Schwanters In his address to the class President Miller said, in part:

"The past two years have been a trying period for schools of dentistry and pharmacy. A number of institutions have been obliged to close their doors and others were so badly crippled by look of instructors and sudents that lack of instructors and students that it would have been better had they closed their doors also.

peals from several foreign countries, equesting that I select and send to bem one or more of the graduates of Industry Held Need.

"I have been asked to state the most essential qualifications the prospective student of dentistry should possess. My student of dentistry should possess. My prescription is simple; my answer is that the student shall have acquired the habit of industry. There is no greater asset parents can develop for their children than to make certain they deauthorized under the Bean-Barrett bill habit of industry. There is no greater asset parents can develop for their children than to make certain they develop the habit of industry before arriving at the age of 21. Without industry, nothing will be accomplished; life will be a disappointment and the person is likely to become a liability instead of an asset.

"The dentist should be a professional of this class of bonds." "The dentist should be a professional man, and service should be his first ambition. The dominant thought of a professional man should be service to others. He should place service before profit in dealing with patients. When professional man conducts his of-ce for profit and service, he debases his standing. If he manages his office for service, if excellent and maximum service are his first consideration, he is entitled to the largest reward.

Modern dentistry was made in America and the average of teeth conditions in other countries is far below our own. France was compelled to re-ject 250,000 men who were otherwise obysically sound, on account of de-fective and deficient teeth. And the day came when that number of men might easily determine victory or de-

England Far Behind.

"In England, as in France, the war revealed an unsuspected degree of physical unfitness due to mouth neglect. Research workers in America have demonstrated that many serious disease involvements are caused by bad teeth and faulty mouth conditions. Stimulated by these discoveries, English medical men have discovered like iish medical men have discovered like conditions in their country. But until war conditions compelled examination, the extent and seriousness of the situation were not appreciated.

The facts are these and I wish every person in this great audience might appreciate them fully: Millions of our children are paving the way to sickness, inefficiency, poverty and bad citisenship, to become a liability, when they could have been an asset, through they could have been an asset, through they could have been an asset, through the failure of parents to recognize the value of mouth hygiene, the protective power of the toothbrush and the vital importance of intelligent dental serv-

It is to be used and not of the priest who purchased it.

This is the decision of Atterney-General Brown, who, in an opinion sent today to District Attorney-Tongue of Washington county, holds that a quantity of wine now stored in a Washington county parish house is not congraband and should not be confined.

This interpretation of the prohibi-tion law resulted from the fact that a priest who recently ordered a quantity of wine for sacramental purposes disc before it had been used. The Washbefore it had been used. The washington county authorities were then confronted with the question as to whether the succeeding priest was entitled to the wine. Investigation showed that the wine was purchased with parish funds, and consequently was considered as parish property, and for that reason the attorney-general held that it is not unlawful for it to be used by the succeeding parish priest nor must be file a new application for wine.

DEMOGRATIC SCHEME

Meetings for Women Cleverly Staged by Leaders.

PROPAGANDA IS CHIEF AIM

Camonflage Fails to Cover Real Purpose Behind Move, Which Is Indorsed by Chiefs.

To bring Portland women under the spell of democratic politicians so propaganda may be instilled, is the motive behind the two gatherings being staged by Mrs. Alexander Thompson and Mrs. Louise Palmer Weber, These two prominent democrats, while running rival meetings, have the one idea—of influencing republican women, and using the non-partisan camouflage to tempt the republican women to attend.

Ostensibly the meetings are complimentary to Mrs. George Bass. Mrs. Thompson will have her meeting at a luncheon at the Benson, June 30, where National Chairman Homer S. Cummings will speak; and Mrs. Weber will have her gathering at the Hotel Portland, July 1.

Very "Non-Partisan" Move. At the non-partisan luncheon the emocratic national chairman will talk, nd so will Mrs. Bass, who is chairman and so will Mrs. Bass, who is chairman of the woman's advisory committee of the national committee, a highly non-partisan position of a very non-partisan organization. In her non-partisan tour of the west in behalf of the democratic party, Mrs. Bass is a member of non-partisan Cummings' sightseeing group, and presumably the non-partisan demo-cratic campaign fund is defraying the expense of the trip.

cratic campaign fund is defraying the expense of the trip.

A number of republican clubwomen have been invited to speak at Mrs. Weber's affair. It likewise will be strictly non-partisan. For the time being, Mrs. Bass will forget that she is a democrat on a democratic mission and will be as non-partisan as the exigencies of the occasion require.

Democrats Approve Meetings. As further proof that the meetings f Mrs. Weber and Mrs. Thompson are on-partisan, yes, even non-political, he democratic state central committee inced its stamp of approval on each athering. The original plan ignored frs. Weber's meeting, but the state control committee refused to entral ntral committee refused to entrust great non-partisan propaganda to Thompson alone, and indorsed Weber's meeting with equal fer-

As though this was not sufficient proof of non-partisanship, the state central committee even went to the length of electing a committee of seven to aid Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Weber in any way possible, to see that the meetings were successful. Mrs. Thompson informed the state committee that she wanted no such assistance, but the special committee was elected just the Suffrage Tangled in Plot.

Right from the democratic fountain-head of the national committee came the inspiration for the non-partisan meetings. Both Mrs. Weber and Mrs. Phompson were requested to get up hese meetings. Particular emphasis was laid on gathering club women, suffragists and liberty loan workers, so that they can meet Mrs. Bass, head of the woman's democratic auxiliary, in her non-partisan capacity. As a special issue of the second of ial inducement to suffragists, it is arcial inducement to suffragists, it is ar-ranged to hold a sort of celebration at one of these meetings over the equal rights amendment, albeit the demo-crats, when in control of congress, re-fused votes to women and suffragists have been beckling the president for a year or so because he wouldn't help them.
