

OVERSEAS MAN WINS DECREE TO RECOVER WIFE

R. E. Anderson Charges Spouse Admitted Irregularities.

ABSENCE EXCUSE GIVEN

Clackamas County Man Tells Court Friend Wife Compelled Him to Use Back Door.

"Since for the gooses" quoth Presiding Judge Gatens.

"She said she knew I wouldn't be true for her 'over there' so that she did not think it necessary to be true to me over here," Roy E. Anderson told the court his wife, Cora, had remarked when he returned from 18 months' service in France.

"Were you true?" demanded Deputy District Attorney Graham.

"I certainly was," answered the young man.

He was in the army when he married in Vancouver, Wash., in 1917. Soon after he returned, April 20, Anderson heard reports of his wife's misconduct.

Frank D. Heulst was another ex-service man who told the presiding judge yesterday that he had made a mistake in the choice of a war bride.

His wife, Maudie, was 19 when he married her in Tacoma in 1917. He was 23. While he was gone she married a space division soldier at Vancouver.

Plans are also being made for returned service men in the legion to wear in connection with the uniform.

When Mrs. Nella Gillette would attempt to love and caress her husband, Donald Gillette, he would push her away, telling her to go and kiss the dog.

Other divorce suits filed yesterday were: James W. Moore against Effie Moore, desertion; Martha Blaszyk against Adam Blaszyk, desertion, and Rosa Givan against Paul Givan, cruelty.
