Copyright by Bell Syndicate, Inc.) In days gone by, the terrible Turk from gimnill to gimnill would roam when he would wended his way from his work.

HOPE FOR THE TERRIBLE TURK. (Copyright by Bell Syndicate, Inc.) In days gone by, the terrible Turk from gimnill to gimnill would roam when he would wended his way from his work.

HOPE FOR THE TERRIBLE TURK. (Copyright by Bell Syndicate, Inc.) In days gone by, the terrible Turk from gimnill to gimnill would roam when he would wended his way from his work.

HOPE FOR THE TERRIBLE TURK. (Copyright by Bell Syndicate, Inc.) In days gone by, the terrible Turk from gimnill to gimnill would roam when he would wended his way from his work.

HOPE FOR THE TERRIBLE TURK. (Copyright by Bell Syndicate, Inc.) In days gone by, the terrible Turk from gimnill to gimnill would roam when he would wended his way from his work.

HOPE FOR THE TERRIBLE TURK. (Copyright by Bell Syndicate, Inc.) In days gone by, the terrible Turk from gimnill to gimnill would roam when he would wended his way from his work.

HOPE FOR THE TERRIBLE TURK. (Copyright by Bell Syndicate, Inc.) In days gone by, the terrible Turk from gimnill to gimnill would roam when he would wended his way from his work.

HOPE FOR THE TERRIBLE TURK. (Copyright by Bell Syndicate, Inc.) In days gone by, the terrible Turk from gimnill to gimnill would roam when he would wended his way from his work.

HOPE FOR THE TERRIBLE TURK. (Copyright by Bell Syndicate, Inc.) In days gone by, the terrible Turk from gimnill to gimnill would roam when he would wended his way from his work.

HOPE FOR THE TERRIBLE TURK. (Copyright by Bell Syndicate, Inc.) In days gone by, the terrible Turk from gimnill to gimnill would roam when he would wended his way from his work.

HOPE FOR THE TERRIBLE TURK. (Copyright by Bell Syndicate, Inc.) In days gone by, the terrible Turk from gimnill to gimnill would roam when he would wended his way from his work.

HOPE FOR THE TERRIBLE TURK. (Copyright by Bell Syndicate, Inc.) In days gone by, the terrible Turk from gimnill to gimnill would roam when he would wended his way from his work.

In Other Days.

Twenty-five Years Ago. From The Oregonian of June 17, 1894. Because the Chamber of Commerce had almost been liquidated as a result of damage to its electric plant by water, the State Horticultural society will open the rose fête in the A. O. U. W. hall next Tuesday.

The special investigating committee reported to the committee of 100 yesterday a lot of facts adduced to substantiate assertions that the state has been largely and inefficiently managed.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleopatra, a burlesque, will be presented by the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club next Saturday as a benefit for flood sufferers.

Jackonville last week took out a nugget of gold worth $200.

The republicans of the city last night held their primaries and elected delegates to the coming city convention.

Dr. Rowley, the new collector of internal revenue, took possession of his office Tuesday.

WHEREIN AUTHORITY IS USURPED. President's Unlawful Method Is in Attempting to Coerce Senate.

KELSO, Wash., June 15.—(To the Editor)—At a dinner given at the White House, after his return from Paris, the president submitted to the senate and to the country a proposed constitution for a league of nations.

Does not The Oregonian believe that this act was a violation of the constitution? The president's oath of office? Has the president, under the constitution, the right to compel the senate to obey his will? Has he the right to amend the constitution? Has he the right to amend the constitution? Has he the right to amend the constitution?

Does not The Oregonian believe that this act was a violation of the constitution? The president's oath of office? Has the president, under the constitution, the right to compel the senate to obey his will? Has he the right to amend the constitution? Has he the right to amend the constitution? Has he the right to amend the constitution?

Does not The Oregonian believe that this act was a violation of the constitution? The president's oath of office? Has the president, under the constitution, the right to compel the senate to obey his will? Has he the right to amend the constitution? Has he the right to amend the constitution? Has he the right to amend the constitution?

Does not The Oregonian believe that this act was a violation of the constitution? The president's oath of office? Has the president, under the constitution, the right to compel the senate to obey his will? Has he the right to amend the constitution? Has he the right to amend the constitution? Has he the right to amend the constitution?